TOWNSEND AIDS SHARE IN FUNDS, CLEMENTS SAYS

Congressional Body Opens Inquiry.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 26.—[Special.]—The dimes and quarters of aged members of the Townsend old age pension clubs made some of the organizers of the movement rich men, according to testimony today at the opening of a congressional investigation into the movement.

One state director, Edward Margett of San Francisco, former furniture dealer, received an income of between $1,800 and $2,000 a month as his percentage of the contributions of members in his district, it was revealed.

Margett's share was between 20 and 40 per cent of the money which the clubs in his area, the northern California district, poured into the movement. He sent on the other 60 to 80 per cent to the parent organization which has set up headquarters in Washington, according to the evidence.

On Stand All Day.

Robert E. Clements, known as the "brains" of the Townsend plan, was on the witness stand all day before the committee of eight congressmen who are inquiring into the methods used to raise money for the program and how that money was spent.

Clements has yet to be questioned concerning his own income and expenditures by the headquarters group of the movement. Several hours were spent by Special Counsel James R. Sullivan in questioning the witness concerning the elaborate setup of the Old-Age-Revolving-Pensions corporation and obtaining an outline of the "split" allowed to the organizers in the field.

Clements, a thin faced man of 42, with pale blue eyes, a long, sharp nose and a habit of washing his hands with invisible soap, returned evasive replies to many of the questions put to him. He was formerly a real estate subdivision promoter who employed Dr. Francis E. Townsend, retired California physician, as a salesman in developing "Midway City," between San Diego and Long-beach, in 1928.

1,100 Clubs Organized.

In 1933 Dr. Townsend, who had long been meditating upon old age pensions, approached his former boss with his plan to pay all persons over 60 a monthly pension of $200. Clements saw the possibilities of the program and spoke today with some pride of the 1,100 Townsend clubs throughout the United States.

Clements was not questioned about his resignation as secretary-treasurer of the OARP which was made public this week and will take effect April 1. He is said to have quarreled with Dr. Townsend about the latter's leanings towards a third party movement. Clements, it is reported, favored putting pressure on congressmen regardless of their party affiliations.

A large crowd gathered in the hearing room as the investigation opened. Among the usual curiosity seekers were a hundred or more white haired men and women, their hands cupped behind their ears, their heads inclined to one side, as they sought to catch every word of the evidence. They seemed bewildered at some of the testimony.

Believes Plan Sound.

Clements admitted he was not an economist, but said he believed in the soundness of the Townsend plan. In reply to questions, he outlined the present setup of the organization. Organizers worked by congressional districts, he explained. When they obtained 100 or more members to form a club, they sent in the $25 charter fee and monthly dues to a state or regional director.

The state director retains 40 per cent of the charter and initiation fees and 20 per cent of dues thereafter, Clements said. The remaining 60 per cent and 80 per cent is sent on to headquarters. The state director makes his own arrangement with the district organizer, usually splitting the receipts fifty-fifty, according to the witness.

Clements said he had had an argument about the big income of Margett, the San Francisco director, with Dr. Townsend. He wanted to put all directors on a straight salary basis, he told the committee.

URGE NEW STAY FOR HAUPTMANN ON LADDER CLEW

Governor and Aids Inspect Attic.

BULLETIN.

Trenton, N. J., March 26.—(Special.)—Arch W. Loney, federal wood expert, engaged by Gov. Harold G. Hoffman to study the Lindbergh kidnap ladder, late tonight telephoned Attorney General David T. Wilentz to ask if the Flemington trial prosecutor would agree to a "second reprieve" so the governor's experts could conduct a five weeks' investigation into the ladder wood.

"You've had a year to do that," Wilentz retorted. "I can't agree to such a proposal at this time."

Loney did not indicate whether he was making the request on his own initiative or with the governor's approval.

Trenton, N. J., March 26.—(AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's prosecutors and Gov. Harold G. Hoffman disagreed sharply tonight on the results of the governor's personal inspection of Hauptmann's Bronx attic, which the chief executive visited today to see for himself whether rail 16 of the Lindbergh kidnap ladder was "framed."

The governor's party had visited the two-family house in East 222d street, New York City, inquiring especially as to whether the board taken from the now vacant place in the attic floor had been made into the ladder rail used in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping.

Gov. Hoffman had contended that this point is vital in considering whether evidence against Hauptmann was "framed."

Governor States Conclusions.

After returning to Trenton tonight Gov. Hoffman issued a long statement through his secretary to the effect that Arch Loney of the department of the interior at Washington—an expert on woods—had reported to the governor that in his opinion the "wood in the disputed ladder rail 16 did not come from the board allegedly taken from the home of Bruno Richard Hauptmann."

"Examinations of the flooring with calipers showed a variation between ladder rail 16 and the wood used for the attic floor," the statement continued. "The test showed the ladder rail to be about one-sixteenth of an inch thicker than the floor board."

"Another point brought out by the examination," the statement said, "was that in all the boards in the attic floor there were only seven perpendicular nails driven, while in the disputed board from which the ladder rail is supposed to have been cut there were twenty-five perpendicular nails."

Other Points Brought Out.

"The examination also brought out the fact," the governor's statement added, "that from the center of the attic floor there were thirteen boards on one side, while with the disputed board there would have been fourteen boards on the other side.

"Another point holding the attention of Loney was the fact that the board said to have been removed from the attic by a detective was absolutely straight cut, yet the saw cut supposedly made by Hauptmann when

JOHN BARRYMORE AND GIRL FRIEND ARE PARTED AGAIN

Hollywood, Cal., March 26.—[Special.]—What seemed to be the end of a beautiful friendship occurred today when John Barrymore parted from Elaine Barrie and her mother, Mrs. Edna Jacobs of New York, and gave the pair a reported suggestion—which they followed—to catch the midnight train for New York.

The exact sequence of events was shrouded in some mystery, but Elaine and her mother showed up at the railroad station, the mother looking worried and stolid, Elaine fidgety but talkative and smiling.

"Is it true you had a big row?" Elaine was asked.

"Of course not. I still love John," she replied.

"But does John still love you?"

"Who would know that better than I?"

According to Miss Barrie reports of the "big row" that ended the beautiful friendship—at least for the current chapter—were all wrong and she decided rather hastily to leave for New York to appear in a stage play. The name of the play had slipped her mind.

"John spent all afternoon with me," she said, "and we really were very lovey-dovey. So you see——"

WIFE IN RENO FOR A DIVORCE FROM WM. ROSENWALD

Reno, Nev., March 26.—[Special.]—Mrs. Renee Scharf Rosenwald arrived here Tuesday to take up residence for filing a divorce action against William Rosenwald of New York, it was learned today. Rosenwald is the younger son of the late Julius Rosenwald of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rosenwald were married on Feb. 12, 1928, at the Rosenwald home in Chicago. She is the daughter of Victor Scharf, portrait painter of Vienna, Austria. She met Mr. Rosenwald in Buenos Aires. Their romance then was described as love at first sight. Mr. Rosenwald now is 32 years old and his wife is 28.

A director of Sears, Roebuck & Co., Mr. Rosenwald has been active for many years in Jewish charity organizations in New York, Chicago, and Philadelphia. He is a director of the American Jewish Joint Distribution committee and the United Jewish Appeal, and is treasurer of the Julius Rosenwald fund. He is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

In 1926 Mr. Rosenwald was a member of the Sherwood Eddy mission which investigated conditions in soviet Russia.

Old Pegleg Finally Puts Self to Shame

Alex [Old Peg] Rohda, stickup man who has lived 29 of the last 40 years in penitentiaries, suffered an attack of conscience yesterday.

That was why he made no resistance when a crowd, pursuing him after his latest attempt at banditry, closed in on him at 21st street and California avenue. He didn't even try his ancient trick of hiding his pistol in the secret compartment of his wooden leg.

"Arrest me," he said. "I'm just a poor old ex-convict and I want to go back to prison for the rest of my life. If they keep me in forever it won't be too much for what I just did."

Nobody quite understood just then what Rohda meant, but his captors held him until the police arrived. When the full story came out his meaning was clear.

Early yesterday afternoon Rohda clumped into the Burlington railroad station at 18th street and Western avenue, pistol in hand, and tried to hold up the agent, James Belless. But Belless dropped down behind his ticket window counter, where a bullet couldn't reach him, and began to shout.

Tries His Hand Again.

Seeing that his foray was a failure, Rohda put his pistol in a pocket and hobbled out of the station. As rapidly as he could, he walked west to California avenue and south to Cullerton street. There he met Mrs. Mary Madison, 3342 West 19th street. In one hand she was carrying a cane and in the other a purse.

Mrs. Madison did not see the old robber approach. When he snatched her purse she looked helplessly around in various directions. Then she called out: "Who would do that to a blind woman?"

Rohda had hobbled on too rapidly to hear the feeble cry. But a young woman with stronger lungs took up the message.

"Stop that man," she screamed. "He robbed a blind woman of her money."

This time Rohda heard, and at last his conscience hurt. He tossed away the purse. He hesitated. Then he walked slowly a block south and halted for the pursuing crowd to catch him.

At Last—His Conscience.

"Just think of it," he said, after reaching the Lawndale police station. "Me, an old timer like me, stealing pennies off the blind. I didn't know she was blind. I wouldn't have taken the purse if I had."

Later, at the dectective bureau, Rohda told Sergt. John Janousek that he felt he would be better inside prison walls the rest of his life.

"I never made anything as a criminal," he said. "Two hundred dollars would cover all I took in 40 years. But I'm too old to do anything useful now. It's nice and warm down at Joliet and the meals are good and I won't be treated bad."

Police records show that Rohda was sentenced to two years in Pontiac reformatory in 1896 and that between 1902 and 1924 he served four terms—a total of 19 years—in Joliet prison. Since 1924 he has served two more terms, or eight years, in the Folsom, Cal., prison.

Learns Law in Prison; Freed of Perjury Charge

New York, March 26.—[Special.]—The legal lore digested by Frederick Kammerer, 46, while serving a three year sentence in the penitentiary for grand larceny, from 1924 to 1927, was sufficient in Queens County court today to enable him to place a doubt in the minds of the jury trying him for perjury. Kammerer, pleading his case and doubling as lawyer and witness, caused the jury to disagree.

German Prince and Wife, 12 Others Killed

AMECAMECA, Mexico, March 26.—(AP)—Fourteen persons, including a German prince and his princess, died today when the huge tri-motored airplane in which they were riding crashed on the rocky "saddle" between two volcanoes.

Ten of the victims were European tourists, among them Prince Adolf Schaumbourg-Lippe and Princess Elisabeth Schaumburg-Lippe, his wife. The four others were an American aviation official and three crew members.

Hurtling down on the snowclad bridge between the volcanoes of Popocatepetl and Ixtaccihuatl, the plane scattered its wreckage over the mountainous plateau, caught fire and burned. The bodies were seared beyond recognition.

Called Worst Crash.

The plane was owned by the Compania Mexicana de Aviacion, a subsidiary of Pan American Airways. Officials said it was the worst crash in the history of aviation in Mexico.

The Hamburg-American line, which brought the tourists to this country, said the party reached Vera Cruz March 20 aboard the Iberia.

The list of the passenger victims, as announced by the Hamburg-American line, in addition to the two Schaumburg-Lippes, was:

Baron Siegmund von Stieber, Mrs. Dora Thein, Miss Victoria Thein, Miss Marie Margarethe Harder, Miss Elisabeth Schroer, Miss Liesbet Pust, all Germans; Baron Dr. Elmer von Rohonczy, a Hungarian, and Adolf Franz Igler, an Austrian.

Others Killed.

The others killed were Adrian Barchers of Philadelphia, an instructor for Pan American Airways, who had been "lent" to the Compania Mexicana, and the three crew men, Rodolfo Limon, radio operator; Daniel Madrigal, steward, and J. Presciada Acosta, the pilot.

Twenty minutes later observers in this little town of Amecameca, at the foot of Popocatepetl, watched the giant air liner falter as the pilots sought altitude to fly over the pass. Then they heard the motors miss fire.

A few minutes later, after the plane had circled the little mountain village twice, its pilot pointed toward Mexico City but slithered down among the rocky crags of the saddle between the two famous volcanoes.

Prince Head of Old House.

New York, March 26.—(AP)—Death in flight that bore out the symbolism of his heritage today rode with Prince Adolf of Schaumburg-Lippe, who with his wife and 12 others was killed in a Mexican air tragedy.

Head of the house founded in the mid-seventeenth century by Philippe, count and grand seigneur, he abdicated from his throne in the flood of German title defaults that accompanied the signing of the world war armistice in 1918.

He was born in Stadthagen, Feb. 23, 1883, the son of Prince George and Marie-Anne of Saxe-Altenburg. He married Ellen-Elisabeth Francoise Bischoff-Korthaus, in Berlin, Jan. 10, 1920. She was the divorced wife of Prince Eberwym of Bentheim and Steinfurt. She was born in Munich, Nov. 6, 1894.

5 Killed in British Crash.

LYNDHURST, Hampshire, England, March 26.—(AP)—Four men and a woman were killed late tonight when an air liner crashed here.

The accident was believed due to atmospheric disturbances, which were reported by other pilots flying in this region.

WOMAN FINISHES 1,000 MILE TREK ACROSS ALASKA

Old timers said her "mush" was the longest and hardest ever made by a woman in the north. To the 115 pound hunting lodge proprietress, who sometimes lived on bear fat and rolled oats, it was just an adventure.

"I feel perfect," she said.

Sometimes she had to cross ice cakes on her hands and knees. Once she rescued her five husky dogs from icy water.

Miss Joyce left her Taku hunting lodge, 39 miles south of Juneau, on Dec. 20.

GIVE HITLER FAIR DEAL! BRITAIN WARNS FRANCE

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

LONDON, March 27 (Friday).—Germany's representatives, understood to be perturbed by Anthony Eden's reaffirmation to the house of commons of Britain's military obligations under the Locarno pact, sought further explanations today from the foreign secretary. Eden awaited a visit from Joachim von Ribbentrop, Adolf Hitler's roving ambassador.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 26.—Declaring the outlook for the future is dark, Capt. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, in an address before the house of commons today called upon Reichsfuehrer Hitler to make a contribution to European peace by promising he would not fortify the Rhineland pending negotiations on the basis of a new Locarno treaty.

The young foreign secretary, speaking in defense of the government's policy in connection with the dispute over Germany's remilitarization of the Rhineland, at the same time raised an admonishing finger at France. He said:

"We cannot assure peace unless the French government is ready to approach with an open mind the problems which still separate it from Germany."

Denies Ultimatum to Hitler.

Settling one question which has been vexing international circles, Eden asserted that the document sent to Hitler last week by the four Locarno powers—Britain, France, Belgium, and Italy—consisted of "proposals" for settlement of the issues involved, but was not an ultimatum. The proposals, he said, were subject to modification.

Eden quieted the fears of the British public that a military alliance with France was shaping by denying that general staf consultations meant a political obligation. He hedged somewhat on this commitment, giving the impression that the staf consultations would be technical and would not be invoked unless Germany actually attacked France or Belgium.

"Our understanding about staf conversations with France and Belgium was strictly limited and definite," he said. "They are to be purely technical conversations, and can in no measure increase our political obligations."

Will Examine Hitler's Plan.

Eden said Reichsfuehrer Hitler's proposals for a European settlement to be submitted next Tuesday "will be examined with an open mind and a keen desire to make the best use of them in order to bring about permanent pacification of Europe."

Eden said Britain would keep its word as pledged in the Locarno pact, to come to the assistance of France. But to settle the fears of the house, he indicated that Britain would remain the judge as to when the assistance called for in that pledge should be given.

"I am not prepared to be the first British foreign minister to go back on the British signature," he said. "We must distinguish between the national sentiment [the dislike of helping France against Germany] and what are, for good or ill, our national obligations. Successive governments of France and this country and Germany have reaffirmed Locarno. We are not arbiters. We have certain definite commitments."

Warns British Isolationists.

Eden warned the British isolationists that it is impossible for Britain to keep free from continental entanglements or turn a blind eye to European events.

His remarks on this point were seen as a warning to Germany and an assurance to France that the British are bound to fight any strong power which should attempt to grab the channel ports.

At the same time, meeting arguments of opponents who said the cabinet has yielded to France, Eden said:

"We will not be bound by divergent policies either to France or Germany. Our policy is the covenant and membership in the league of nations.

Britain will not be tied to the chariot wheels of any foreign country."

Eden referred to the "haunting fears that shadow our time."

British alarm lest England itself might be attacked by Germany and have to call on the French for assistance were disclosed by Eden when he referred to new assistance pacts which he hoped to reach to replace the Locarno treaty. In them "we will share with others the guarantees as well as the risks," he said. "The guarantees will be reciprocal, not one way as in the present Locarno treaty."

Appeals to Germany.

"But what is uppermost in my mind, and what I believe is uppermost in the minds of the great mass of people in this country, is that we must persist in our search for peace on an enduring foundation.

"And I would like to say to Germany, how can we hope to enter into negotiations with any prospect of success unless you are prepared to do something to allay the anxiety in Europe which you have created?"

Great Britain, he continued, is prepared to give a full and fair hearing to any new German proposals, and France must do likewise.

The recent proposals of the four Locarno powers, he said, allayed the "immediate prospects of steps being taken which might have led to war."

"If the house will weigh the danger of war against these proposals," he continued, "I am convinced their judgment will be the same as that of the government, which was that they were worth while."

Eden warned that he did not "view the future with a light heart."

"I believe," he said, "we are beginning a period which must, at best, be one of the most critical in international negotiations."

Critics Attack Government.

Upon the conclusion of Eden's statement bitter attacks were launched against the government by opposition speakers. David Lloyd George, wartime prime minister, attacked any military alliance with France as containing the danger of involving Britain in another war.

What the people want to know, he said, is whether the proposals to help France came into effect as soon as negotiations are seen to have failed, or when Germany commits an act of aggression.

"Former service men are opposed to fighting Germany again," Lloyd George said.

The Welshman, who helped negotiate the Versailles treaty, said the late Georges Clemenceau, French wartime premier, would have accepted a milder instrument than the Versailles treaty, but could not because of Marshal Foch and Raymond Poincare, wartime president.

"It was a mistake ever to have negotiated the Versailles treaty in Paris," Lloyd George said.

Warns of 1914.

He warned the government against the military convention that had been discussed here last week with Pierre-Etienne Flandin, French foreign minister.

"The same kind of a military convention led to war in 1914," he said.

When the Welshman said that every power has broken treaties, cries of "You are defending Hitler" were heard.

Disclaiming this, Lloyd George said Hitler's greatest crime was not in breaking the Locarno treaty, but in choosing the time he did to do it.

"He organized a torchlight procession through a powder magazine and there has very nearly been a shattering explosion," he said. "We have broken treaties, too. We are not paying our war debts to the United States. Every one has broken treaties. Let him among you who is without sin cast the first stone."

Chamberlain Hits Back.

This brought the following rejoinder from Sir Austen Chamberlain:

"We did not repudiate our obligations to the United States. No government and no person could fulfill the impossible. Germany was not physically unable to maintain the demilitarized zone, as we were physically unable to continue payments to America which could only be made in gold."

He declared, supporting the French view, that there could be no peace in Europe if treaties were to be recklessly broken.

Winston Churchill, speaking next, opposed an alliance with France and thought it best to support the league and collective security and to ask Germany to lay its grievances before the league of nations council.

Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, concluding the debate, reiterated that assurance given France about staf consultations carried Britain no further than the commitments already made under the Locarno treaty. He pointed out that these new proposals had given Britain something it did not have under the Locarno pact—reciprocal assurance that France would aid England if the latter were attacked.

It was revealed tonight that Prime Minister Baldwin had sent Hitler a personal appeal during a 90 minute conference with Joachim von Ribbentrop, the fuehrer's special ambassador, at breakfast this morning.

Hitler Brands Powers' Call for Peace Gesture an Insult

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 26.—"To those who say we must make a new gesture of contributing to peace I say, 'Don't you insult 66,000,000 people. We forbid you to do it,' Reichsfuehrer Hitler thundered in an election meeting at Leipzig tonight.

"Who has a right to doubt that we are worthy of the faith of others? We will not retreat. Our symbol vouches for that," said der fuehrer, pointing to a swastika flag.

Election a Sign.

"Other powers say they want a symbolic gesture and action from us. They will get both March 29, when you go to the polls.

"I say to others you are not my judges, but my people are. You [France] allied yourself with Russia. I appeal to the eternal right of self-preservation of a nation. You speak in the name of legal quibbling. I speak in the name of a people who will live eternally."

Most of Hitler's speech was devoted to "the rebirth of the German people" under his guidance. Addressing himself to Germans who still refuse to acknowledge the achievements the Nazis claim, Hitler said:

"Look at our powerful army, our new strong air fleet, our navy, and you will have an idea of how we work."

New Zeppelin Damaged.

When the newly christened airship Hindenberg started on its first election propaganda flight with the smaller Graf Zeppelin at dawn today a side rudder bumped the ground and was damaged to such an extent that the captain decided to return to the hangar three hours after the start of a flight which was to last four days. The Hindenburg [formerly LZ129] resumed flight this afternoon and will visit all parts of Germany with the Graf as a demonstration for the election.

Capt. Ernst A. Lehmann declared that the accident did not impair the flying ability of the ship, as was proved by the fact that it remained in the air three hours, but he preferred to repair it on the ground, "lest parts of the damaged rudder drop to earth during flight and endanger the public."

GERMANY OFFERS NEW BONUS TO PARENTS OF LARGE FAMILIES

BERLIN, March 26.—(AP)—The German government today announced a new cash bonus for large families.

The announcement, made just three days before the national elections, says the government will pay 10 marks [$4] a month to fathers for each child from the fifth upward, as long as the children are less than 16 years old and the father's income is less than 185 marks [$66] a month.

The decree becomes effective July 1 and it is calculated that 300,000 children will be benefited by it. Previously, government grants for large families were not on a fixed basis of size or regularity.

New Zealand Labor Regime Backs British Rhine Policy

WELLINGTON, N. Z., March 26.—(AP)—Viscount Galway, governor-general of New Zealand, told parliament today that this dominion's first labor government endorsed the policy of the British government regarding the Rhineland crisis. He added that the cabinet, headed by Prime Minister Michael Savage, was confident the league of nations and the collective system were the only effective means of maintaining peace and facilitating general disarmament.

RUSSIA ORDERS DEATH FOR 2 IN ESPIONAGE PLOT

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, March 26.—Charges of espionage and sabotage on the trans-Siberian railway at a strategic point near the western tip of outer Mongolia resulted today in death sentences for two railway employés and prison sentences for five others.

One of those sentenced to death was Joseph Raidak, chief of the railway repair shop at Krasnoyarsk, an important town near the border. He said he had been a member of Kolchak's army. The other was Konstantin Pichurin, an employé of the shop. He was accused of being in the intelligence service of an unnamed foreign government since June.

The five sentenced to prison terms were repair shop employés. They were charged with destroying or damaging railway cars "with the object of destroying soviet power."

PHONE COLLECTOR ROBBED.

Joseph Janda, 8312 West 43d place, Lyons, a collector for the Illinois Bell Telephone company, was robbed by two armed men in front of 4363 Archer avenue yesterday. He told police the robbers had not obtained more than $100.

FRANCE MAY GIVE SYRIA HOME RULE, DROP MANDATE

Envoys Reach Paris for Independence Parley.

PARIS, March 26.—(AP)—Hopeful of achieving national independence, six Syrian delegates arrived today to negotiate a new treaty with France to replace the present mandate under which their country is governed.

France, which has found the league of nations' mandate unprofitable and troublesome, has promised a new pact similar to the agreement given to Iraq by Great Britain.

The delegation expressed hope for an arrangement under which Syria would be given sovereignty, with the right to call on French governmental experts for aid, and would concede France the right to use strategic points for military purposes.

Envisage Military Alliance.

Other points of the possible plan would include an agreement for mutual military assistance and a trade treaty.

The delegation consists of two representatives of the present government and four representatives of the nationalist bloc, whose opposition to the French occupation under the mandate has led to strikes, boycotts, riots, and killings. One member of each section of delegates is a Christian, the others Moslems.

The delegates are Minister of Instruction Mustapha Chebabi, Minister of Finance Edmond Homsi, a Christian; Hachem Bey El Atasso, president of the Nationalist group; Fares Bey El Khoury, Christian Nationalist; Saadallah Jabri, and Jamil Mardam Bey.

One of the matters to be negotiated is the settlement of the cost of the French occupation, which has totaled more than $67,000,000.

Syrians Want Own Envoys.

Another question to be settled is the external relations of the proposed new state. The delegation will ask for a provision permitting the new Syrian republic to send its own envoys to near eastern countries and France and to be represented by France's diplomatic and consular services in the rest of the world.

The Christians, a minority group in Syria, will demand a provision in the treaty guaranteeing equal treatment of Christians and Moslems under the new government.

The delegates have been given a free hand by the Syrian government and Nationalist leadership in the negotiations. The pact, when agreed upon, is to be subject to ratification by French authorities in Paris.

NAZIS DROP 'ARYAN' AND 'NONARYAN' FROM THEIR VOCABULARY

BERLIN, March 26.—(AP)—The terms "Aryan" and "non-Aryan" are to be dropped from the Nazi vocabulary that made them common coins throughout the world. Instead, under the Nuremberg anti-Semitic laws, the concept of "German or related blood" will be used.

"The expression 'Aryan' was not enough to show what was meant," explained the Nazi agricultural paper Landpost. "The frequently heard question whether this or that people were to be designated as 'Aryan' was false even in the asking. It is based on the confusion of nationality and race. One should therefore not ask to which race this or that people belongs, but rather one can properly ask only to which race this or that definite member of a people belongs."

"Related," it is explained, refers generally to European peoples, except Jews and Gypsies, or pure blooded decendants of Europeans outside Europe. Germans of these nationalities can be German citizens.

THREE OLD AGE PENSION POINTS RAISED BY MOSS

Answers are lacking to three questions important in administering old age pensions, it was said yesterday by Joseph L. Moss, director of the Cook county bureau of public welfare, which now has the duty of distributing the new pensions in this county. About 15,000 applications for pensions have been filed here thus far.

"We do not know whether we can approve the application of a person who has, say, $1,000 in the bank, of which the interest provides insufficient income for his support," Mr. Moss said. "Nor do we yet know what action to take where the son of an aged parent is married and has children, if to contribute to the parent's support means depriving his own children of a decent education.

"Then there are many cases where the pension applicant is being supported by relatives who have no legal responsibility. Shall the pension be given here? Such points as these are vital, and the state pension officials must settle them to clear the way for giving old age assistance in all deserving cases."

MUSSOLINI'S AID REVEALS PLANS FOR WAR IN ALPS

1,250,000 Troops Ready to Strike, He Boasts.

ROME, March 26.—(AP)—Gen. Federico Baistrocchi, undersecretary of war, told the senate today that Italy's army of 1,250,000 men was prepared, particularly in the Alps, to "smash" any enemy efforts to gain a foothold in Italy. The senators cheered when Baistrocchi said Italy was ready even "for the unforeseen."

The undersecretary disclosed that 750 miles of roads and trails had been constructed in the Alps last year to bring the total defensive highway network in those mountains, forming the northern barrier of Italy, to 900 miles.

Promises "Surprises" for Foe.

"Italy," said the minister, "will not let circumstances take her by surprise but will impose them upon her eventual adversaries."

He said the Italian military commands in the Alps were being kept on a war basis, with mechanized "cavalry" furnishing "increased striking power." He said the Alpine infantry was heavily equipped with hand grenades, mortars, light artillery, tanks, and motor transports.

He declared that when war comes, Italy will move forward in offensive tactics suited to Premier Mussolini's conception of "a war of mobility," rather than to conduct a solely defensive campaign.

Cites Action in East Africa.

Baistrocchi asserted that Italy showed the power of its military organization in the month between Aug. 30 and Sept. 30, 1935, when it poured 100,000 men, 260 field pieces, 6,600 mules, and 2,300 armored cars into East Africa and reinforced the Dodecanese Islands.

Marshal Pietro Badoglio, commander of the Italian forces in Ethiopia, reported today that the Italian armies on the northern front were conducting intense aviation activities.

$35,000,000 ARMS PROGRAM BARED BY AUSTRALIA

CANBERRA, Australia, March 26.—(AP)—A $35,000,000 armaments program to reinforce Australia's air, sea, and land defenses was revealed today.

Sources close to the federal government said that sum would be spent by the end of this year on the plan, which includes the purchase of 33 airplanes, a secret program of naval building, and construction of additional gun emplacements. The emplacements will be at the head of Sidney harbor, on Rottnest Island, western Australia, and on Moreton Island, Queensland.

Australian ministers are expected to discuss coördination of the defense of the empire and of its trade routes with British naval, military, and air force authorities when they go to London next year for the coronation of King Edward VIII.

ITALIAN PRINCESS SAILS FOR AFRICA TO AID RED CROSS

NAPLES, March 26.—(AP)—Dressed in a Red Cross uniform and carrying her own luggage, Crown Princess Marie José of Italy went aboard the hospital ship Cesarea today and sailed for East Africa. Her immediate destination is Massawa, where she will start a month's tour of inspection of field hospitals.

In the midst of a large group of civil and military officials who cheered the princess' departure were Queen Elena of Italy and Crown Prince Umberto, the princess' husband. The ship is to be escorted by two submarines as far as Port Said.

The princess, who has taken special courses in treatment of tropical diseases, also took with her a sewing machine for making pads and bandages.

TWO RECEIVERS OF STOLEN CARS ON TRIAL AGAIN

Nathan Kodnar, 43 years old, and Samuel Rubin, 29, former owners of the Blue Mound Automobile Bankers' company in Milwaukee, went on trial yesterday on a charge of receiving stolen property before a jury in the Criminal court of Judge John J. Lupe.

The men, who were second-hand car dealers, are alleged to have headed an interstate automobile theft ring. On Feb. 4 Kodnar and Rubin were found guilty of automobile theft and were sentenced to 1 to 10 years each in the penitentiary. This conviction is now being appealed to the state Supreme court. The state is attempting to win a conviction on the second charge in the event the first is set aside.

ACTRESS SUES FOR DIVORCE

SYLVIA SIDNEY.

Married Six Months

Los Angeles, Cal., March 26.—(AP)—Sylvia Sydney, dark haired movie actress, filed suit for divorce today from Bennett Cerf, New York publisher. She charged cruelty, accusing him, specifically, of quarreling with her over the time she gave to her picture work.

They were married at Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 1, 1935, and separated Jan. 2, 1936, the complaint stated.

Miss Sidney's statement said Cerf told her certain of her motion picture associates were endeavoring to make their marriage a failure. It set forth, too, that he told her he did not understand motion picture people, and that they did not understand him.

TEA HOSTESS OF PRESIDENTS IN COURT FIGHT

A woman whose roadside tea house near Washington has been frequented in years past, she said, by Presidents and their wives, went on the witness stand in federal court here yesterday in an effort to prove herself competent to share her father's $100,000 estate.

Names Sister as Defendant.

Miss Crocker's suit names her oldest sister, Mrs. Ralph S. Peirce, and the latter's husband—who are trustees of the estate—as defendants. The suit was brought in the federal courts because of diversity of citizenship, and is being heard by Judge John P. Barnes.

Testifying yesterday, Miss Crocker related the history of her tea room to prove her business competence. She said she bought the place, which is noted for its "million dollar view" of the national capitol, in 1921. At that time the tea room was an "eight by ten" shack, but she has built additions and developed her clientèle to the point that she now values the place at $120,000, Miss Crocker added.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President, was a recent visitor to the tea house, said the witness, reeling off a list of famous names, among them those of the late President Harding, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, Senator Royal S. Copeland, the late Oliver Wendell Holmes, justice of the United States Supreme court, as typical of her patrons.

Questioned by her attorneys, Leo J. Hassenauer and Kurt Heinfelden, Miss Crocker said the Peirces had refused to divide their father's estate among the children. On redirect examination she said her philosophy of life is "a search for loveliness and beauty," which she finds in her management of the tea house.

Relative Charges "Inefficiency."

Peirce, on the witness stand in his own defense, testified that he had asked Miss Crocker frequently for financial statements on her operation of the tea house, but that he did not get them. Miss Crocker's bookkeeping methods, he said, were loose and inefficient. Formerly a superintendent of construction for the Illinois Bell Telephone company, Peirce now is the head of the Chicago Extension Bolt company.

The case is expected to be completed today. Judge Barnes indicated he would take it under advisement, withholding a decision until later.

FARGO ROMANCE IS PORTRAYED AS CORPORATE LOVE

Two pictures of a romantic attachment, thirty years ago, of Miss Lucille Camden and the late Livingston Wells Fargo were outlined by lawyers yesterday before Judge John F. O'Connell of the Probate court.

The first delineation was that of Mr. Fargo as the devoted common law husband of Miss Camden—then a sprightly Virginia belle, now fair and plump and 49. The second limned him as only one of three "directors" of a flat in which Miss Camden and her sister were maintained, with his cousins, Will C. Fargo and James F. Fargo, as associates in the enterprise.

Died in 1934.

Livingston Wells Fargo died in the fall of 1934 at the age of 74. He was a member of the family that founded the Wells-Fargo Express company, which later became a part of the American Express company. Mr. Fargo resigned as a vice president in 1914.

Although his estate was reported as having only $90 in cash and a few shares of stock of doubtful value, Miss Camden filed a petition asking that she be declared Mr. Fargo's common law wife and be given dower rights. She also filed an objection to the inventory, setting up the claim that the estate is worth far more than the estimated value.

Opposed by Fargo Niece.

Her contentions are opposed by Mrs. Edith Andrews Sturgis, 2440 Lake View avenue, niece of Mr. Fargo and executrix of the estate. Mrs. Sturgis has a claim of $345,000 against the estate, having alleged that she advanced her uncle loans for that amount and that they are unpaid.

In his opening statement of the hearing yesterday Attorney Paul A. Neuffer, representing Miss Camden, declared he would prove that his client and Mr. Fargo were wed with a common law ceremony in Philadelphia in 1906. They met in New York, he said.

"Fargo visited Miss Camden at her home in Buchanan, Va.," he continued, "and proposed to her while they were riding horseback near her brother's plantation. He told her then he would have his father's pearl scarfpin made into an engagement ring."

Lists Three Points.

Mr. Neuffer asserted that he would prove [1] that Mr. Fargo purchased a wedding ring and presented it to the bride; [2] that they announced their marriage, and [3] that they lived together, with Mr. Fargo frequently referring to Miss Camden as "my wife."

In his opening statement Attorney Frank B. Gilmer, for Mrs. Sturgis, asserted he would show that Mr. Fargo was not in any sense a husband, but only an added member of the three man directorate of an irregular household that was started by Fargo's cousins and the Misses Camden.

The validity of any common law marriage has been attacked by Mrs. Sturgis' counsel. Such unions were outlawed in Illinois in 1905, but continued legal in Pennsylvania.

Miss Camden, who resides at 5054 Winthrop avenue, took the stand late in the afternoon, but the session was adjourned before she was allowed to tell her story.

IN COURT BATTLE

Miss Lucille Camden, who filed petition asking that she be declared the common law wife of Livingston Wells Fargo and be given dower rights in his estate. Fargo died in 1934 at the age of 74.

AUSTRIA REVEALS INSURANCE FIRM 50 MILLION SHORT

Vienna, Austria, March 26.—(AP)—Dr. Ludwig Draxler, minister of finance, revealed a shortage of more than $50,000,000 today in the reserve fund of the Austrian life insurance company, the Phoenix.

Disclosure of the predicament of the company—Austria's largest insurance firm—yesterday led to promulgation of a government emergency decree to prevent its breakdown.

Asked the reason for the shortage, Dr. Draxler said: "Too optimistic speculation in a poor country."

The finance minister repeated his assurance that the federal treasury was not involved, but it was said in financial circles that the company had liberally underwritten recent federal loans. Dr. Draxler said a loan of 250,000,000 schillings [about $47,150,000] was to be floated to replenish the reserve.

It was announced that an associated firm, the General Phoenix Insurance company, was not affected by the loss. Most of the fourteen branch offices of the Phoenix company abroad were pronounced secure because of stringent insurance regulations in other countries.

M'NAIR BLAMES CCC FOR FLOOD DAMAGE IN EAST

Hits "Cleanup" of Forest Areas as Cause.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 26.—[Special.]—The underlying blame for the disastrous floods that have swept the east with a death toll now set at 201 was placed today by Mayor William N. McNair of Pittsburgh on the activities of the civilian conservation corps.

McNair charged that the workers' removal of trees, logs and underbrush from forests throughout the east had deprived them of a vast natural sponge which would have absorbed the excess water until much of it entered the ground.

"They have done a fine job of cleaning up our forests from the standpoint of city parks," the mayor said, "but not for a great watershed. They have cleaned out a lot of underbrush along streams, chopped down trees and made a lot of roads that are never used.

Water Runs as in Gutter.

"The result has been that when the heavy rains came, instead of soaking down through the accumulated leaves, logs and decayed wood, which acted as a flood preventive, the water runs down from our mountains as if in gutters and reaches Pittsburgh a few hours after it has fallen.

"The flood came on suddenly all over the eastern area. If it had happened only in Pittsburgh we wouldn't be looking for a general cause. But it occurred all over the east at about the same time.

"My grandfather used to tell me never to pull away the logs and leaves from the banks of a stream, for that was what made springs."

Push Rebuilding Work.

Meanwhile, rehabilitation work was pushed steadily throughout the flood stricken areas as swollen rivers slowly receded in most districts. An exception to the general recession was at Wheeling, W. Va., and a few other places along the Ohio river, but the danger of renewed widespread floods from that stream gradually was subsiding.

Overflowing waters from the Ohio splashed into lowland streets of Wheeling today and were expected to obstruct street car and highway trafic when the crest of the new rise, predicted for some time after nightfall, was reached.

However, the new inundation caused little apprehension among Wheeling inhabitants whose rehabilitation work remained the uppermost problem. Little damage was expected to result from the present rise, but it deferred plans of many refugees to return to their homes. It also caused the closing of restaurants in that area as a precautionary move to prevent consumption of contaminated food.

Island Streets Under Water.

The rise also put a few streets under water in the lower part of Wheeling Island, in the middle of the Ohio river, and at nearby Benwood Junction, but the damage was slight.

The new flood threat, predicted yesterday for the upper Ohio river valley, definitly was on the wane today. Although muddy, debris-filled waters covered lowlands from Pittsburgh to below Louisville, Ky., no serious concern was felt.

The fear of new destruction along the Ohio had come from the rise in the Monongahela above Pittsburgh, but the crest of that stream surged past the steel city with only scattered and comparatively minor inundations.

A small area of the "Golden Triangle" still remained roped off to all trafic, but workers returned to their jobs in most of the buildings in the downtown business area. The "Triangle" was hurriedly evacuated yesterday after gas was discovered leaking from mains.

New England states, which sustained a large share of the total of 225 million dollars damage caused by the floods, were restoring their industrial and community life to normal. Cleanup armies of CCC and WPA workers were doing much of the repair work.

The creation of a flood rehabilitation administration to make up 50 million dollars in loans to corporations and individuals was sought today in a bill introduced in the senate by James J. Davis [Rep., Pa.].

Keep Watch at Cairo.

Cairo, Ill., March 26.—[Special.]—Despite predictions that high water crests would pass without serious damage, dwellers along the Mississippi and lower Ohio rivers kept a wary eye on the swollen streams today as thousands of acres of land in both valleys continued to be inundated.

Lowland residents in the lower Ohio watershed were forced to flee from their homes, but it was expected the water's damage would be confined mostly to the interruption of business and retarding of crops.

The Mississippi between La Crosse, Wis., and Dubuque, Ia., continued to rise slowly. A. D. Sanial, government meteorologist at La Crosse, said he expected the 12 foot flood stage would be reached there some time today.

In eastern Minnesota and western Wisconsin, tributaries of the Mississippi were receding and most roads which had been flooded were opened to trafic again.

It was feared that an area of about 25,000 acres east and south of Charleston, Mo., would be overflowed when the Ohio river floodwaters reach the Mississippi. The land is occupied by "squatters" and fishermen who are ready to leave on a moment's notice.

The threat from rampaging river waters all along the Ohio in the vicinity of Shawneetown, Ill., was increased by heavy rains which fell in that vicinity today. More than an inch of rain fell at Harrisburg, Ill., in three hours.

Freeze Hits California Crops.

San Francisco, Cal., March 26.—[Special.]—Freezing temperatures damaged fruit and grain crops throughout California, agriculturists reported today. Weather bureau officials said that low temperatures would continue.

The damage to seedless grapes in Mercer county was reported to have ranged as high as 70 per cent. The loss on wine grapes was placed at 25 per cent. The peach crop in Sutter and Yuba counties also suffered.

Wheat and barley crops in the Imperial valley were damaged by cold and winds, it was said. Young grapefruit were hurt, and tomato and asparagus shipments retarded. No damage was reported elsewhere in the citrus belt, although the temperature hovered in the vicinity of 32.

NEW STORM OF DUST BLOWING EASTWARD OUT OF OKLAHOMA

Enid, Okla., March 26.—(AP)—A darkening dust storm billowed eastward from Oklahoma tonight while midwinter weather nipped at the west's budding spring crops.

Freezing temperatures moved in on the apple, peach and pear crops of Arizona. Snow fell in northern Kansas, holding back dust from the south. But winds blowing in from the arid "dust bowl" carried clouds of grit as far east as Kansas City and up into the Dakotas. In the west, another dust storm caused Walla Walla, Wash., residents to turn on their lights shortly after noon.

Another swirl of silt and sand cut visibility to zero in Lamar and Springfield, Colo. Snows that bore in on the state from the north stopped at Peublo on the fringe of the "blow lands."

DONATIONS HERE FOR FLOOD AREA REACH $120,914

Chicago's contributions toward the $3,000,000 flood relief fund of the American Red Cross yesterday reached a total of $120,914.70, James T. Nicholson, manager of the Chicago chapter, reported.

The largest gift of the day toward the $225,000 quota for the Chicago area was $10,000 from Armour & Co. The First National bank followed with $2,500. Leading contributions from individuals were $500 each from Cyrus H. McCormick and Harold F. McCormick.

Contributions from high school pupils began coming in with a collection of $218.35 at Senn High school heading the list. The Rev. Dudley S. Stark, rector of St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church, sent in $175.63 received at a special Red Cross offering last Sunday.

Stage units of the WPA yesterday planned performances to aid the flood relief fund. Vaudeville units will give benefit shows at the McVickers theater beginning tomorrow night and continuing all next week, except Sunday. WPA drama groups also will give benefit performances.

Gen. Robert E. Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., announced that $25,000 had been appropriated by the concern for flood relief purposes. He said the sum will be distributed by the Red Cross and other agencies in cities of the flood area where the company has stores.

BLACK QUIZZERS CRACK DOWN IN COURT ATTACKS

Seek to Have Injunction Suit Dismissed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 26.—[Special.]—The Black inquisitorial committee cracked down on three fronts today in an effort to justify its wholesale seizure of telegrams and other terrorist methods in connection with New Deal critics.

In the District of Columbia Supreme court the committee filed an answer to W. R. Hearst's suit for an injunction to restrain their telegraphic snooping and demanded that the bill of complaint be tossed out on the grounds that the court was without jurisdiction.

The federal communications commission, which has admitted it grabbed telegrams and helped out the Black committee, filed its opposition to the motion for injunction with the court alleging that the bill of complaint failed to show any threatened or real or impending injury to the plaintif, Hearst.

Senator Attacks Publisher.

Coupled with these actions Senator Sherman Minton [Dem., Ind.], a member of the Black committee, made a violent attack upon Hearst and the publisher's private life on the senate floor where he was protected by senatorial immunity.

The Hearst suit, filed by Attorney Elisha Hanson, alleged that a conspiracy had existed between the senate committee and the FCC in violation of the law and demanded that a preliminary injunction be issued pending trial on the issues.

The case was set for argument on April 9. Hanson has five days in which to file an answer to the actions of the Black committee and the FCC.

The Black committee's answer, in effect, set forth that the senate group could not be touched by the courts on any grounds, constitutional or oherwise.

Jurisdiction Challenged.

The answer to the injunction suit declared that the court was without jurisdiction "to enjoin this select committee of the United States senate from discharging and performing its constitutional functions as an integral part of the congress."

The court did not posses the jurisdiction, the investigating group claimed, to hinder, interfere with, supervise, guide, direct, or control a senate committee.

The committee contended that the court, in granting the injunction, would violate article 1, section 6, clause 1, of the constitution, reading: "and for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place," and a further provision that "each house may determine the rules of its proceedings."

Then the committee again sounded its clarion cry that it was seeking evidence to determine legislation in the interest of the people.

Attacks Court Authority.

In its statement of opposition the FCC alleged that the court had no authority to interfere with the commission in its "ministerial functions," which amount to inspecting telegrams for accounting purposes, and asserted the right to squint at newspaper telegrams.

The communications commission denied that there had been any violation of the first amendment in regard to freedom of the press and stated that the constitution only guarded the press from suppression or restraint before publication.

In the senate, the chief inquisitor, Senator Hugo L. Black [Dem., Ala.], was silent, having turned over the job of attacking Hearst to his right bower, Senator Minton. Minton bent to the task with enthusiasm, leading off with the statement that Hearst had raised the question of consitutional rights "in the name of the freedom of the press."

"He [Hearst] would not know the Goddess of Liberty if she came down off her pedestal in New York harbor and bowed to him," shouted Minton. "He would probably try to get her telephone number."

Makes Propaganda Charge.

Then Minton charged that Hearst prostituted his chain of newspapers and magazines for propaganda purposes.

"Mr. Hearst does not want the people to have the facts," Minton continued. "He has a peculiar code of ethics for himself. He runs his newspapers on the same high plane that he runs his private life."

Here Senator Royal S. Copeland [Dem., N. Y.] intervened to say that the last was a "very unhappy personal reference" and he presumed that the senator would not wish it to be included in the record.

Minton retorted that he had "nothing to take back."

Extra Alimony for Dogs Refused; Divorce Granted

Camden, N. J., March 26.—(AP)—Advisory Master in Chancery William J. Kraft announced today his court would never grant alimony to care for dogs. He awarded a divorce and $7 a week alimony to Mrs. Clara Hollings Spencer, but refused her plea for something extra for the care of 13 bulldogs she said her husband, John Henry, left behind when he deserted her. She charged cruelty.

Telegraph Companies Suffer from Wire Seizure by Black

New York, March 26.—[Special.]—Distrust of the telegraph wire as a means of "confidential" communication since the disclosure of the senate lobby committee's seizure of correspondence is causing the two major telegraph companies heavy losses. Inquiry at their headquarters offices here today revealed this.

No figures were obtainable, but one of the highest officials of the industry "guessed" that the losses in revenue attributable to the Black inquisition's seizures would "run into the thousands." He predicted, moreover, that these losses would grow still more formidable unless action is taken by the government forthwith to restore the country's confidence in the "inviolability" of a confidential message filed for transmission by telegraph.

Admit Grave Concern.

Officials of both the Western Union and Postal Telegraph agreed that the situation had become a matter of grave concern to the companies in the last few weeks. "Decided declines" have been noted, it was said, in the patronage of valued clients who customarily make heavy use of telegraphic wires for quick communication with business associates or correspondents in other cities.

An instance was cited by one of the executives in which a study his company has made of the files of one of its "regular" clients—a big law firm, involved incidentally in the senate committee's wholesale seizure order.

This particular concern was found to have filed an average of thirty-two messages a day over a period of a week immediately preceding the disclosure of the committee's action early this month. Last week the firm's file amounted to an average of only twelve messages a day. Some concerns were found to have "almost entirely ceased" using telegraph wires for any purpose.

See Telephone Getting Business.

Spokesmen for the two companies—high officials in both cases—thought that much of their lost "confidential" business is going to the telephone. Some of it, they say, undoubtedly is going to swell the receipts of Secretary Farley's highly organized postoffice department.

In particular cases the suggestion was ventured that big business and professional men are avoiding the possibility of "leaks" on important confidential business affairs by delivering their "messages to Garcia," in person.

No instance of the "tapping" of a telephone wire or the rifling of mailbags by a New Deal investigator could be uncovered, but one cynical commentator ventured the reminder that Senator Black and his zealous committee aids had been pawing over the confiscated correspondence of leading business and professional men for a good six months before the general public was taken in on the secret.

Reveal Public "Anxiety."

Officials of both telegraph companies mentioned the public's growing "anxiety" for the safety of its telegraphic confidences as reflected in inquiries regarding the danger of "search and seizure" by government agencies.

Speaking for his company, J. C. Williver, first vice president of the Western Union, said the inquiries to office managers of that system had been pouring in from people "in all walks of life" during the last few weeks—from business and professional men and private individuals—all of them bent on the common aim of protecting correspondence which they deemed to be of no concern to the public at large.

Mr. Williver would attempt no estimate of the volume of these inquiries, but said they had been numerous.

BROOKS' POSITION GAINS STRENGTH AS HE CAMPAIGNS

Freeport, Sterling, Dixon Hear Candidate.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Freeport, Ill., March 26.—[Special.]—Wayland Brooks' position in his fight for the nomination as the Republican candidate for governor has been strengthened impressively in central and northern Illinois as the result of his recent campaigning in this territory.

Mr. Brooks delivered addresses today at large massmeetings in Freeport, Dixon, and Sterling.

Chairmen of the county central committees in the territory where Mr. Brooks has been active in the last week have been practically unanimous in declaring that he is far ahead of all other candidates for the nomination.

Views of County Chairmen.

Several of the county chairmen state that while they are not in a position formally to indorse any single candidate, sentiment among voters is strongly pro-Brooks. As an indication of this sentiment, Mayor George Brydia of Prophetstown, a member of the Whiteside county central committee, predicted at an organization meeting at Dixon today that Mr. Brooks will get far more votes in his county in the April primaries than all other candidates for the Republican nomination combined.

Republican leaders in counties of the Thirty-fifth state senatorial district, which includes De Kalb, Lee, and Whiteside, assert that these traditionally strong Republican counties will show big increases in Republican majorities in the fall election.

Henry C. Warner, chairman of the Lee county central committee, forecast that the Republican vote there would be 25 to 35 per cent greater than in 1934. John P. Manning, chairman of the Ogle county committee, made a similar prediction for his strongly Republican territory.

Denounces New Deal Waste.

A big gathering of voters, largely from Lee and Ogle counties, assembled at Dixon this afternoon and heard Mr. Brooks deliver a scathing denunciation of the policies and extravagances of the New Deal and state Democratic administration. Mr. Brooks was in "home" territory here, having lived in Dixon for several years during his youth.

At Freeport he told his listeners that Illinois is an agricultural and industrial empire with diversified activities but a united purpose. All sections, he said, are together in their desire to stop reckless waste and socialistic schemes in government.

"Our people," Mr. Brooks said, "are hungry for common sense and sound economy.

G. O. P. ORGANIZATION IN 44TH WARD VOTES TO SUPPORT BROOKS

Robert W. Dunn, Republican committeeman of the Forty-fourth ward, announced yesterday that the regular organization of the ward had indorsed Wayland Brooks for the governorship. A secret ballot of fifty-nine precinct captains showed 56 for Brooks, 2 for Len Small, and 1 for H. Wallace Caldwell.

"I deemed it advisable," said Dunn, who is a master in chancery of the Superior court, "to withhold any indorsement until we had sufficient time to make a complete survey of the situation, ascertain the qualifications of the various candidates and obtain the opinion of a majority of the Republicans in the ward. After an exhaustive survey of each precinct, a secret ballot expressed an almost unanimous choice. We will do all in our power to nominate Brooks."

The action was considered significant because Dunn is one of the only two regular committeemen closely affiliated with the Deneen faction. The other, Ald. John A. Massen [48th], has made no announcement concerning the governorship and Deneen leaders in other wards also have been holding back.

CLEAN UP VOTING LISTS, ORDER TO ELECTION CLERKS

Board Acts to Stamp Out Primary 'Floaters.'

Clerks of election for the primary of April 14 were notified yesterday that they must appear before the board of election commissioners on Monday or Tuesday and make application to remove from the poll lists the names of all persons who gave fictitious addresses in registering.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki and John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the board, said that this action will be one means of eliminating "floaters" in the primary.

Mail Two Million Cards.

Nearly two million postcards were sent out to addresses given by persons registering March 17. Several thousand of these cards—the complete returns are not yet in—were sent back to the election board with the post-office notation "not there." The names on the cards were forwarded to the precinct clerks, with a form letter signed by Mr. Rusch. The letter said that the inference from the postal reports was that the clerks had not made a thorough canvass of their precincts. They were ordered to do so immediately and to report to the election board next Monday or Tuesday to have the names in question removed from the register lists.

Poll workers from a dozen precincts were called to the election commissioner's office last night and questioned by Judge Jarecki about the evidence of fraudulent registrations. Some of them were rebuked by the judge and ordered to report to him again on Monday. Election Commissioners Mabel G. Reinecke and Harry A. Lipsky and Attorney John F. Cashen joined in the questioning of the workers.

Post Lists Today.

Registration lists will be posted today in the 3,164 polling places in Chicago and the 163 polling places in the country towns which come under the jurisdiction of the election board. The public is requested to examine the lists and protest the names of any illegally registered persons. Protests are to be made formally before the board on Monday and Tuesday.

Rusch announced that he is conducting investigations into complaints of fraudulent registrations in 12 wards—the 2d, 3d, 12th, 13th, 18th, 21st, 25th, 32d, 39th, 40th, 44th, and 49th.

ENTIRE STATE JOINING IN PLEA FOR HONEST BALLOT, SAYS GLENN

Otis F. Glenn, Republican candidate for United States senator, who returned to Chicago yesterday to spend a few days between downstate campaign trips, said the demand for honest elections is state-wide.

"It is most encouraging," he said, "to find a great interest being taken in this subject everywhere. The women are particularly active in the drive.

"Unles selections are honestly and fairly conducted, allowing the voters to register their opinions without having their ballots overcome by underhanded means, then our whole scheme and plan of government is in danger and, in fact, overcome."

FRENCH STEAMER SINKS IN CRASH; 9 LOST, 13 SAVED

SKEGNESS, England, March 26.—(AP)—The French S. S. Boree went down today twenty miles off the coast with the probable loss of nine lives after colliding with another ship.

The captain of the Spanish steamer Aizkarai Mendi later reported that his ship was the one which collided with the Boree.

Rescue vessels picked up thirteen survivors of a crew of twenty-two. The captain, among those rescued, said there was a dense fog at the time of the collision. The Boree, of 1,882 tons register, was carrying a cargo of coal. It was bound from Tyne to Caen, France, and collided near the Dudgeon lightship.

NASH PRESIDES AT LOVE FEAST OF CICERO FACTIONS

Two Democratic party factions in Cicero, at war for nearly three years, held a peace parley last night in the town hall, attended by 125 party workers. Patrick A. Nash, head of the Cook county Democratic organization, presided over the love feast and expressed himself as "very happy that the two organizations are in harmony again."

Mr. Nash said he had talked to State Senator Richey V. Graham, leader of one faction, and had got his promise to bring his lieutenants to the meeting with those of his rival, Anton F. Maciejewski, treasurer of the town and candidate for reelection as township supervisor.

"I am glad to see that Senator Graham is here with about 40 workers," said Mr. Nash. "It is terrible to fight among ourselves; we must save all our fighting spirit for the Republicans."

Another speaker was Sherif Toman, who told the meeting all county employés who live in Cicero had been instructed to vote and work for the party nominee at the election. "There will be no trimming or cut-throating," he said.

McCahey Gets $2,000,000 PWA Check for Schools

James B. McCahey, president of the school board, received a $2,000,000 check yesterday from Carl H. Bauer, state director of the federal Public Works administration. The money will finance the board's program of constructing seven new elementary schools and eight additions. It represents a loan and grant from PWA, for which the board gave building fund tax anticipation warants as collateral.

TOWNSEND PLAN MAN IN PRIMARY VS. ROOSEVELT

Los Angeles, Cal., March 26.—[Special.]—A petition nominating Congressman John Steven McGroarty [Dem.], newspaper writer, poet laureate of California, and legislative leader for the Townsend plan in congress, to oppose President Roosevelt for the Democratic nomination was filed with the county registrar of voters here tonight. The petition bore more than 7,000 names. McGroarty for President headquarters will be opened in Los Angeles tomorrow and in San Francisco on Monday. McGroarty will run on a platform advocating the Townsend old age pension plan.

G.O.P. TREASURER BATTLE NARROWS TO 2 CANDIDATES

C. F. Buck, A. J. Johnson Lead for Nomination.

BY PARKE BROWN.

CLARENCE F. BUCK.

ANTON J. JOHNSON.

Developments in the contest for the Republican nomination for state treasurer yesterday disclosed that while there are six candidates in the field the race has become almost entirely a two man battle.

The principal news was information that most of the Chicago ward leaders supporting Wayland Brooks for governor intend to throw their strength to Clarence F. Buck of Monmouth for the treasurership. Supporters of Anton J. Johnson of Macomb had hoped for this aid to supplement their downstate activity. Failing to receive it, they went after other Cook county support that they say will keep their candidate very much in the race.

Other Entrants in Race.

The other entrants are Deneen A. Watson of Elmhurst, who has strong backing among Young Republicans; Edward E. Miller of East St. Louis, a former treasurer; Joseph L. Moore, with backing in his own district, and Francis A. Horrigan, a Chicago ward committeeman.

Buck has figured in state politics since 1916 when he was elected for the first of two terms he served in the state senate from the 32d district. Since then he has been director of agriculture under Gov. L. L. Emmerson and candidate for treasurer in 1930.

He also has been active as a campaign manager, having served as such for the late Medill McCormick, for John G. Oglesby, and for Frank O. Lowden when the former Illinois governor was a candidate for President in 1928. He is a native of Monmouth, where he now lives. He was born on June 6, 1870.

Has Had Varied Career.

Johnson was born in Peoria on Oct. 20, 1878, and has been a newsboy, butcher, letter carrier, and farmer. He has been in the dairy business since 1926 and is president of the Milk Dealers' Association of Illinois, an office he has held since the organization was formed several years ago.

Johnson also has been active in affairs of his community as president of the Macomb Chamber of Commerce and the Macomb Rotary club and as a leader in community chest, Red Cross, and relief work.

Deneen Watson also was hoping for Brooks camp support as a candidate for treasurer. He is a leader of the Young Republicans, Inc., which is supporting him strongly, but as has happened with other candidates the geographical problem involved in Brooks alliances operated against him.

Bidwill, Dempsey Indorsed.

The whole Brooks organization has indorsed two Cook county men, Arthur J. Bidwill for auditor and John T. Dempsey for congressman at large.

Many of the Brooks ward and country district leaders also are inclined to support Charles W. Hadley of Wheaton—a resident of Du Page county, like Watson—for attorney general.

Taking two men from one county outside the big one was declared impossible by the pro-Hadley leaders.

Brooks headquarters said a complaint will be filed against an editorial in a downstate paper, the Bloomington Pantagraph, which indorsed H. Wallace Caldwell of Oak Park for governor. While the Caldwell people broadcast copies of the editorial, the Brooks managers attacked the statement in it that "Caldwell is going through the campaign with the support of 63 per cent of the Republican ward leaders in Chicago." Caldwell is supported by only a small minority of the ward committeemen.

'Fortune' Just a Mistake; War Veteran Disclaims It

John W. Seltzer, war veteran and former Chicago lumberman who had been reported missing, will not get a $100,000 fortune after all. Chief Deputy States Marshal Joseph Tobin yesterday said that Seltzer, found in New York, knew nothing about a purchase nine years ago of a "vast tract of land in West Virginia" and said he had never heard of William C. King, Pittsburgh lumberman, who inquired here for Seltzer to give him his "share" of the investment. King, meanwhile, has left the loop hotel where he was staying.

DIXIE DELEGATES SOUGHT FOR 3 IN G. O. P. CONTEST

Landon, Borah and Knox Men in Field.

Atlanta, Ga., March 26.—(AP)—Vigorous campaigns for southern delegates to the Cleveland National Republican convention are being waged by followers of Gov. Alf M. Landon, Senator William E. Borah and Col. Frank Knox.

State Chairman Howard B. Shofner of Tennessee and William J. Howey, who twice unsuccessfully ran for governor of Florida on the Republican ticket, are seeking instructed delegations for the Kansas governor.

Shofner, after a canvass of Tennessee Republicans, announced that the "rank and file" as well as "most of the leaders throughout the state believe Landon the logical man for the nomination."

Wants Landon Slate.

Howey, who is running against John F. Harris for Republican national committeeman from Florida, has announced he will seek a slate pledged to Landon at the Republican state convention meeting in Orlando April 30. Harris wants an unpledged delegation.

The North Carolina Republican convention indorsed Federal Judge I. M. Meekins for the presidential nomination but suggested that the state and district delegates confer with all candidates in picking the "best nominee."

Admirers of Henry W. Anderson of Richmond would like to see the Virginia delegation vote for him as a "favorite son" but others suggest unpledged delegates be picked for Cleveland by the state convention at Roanoke, April 11.

Louisiana Uninstructed.

The Louisiana delegation goes uninstructed. It is led by Attorney John E. Jackson of New Orleans.

In recent weeks there has been a good deal of visiting back and forth between the Landon group and Republican leaders in Arkansas, but State Chairman Osro Cobb has announced he will insist on an uninstructed delegation. The Republican convention meets in Little Rock May 2.

South Carolina selected an uninstructed delegation. Dallas A. Gardner, state Republican chairman said it will "act for the best interest of the party."

Meanwhile, Joseph W. Tolbert, whose faction lost out at the 1932 convention in Chicago, planned to carry a contesting delegation from South Carolina to Cleveland.

Borah Men Busy in Georgia.

Shortly after the Georgia Republicans called their state convention for May 9 at Atlanta, a group of business men launched a campaign for Senator Borah. This was headed by Harry Commers of Atlanta, who plans to seek a place on the delegation at large.

Friends of Landon and Knox are known also to be active in Georgia, but there is a strong sentiment for an unpledged delegation.

MAGILL CHARGES ROOSEVELT GRAB AT DICTATORSHIP

Warns Against Move to Throttle Courts.

President Roosevelt has started on the path to dictatorship and the principles which he advocates today are not those of the Democratic party but of tyranny and oppression, Dr. Hugh S. Magill, president of the American Federation of Investors, told 300 men and women attending a Fifth ward Republican rally last evening at 1442 East 55th street.

The President already has taken a number of steps toward usurpation of absolute power, Dr. Magill said. He charged that each move has been part of a logical, progressive, well planned program toward that end. He declared that the President and his advisers are proceeding on a "five point" plan, each phase of which is progressing simultaneously.

Congress a Submissive Body.

The first step was the reduction of congress to a submissive body—a plan which has been virtually carried to completion, Dr. Magill said. He pointed out that the President's "must" bills were passed by the house and senate, in several instances, without even being sent to committee. In one case the President sent word to pass certain bills "even though there is grave doubt of their constitutionality," he asserted.

The second step was vigorously begun but abruptly halted by the Supreme court when the National Recovery act was held unconstitutional. That step, Dr. Magill said, called for the delegation of law making powers of congress to the President. The code edicts were just such laws, made not by congress but by Presidential decree, he declared.

Presidential control of the public purse, and passage of the 4 billion 880 million dollar works fund constituted the third move, Mr. Magill declared. The money is being used to perpetuate Roosevelt as a dictator, he said.

Fears Curb on Court.

"The fourth step calls for the curbing of the courts," Dr. Magill said. "A bill now is pending which would make it law that any federal judge holding a statute unconstitutional automatically would disqualify himself for further service. We must protect the courts so they can protect us."

The fifth and final step, Dr. Magill said, is being pushed today—it is the intimidation of the citizenry by inquisitional methods as typified by the Black senate committee actions. The idea is to frighten the mass of people so they will not protest against tyranny, he explained. This method has had some success, he declared.

John Leonard East, Republican committeeman of the Fifth ward who is a candidate for reëlection at the April 14 primary, also was a speaker.

HOTEL MEN ASK TAX LIMITATION ON REAL ESTATE

Limitation of the total tax on real estate to a fixed percentage of "its true value" is urged in a resolution adopted yesterday by delegates attending the convention and show of the Illinois and Greater Chicago Hotel associations in the Stevens hotel.

"Real estate yields only one-tenth of the national revenue but bears two-thirds of the total cost of government," the resolution said. "Our homes and farms are held for ransom by the government with dectructive social and economic results."

Tax limitation was urged also in an address by Otto K. Eitel, manager of the Stevens hotel. He said that in 1935 Chicago's 10 largest hotels had an operating profit $380,000 less than their taxes.

Jerry B. Gardner of Peoria was elected president of the Illinois Hotel association, succeeding Frank Doyle, Joliet; Sidney Herbst of Kankakee was named vice president, and David W. Clark of Lincoln, treasurer.

The convention, which has attracted nearly 20,000 visitors, will close today.

ROOSEVELT FOES BACKING HORNER, MAYOR CHARGES

Calls Governor Tool of Rich Men's Plot.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Mayor Kelly charged in a radio address last night that enemies of President Roosevelt are attempting to gain the renomination of Gov. Horner to strengthen chances of electing a Republican governor in November "and thus aid greatly in reducing the Roosevelt vote in Illinois."

The mayor declared that a group of wealthy men met in New York last November and pledged $5,000,000 for the initial expense of a campaign to destroy President Roosevelt by breaking down the morale of the Democratic organization over the country and where possible deluding Democrats into nominating candidates in party primaries who would add no local strength to the national ticket in the fall.

Finds State Cold to Horner.

These forces, said the mayor, induced Gov. Horner to start a campaign of abuse against the regular Democratic organization in Illinois and Cook county.

The mayor continued his advocacy of the candidacy of Dr. H. N. Bundesen, Horner's opponent.

"Let's not fool ourselves," he said. "We simply cannot reelect Henry Horner. Sentiment is definitly against him—not only here but throughout the entire state as well."

Mr. Kelly also branded as false assertions made in a Horner radio speech ten days ago to the effect that the mayor had tried to stop confirmation of the appointment of Michael L. Igoe as United States attorney and had also wanted to keep State's Attorney Courtney off the primary ticket.

Denies Coolness to Igoe.

"Horner said that I was against the renomination of State's Attorney Courtney," Mayor Kelly said. "There is no basis whatever for that statement. Horner said I was opposed to Michael L. Igoe for United States attorney. Neither has that statement any basis in fact.

"The reference to these two officials by Horner could only have been actuated by malice and intended to cause disruption in the Democratic organization.

"You might pardon that in the heat of political conflict, but one in high station like his must have realized that such statements would tend to break the morale of every law-enforcing officer in Cook county, and tend to lend aid and comfort to all organized crime."

Turning to the indorsement of Dr. Bundesen by the Cook county and state central Democratic committees, Mr. Kelly said that it had been the practice for years for the two organizations to make recommendations to the voters.

"These organizations met to decide upon the nominee for governor. I, of course, not being a member of either organization, had no vote.

"Every claim of Gov. Horner for renomination was presented and considered. There was only one motive in the minds of the organization to help Roosevelt in November by nominating a man for governor who would lead us to victory.

"After full consideration, Dr. Bundesen was made the choice of the regular Democratic organizations of the state as the nominee of his party. Dr. Bundesen has proved his ability."

REPUBLICANS TERM NEW REVENUE PLAN TAXES TO SOAK POOR

Washington, D. C., March 26.—(AP)—A revenue program intended to produce nearly 800 million dollars for federal expenses ran into immediate Republican protest today as it was accepted by the house ways and means committee as a basis for public hearings.

Branding the proposal as "political camouflage," Representative Treadway [Rep., Mass.], ranking minority member of the committee, said the suggested taxes would indirectly "soak the poor in the worst fashion of any suggested bill that ever has been before the country."

Another Republican committeeman, Representative Reed of New York, asserted "the program is a vindictive attack on business in general."

Without changing a comma, the committee agreed to hold its hearings, starting Monday, on a report of a subcommittee recommending chiefly a new form of corporation taxes based on proportions of income withheld from distribution and a "windfall" levy on unpaid or refunded AAA processing taxes.

ELGIN HOSPITAL STAF ENLISTED TO HELP HORNER

Chain Letters 'Suggested' to Employes.

Chain letter campaigning for Gov. Horner is emanating from at least one state institution, according to disclosures yesterday.

Dr. Charles F. Read, managing officer of the Elgin State hospital—an establishment for the feeble-minded and insane—admitted that as the result of "a suggestion from Springfield," all of the institution's 580 employés have been asked to write at least five letters to relatives and friends, in praise of Mr. Horner.

Dr. Read professed ignorance, however, of an unsigned mimeographed letter on the hospital stationery which is being sent out, urging the governor's renomination. He has not heard of it, he said, adding that if hospital stationery and stamps are being used, this is unauthorized.

Employés Buy Own Stamps.

"The employés," said the managing officer, "are supposed to use their own stationery and stamps."

Reports were that the unsigned letter was regarded as such an excellent piece of propaganda that some of the more enthusiastic employés decided it was a model and would help the governor's cause if given wide distribution. The letter says:

"In spite of propaganda to the contrary, Gov. Horner has proved himself to be a capable man for his office in Illinois.

"Out of justice to an upright, fearless, enterprising, and fair dealing gentleman, we citizens of Illinois owe our governor a becoming recognition of his accomplishments during his past term.

Difficult Jobs Done.

"Nobody can be blind to the difficult enterprises he entered upon and brought to a successful fulfilment—employment, relief of the poor and needy, old age pensions' quota, road building, and state prestige.

"Many eminent men in the past have failed where Gov. Horner has succeeded. History repeats itself; so let us help Gov. Horner repeat himself. It will do us all more good. Use your primary vote for Horner.

"Our hospital corroborates his efficiency."

Dr. Read said that none of the employés would be fired if he didn't write the "suggested" letters.

"They were asked to write at least five letters," he said. "I see nothing wrong in that."

HORNER'S 17TH WARD HEADQUARTERS SUED FOR PAST DUE RENT

Suit for $132.50 back rent and possession of premises at 6922 Wentworth avenue was filed against the 17th ward political headquarters of Gov. Horner in the Municipal court yesterday. The plaintif was Floyd Dana, real estate agent for the Life Insurance Company of Virginia. Chancellor B. Thornton and George T. Scully, state parole superintendent, also were named defendants.

"It's entirely political propaganda," said Scully. "I've just taken over that headquarters from Thornton and am trying to get things going out there. I do know that Mike Egan, treasurer of the organization, paid some rent this morning. I don't know how much."

Attorney Ivan B. Goode, who filed the suit, said it was merely one of half a dozen given him by real estate agents. Mr. Dana could not be reached.

"MOBILIZE" FOR SAFETY

AT THE SIGN OF

Friendly Service

Here's what Chicago Motorists can Do to Help!

THIS YEAR an awakened America demands safer driving . . . and cars that are mechanically safe. Your car was safe when built. Public opinion demands that you keep it so.

And since wear leads to accidents . . . particularly in spring as days get warmer and winter lubricants lose their efficiency . . . it's time for action now!

More motorists than ever are turning to Mobiloil . . . the world's largest selling motor oil. They demand Mobilgreases of the correct specified grade. For these two products are the best insurance against wear that money can buy. So, make it a point tomorrow to head for the Sign of the Flying Red Horse.

While there, ask the Friendly Service man to fill your tank with safe Mobilgas . . . America's largest selling gasoline. Then you'll eliminate dangerous, motor-stopping "vapor-lock".

Mobilgas makes your car operate at peak performance, too . . . develops maximum power, gives you more miles per gallon, and so costs less to use.

After your Friendly Service man completes the three operations listed at the right, he will give your car "Double Inspection" Service which means checking headlights, brakes, steering, wheel alignment, battery, spark plugs and fan belt. If "O.K.", he will place this Safety Sticker on your windshield. It shows your friends and the motoring world that you've done your part.

1 SAFER ENGINE—Choke-thinned crankcase oil lets metal touch metal . . . causes wear, that first goes unnoticed but soon leads to heavy expense. Mobilize for Safety.

2 SAFER GEARS—Winter-weary gear lubricants no longer protect when days are warm. Consult your Friendly Service man for the proper grade. Mobilize for Safety.

3 SAFER CHASSIS—Frost and mud-caked chassis greases restrain the normal flexing of springs . . . bind your wheels against safe steering. Take no chances! Mobilize for Safety.

DITCHBURNE SAYS HE'LL ACT TO END AUTO MASSACRE

Prosecutor Candidate Blames Officials.

Action to stop the automobile massacre was promised last night by Harry S. Ditchburne, candidate for the Republican nomination for state's attorney, who addressed campaign meetings at 6730 Wentworth avenue and at 65th street and Winchester avenue.

"Drunken, cowardly, and moronic drivers of autos have supplanted the gangster and his gun as a major menace," Mr. Ditchburne said. "The time for compromise, for curtain lectures and weak kneed apologetic sentences, has passed."

Cites Traffic Toll.

He pointed to Chicago's record of an average of 80 persons struck each month by hit and run drivers, and contrasted the number of automobile victims with the number of persons killed in gang warfare.

"The law enforcement officials of the county, from the state's attorney down to the humblest patrolman," he said, "and the courts who hear the cases, must be held directly responsible for this dreadful toll of death and injury.

"Prompt indictment for manslaughter, followed by vigorous prosecution, will constitute part of my program as prosecutor."

Busse Points to Record.

William Busse, candidate for the Republican nomination for recorder of deeds, cited his long record of public service in campaign speeches last night at 6730 Wentworth avenue, 6542 Cottage Grove avenue, and 4017 North Cicero avenue. He said he was first elected a member of the county board in 1900, and has been on the board since that time except for two years.

HAGOOD SILENT ON REPORT HE'LL GET POST HERE

Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood, who last month was relieved of command of the Eighth corps area at San Antonio, Tex., because he referred to WPA funds as "stage money," refused to comment yesterday on a report that he may be placed in command of the Sixth corps area with headquarters here. Gen. Hagood, who came to Chicago on Wednesday, said he might make a statement tomorrow regarding his plans.

The report that the transfer was impending became current when it was learned that Warant Officer Harry F. Meyers, the general's clerk, had been ordered to Chicago from San Antonio.

Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, commander of the Sixth corps area for the last year, declared that he did not expect to be transferred to another post because of the relatively short time he has been here. He added that there was a shortage of warant officers in this area and that he believed Meyers was being sent here for that reason.

Veterans' Organizations Fix Poppy Sale for May 25

The annual Poppy day sale under the auspices of four war veterans' organizations will be held May 25. Plans for the sale of the poppies, which are made in veterans' hospitals, were completed last night at a meeting of the Veterans' Poppy Day association in the Hotel Sherman. The proceeds are used for the needs of disabled veterans and their dependents.

NEW SCENE IS TRIED BY ROOSEVELT IN HIS SEARCH FOR BIG FISH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., March 26.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today sought a change in his fishing luck by moving to new grounds. Escorted by the destroyers Dale and Monaghan the presidential yacht weighed anchor at Great Inagua Island and proceeded to Caicos bank, where he tried his luck in the afternoon.

The yacht Potomac dipped south from Mathewtown on Grand Inagua Island and looped to the bank about 20 miles east of last night's anchorage. The President put out in a small boat in the afternoon and was not expected to reboard his yacht until late evening, when he will radio a report of his fishing skill to the temporary White House here.

The day was Mr. Roosevelt's fourth at sea and third of fishing. He is expected to visit various cays where he has had success on his previous fishing excursions before he heads for the Florida coast on his return to Washington by way of Warm Springs, Ga.

PAROLEE SEIZED WITH 2 OTHERS FOR BAR HOLDUP

Carl Uryasz, 26 years old, 4129 South Sacramento avenue, who was released on parole in February, 1934, from Pontiac reformatory, was arrested by the Brighton Park police yesterday with Albert Rzeznikiewicz, 26 years old and the latter's brother, Adolph, 23, both of 3040 West 40th street, on a charge of robbing Bruno Yuska, 4716 South Keeler avenue, in a tavern at 40th street and Sacramento avenue.

Two other paroled convicts and a companion were held to the grand jury in bonds totaling $430,000 when they were arraigned yesterday on 43 charges of robbery before Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Automobile court.

One of the parolees is Ben Straka, 43 years old, whose record as a robber and burglar goes back to 1907, when he was 14 years old.

Last week he and his brother, William, 34 years old, and Edward Dopkowski, 28 years old, who was paroled from Joliet prison last June, were arrested as robbers when Dopkowski dropped an automobile identification card in the grocery store of one of their victims. Yesterday Judge Graber's court was crowded with other victims.

URGE U. S. AID TO KIN OF 259 VETS KILLED IN STORM

Camp Policy Criticized as House Quiz Opens.

Washington, D. C., March 26.—(AP)—A charge that "government men should have known those sand spits were not safe places" was made today by Representative Eagle [Dem., Tex.] as a house committee began investigating the death of 259 veterans in relief camps on the Florida keys.

Eagle, a member of the veterans' committee which is making the inquiry, said the victims were in the camps by government invitation when they were killed by a hurricane.

"It would be monstrous if this government did not do something for the men's dependents," he added.

Rep. Peterson Is Witness.

These and other comments by committee members indicated to some observers considerable sympathy for a bill by Chairman Rankin [Dem., Miss.] to provide compensation for the dependents.

Rep. Peterson [Dem., Fla.], the day's only witness, expressed no opinion as to responsibility for the deaths but explained why he had proposed the congressional inquiry. He said the judgment of the veterans' organizations and other groups which investigated the tragedy previously was that only congress could make an impartial study.

Camp Official to Be Quizzed.

Questioning brought out that dependents of the Spanish war veterans among the victims were provided for automatically in existing laws.

Rankin announced that Ray W. Sheldon of Palm Beach, in command of the three camps struck by the storm, will be questioned later.

On questioning, Peterson said residents of the section where the veterans died customarily do not evacuate the area in anticipation of such storms, and that there was no accurate way of telling which way a storm would turn.

ROOSEVELT CREATES NEW COMMITTEE TO MAKE NRA ANALYSIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 26.—[Special.]—A committee of industrial analysis to exhume the NRA Blue Eagle and pick its bones for accomplishments was created today by an executive order of President Roosevelt.

The committee will be headed by Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper, and will include Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins. Others outside the government subsequently will be appointed to the committee, according to the President's announcement.

One provision of the executive order was designed to take care of those employés who are still on the NRA pay roll.

Although invalidated by the Supreme court decision in the Schechter "sick chicken" case last May there are still 600 NRA jobholders drawing pay, poring over voluminous records and looking out the windows of the new Commerce Department building.

The President announced that these employés would be eligible for jobs under the industrial analysis committee "without regard to the civil service laws, or the classification act."

HUNT LOOPHOLE FOR APPEAL IN WEITZMAN CASE

Assistant state's attorneys were looking over the law books yesterday to find whether there is some way to appeal the directed verdict of not guilty in the trial of Irving Weitzman for the murder of Eli Daiches, advertising executive. Judge John J. Lupe in the Criminal court on Wednesday directed a jury to return the verdict because the state failed to produce any evidence except that which the state Supreme court had ruled inadequate in reversing the conviction of Weitzman at a previous trial.

State's Attorney Courtney, who admitted that his chances of appeal are slim, refused to comment pending a report from his assistants. It was admitted that two obstacles almost certainly bar an appeal: The principles that a defendant once in jeopardy cannot be retried, and that the state has no right to appeal in a criminal case.

Award $441,900 Contract for Calumet Sewer Job

Trustees of the sanitary district yesterday awarded a $441,900 contract to the A. J. Forschner company for construction of a section of the Calumet intercepting sewer in Colfax avenue from 79th to 90th streets. Work on the project is expected to start within three weeks.

WIFE RELATES LOVE THEFT IN MILLION SUIT

Mrs. Joyce's Notes to Palmer Read in Court.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 26.—[Special.]—Testifying in her million dollar love suit, Mrs. Lelah V. Palmer today told how the love of her husband, Frank S. Palmer, Chicago storage company estimator, had been stolen by Mrs. Vera J. Joyce, of Chicago and Beverly Hills. Soon after Mrs. Palmer's testimony the court allowed a defense motion to dismiss the suit on grounds of failure to prove.

Mrs. Joyce is the wife of William E. Joyce, 1232 Jarvis avenue, Chicago.

Mrs. Palmer's story of how her mate's affections cooled and died as Mrs. Joyce gave him her love "in carload lots" was augmented by letters Mrs. Joyce was said to have written Palmer.

Aids Mrs. Joyce in Moving.

"I loved my husband with all my heart," Mrs. Palmer testified, "and he seemed to want to be with me all the time and never was out nights until last August."

It was about that time that Palmer aided in moving Mrs. Joyce's furnishings from Chicago to her new home in Beverly Hills, according to Mrs. Palmer's complaint, which also asserted that Mrs. Palmer subsequently found her husband in the Beverly Hills home.

Mrs. Joyce was nonchalant, Mrs. Palmer testified, when the loveless wife visited her last December and tried to induce her to give up seeing Palmer.

Tells of Showing Letter.

"I showed her a letter," Mrs. Palmer testified, "in which my husband wrote that he loved me very much and was greatly worried at being away from me. I told her I loved my husband and wanted to take him back home with me.

"Mrs. Joyce said: 'O. K., then, it looks as if he does love you.'"

Mrs. Palmer's attorneys read into evidence several letters which they said Mrs. Joyce had written to Palmer. One told of the remarkable tonic effect the receipt of one of the storage man's special delivery letters had on the writer. It read in part:

"Aubrey got her ball on the roof of the garage and wanted to climb the trellis to get it down. I thought it looked too shaky for her to attempt it. However, after reading your letter a couple of times, I scampered out in the yard, up the trellis like a ringtailed monkey, and threw the ball down to her."

Note Describes Loneliness.

Another letter said: "It was just wonderful to come to you Friday night; it made me very lonely to see you. After our separation, I really think I was the loneliest person in the world."

Still another letter, which started "My darling," read in part: "If you really want to know, I try to stick to [a certain brand] powder, cream, etc., because it seems to agree with my skin, and I wear size 10 hose, 36 undies, 17 pajamas, 6¾ gloves, 23 head size, 18 in coats, and 16 in dresses.

"Now are there any secrets I've omitted? Just send me your particular brand of kisses and hugs and skip everything else, will you?"

"At the most, Palmer's love was very fickle and superficial," the judge said in throwing the case out of court, "as he apparently started going with other women shortly after his marriage." He also described Mrs. Palmer's million dollar damages request as exorbitant.

WOMEN IDENTIFY SLAIN ROBBER AS DIFFERENT MEN

The robber slain Tuesday night by Olaf H. Ohlson, druggist at 5046 Lincoln avenue, was identified by two women yesterday as Harry Abbott and as Joseph Thomas. First Mrs. Betty Abbott, 4706 Winthrop avenue, looked at photographs of the dead man and said she thought he was her former husband Harry. Later Mrs. Bobbie McMahon, owner of a rooming house at 1130 Wrightwood avenue, viewed the body and said the man was Joseph Thomas, one of her roomers, who has been missing since the night of the shooting. Police will make an effort to straighten out the mixup at the inquest today.

BLONDE TO TELL LOVER'S SLAYING IN COURT TODAY

Vera Stretz to Take Stand in Own Defense.

New York, March 26.—[Special.]—Vera Stretz will take the witness stand tomorrow in her fight to escape the electric chair for the slaying of Dr. Fritz Gebhardt, German importer who was shot to death in his apartment here last November.

The state rested its case this afternoon after calling twenty-two witnesses who established that Miss Stretz had admitted firing the four shots that killed her 43 year old lover. The state did not attempt to establish a motive for the slaying.

Samuel Leibowitz, her attorney, indicated Miss Stretz may be on the stand all day tomorrow telling her life story and interpreting the 112 letters that passed between her and Dr. Gebhardt from the time of their meeting last July until his death.

Fight Defense Plea.

Today's witnesses apparently were called to bolster the state's contention that Dr. Gebhardt was slain while in bed and that the shooting was not prompted by any fear of an assault. The latter testimony was offered in an attempt to forestall an anticipated plea that the blonde 31 year old stenographer killed Dr. Gebhardt in self-defense.

Patrolman Walter Mitchell told the jury how he found Dr. Gebhardt dead on the floor of his twenty-first floor room. Mitchell testified Dr. Gebhardt was dressed in a white nightgown and that part of the bed sheet rested on the foot of the bed while one end was under the dead man's right leg.

At the request of Prosecutor Miles O'Brien, Mitchell produced Dr. Gebhardt's nightgown from a manila envelope and dangled it aloft. Spectators, most of them women, gasped as the stained garment was exhibited, and Miss Stretz covered her face with her hands.

Detectives Give Testimony.

Detectives John Kaiser and John Hawthorne testified that Miss Stretz told them no assault had been committed by Dr. Gebhardt. She had been arrested on the third floor of the building, dressed for the street and carrying a bag which contained the .32 caliber revolver used in the slaying.

Kaiser said he went to the apartment room where Miss Stretz was being held temporarily after her arrest and asked her the motive for the slaying.

"She was sitting on a chair, with several officers around her," he said. "I drew up a chair in front of her and asked her if she owned the gun found in her bag. She said she did.

"Then I asked her why she killed the doctor," the detective continued. "I asked her whether it was robbery, an assault, or whether they had had words, and she said 'No.'

Tells Plan to Give Up.

"I asked her why she left the 19th floor [Miss Stretz had room No. 1912 in the building] and why she went down to the third floor, and she said she was on her way to give herself up."

Detective Hawthorne bore out his colleague's testimony that Miss Stretz denied Gebhardt had assaulted her, and Defense Attorney Leibowitz and Judge Cornelius Collins engaged in a brisk exchange.

"My contention," said Leibowitz, "is that the police introduced this evidence concerning assault after learning that we would claim self defense."

"Why don't you get the grand jury records of that matter?" asked Judge Collins. "I believe the detectives' testimony there came prior to disclosures of your self defense."

"I take exception to that remark," shouted Leibowitz. "I move for a mistrial."

"Motion denied," snapped the judge.

His Winning Ways Lead to Cell

In Court Today

Four members of a band of swindlers, who have confessed they collected sweepstakes prizes in many neighborhood movie theaters by presenting fraudulent tickets, are to be arraigned in Felony court today. Charges of operating a confidence game have been placed against them.

Those involved in the plot are Ladislaus Babka, 33 years old, and Stanley Wejda, 27 years old, both of 1706 North La Salle street; Max Weiner, 23 years old, 1536 North Talman avenue, and George Burdick, 25 years old, 1166 Milwaukee avenue.

Babka, alleged inventor of the system, and Wejda and Weiner were arrested when they attempted to cash a $300 check they had received Tuesday night as a prize at the Sheridan theater, 4038 Sheridan road. Their fraud was discovered when the theater manager compared the printing on the winning ticket and that on the corresponding stub drawn on the stage. Babka had numbered his ticket with a hand machine as the digits were called. Burdick, seized yesterday, admitted he was in the theater with the others when they collected the prize.

WOMAN CASHIER GETS PROBATION ON THEFT CHARGE

Florence Paulsen, 26 years old, 1626 Kimball avenue, was placed on probation for six months by Judge J. M. Braude in Women's court yesterday. She admitted theft of $436 over a period of six months in a loop department store, where she was employed as a cashier. She was ordered to make restitution. She told Judge Braude she was supporting her mother, Mrs. Ella Paulsen, and her brother, Fred, 18 years old. Her salary of $14 a week was insufficient for their needs, she said. The young woman appeared in court with her mother, who said her husband left her in 1927.

BABY STRANGLED TO DEATH BY HIS NIGHT CLOTHING

Allan Whitelaw, 14 months old, was found dead in his crib early yesterday by his father, W. Dean Whitelaw, 636 Hinman avenue, Evanston, a member of a firm of commercial artists at 540 North Michigan avenue. A fire department inhalator squad failed to revive the child, who apparently had been strangled by his sleeping garments. Whitelaw is the son of Arthur Whitelaw, Louisville, Ky., a director of the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky. Mrs. Whitelaw, who is out of the city, is the daughter of Judge Lafon Allan of Louisville. The baby was the couple's only child.

he cut out the wood for the rail was at an angle of about 45 degrees. The defense maintains that if the board actually was sawed at that point the cut would have been straight.

"The officials also studied the question arising out of the fact that it appeared that nail holes driven into the beams were not of sufficient depth to have permitted the nails to be driven flush with the board.

"Sample pieces of the joists were cut out and taken to Columbia university laboratories for the purpose of examining the nail holes. In several instances tests showed that fibrous material obstructed sticks placed in the holes. When the holes were cut open it showed they were full length.

"The defense maintains that this is indicative that these holes were made recently and not at the time the house was constructed. It was pointed out that the evidence of fibrous material shows the hole to be driven recently while clear cut holes result after a nail has been in the wood for a long period."

The governor's statement closed with this sentence:

"Further examination on a number of points will be continued."

Dispute Governor's View.

Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck Jr. of Hunterdon county, contended on the other hand that the governor's examination supported the state's claim that the ladder rail had formed part of the attic floor, thus connecting the ladder's construction directly with Hauptmann.

This contention was upheld by the state's wood expert, Arthur J. Koehler, whose views contradict those of Loney. It was Koehler's testimony largely that resulted in Hauptmann's conviction.

Aside from the governor and Attorney General David T. Wilentz, Prosecutor Hauck and the two lumber experts were in the party visiting the Hauptmann house.

Hauptmann, once saved from the electric chair by Gov. Hoffman's reprieve, is under sentence to die next Tuesday night. The governor said only the court of pardons or judicial intervention can save him this time. If the court of pardons decides to hear Hauptmann's second plea for clemency it will meet Saturday or Monday.

To Fight Further Reprieve.

Hauck, plainly irritated by the governor's activities in the case and more particularly by the Bronx visit today, said he would fight any further attempts to reprieve Hauptmann.

"The fact," Hauck said, "is his investigation is not impartial and is very unfair. He has constantly leagued himself with the defense and so far he has shown us nothing of importance that would lead us to believe Hauptmann innocent.

"If it is his intention to grant another reprieve I will take quick and necessary court action to block it. I feel he has made a laughing stock of the courts who have passed upon the legal questions involved in the case."

TWO JURORS SEATED IN FLOGGING TRIAL OF TAMPA POLICEMEN

Tampa, Fla., March 26.—(AP)—Prospective jurors in the Shoemaker flogging trials today were asked if they believed in "American ideals and institutions" and in preserving the federal and state constitutions.

Two veniremen were seated tentatively during the morning and two others were excused because they said they had formed opinions about the three Tampa policemen accused. Those seated may be struck later by either side before the six man jury is completed.

The case, growing out of the flogging last November of Joseph Shoemaker, who later died, and E. F. Poulnot and S. D. Rogers, has brought charges of communism from the accused and the Ku Klux Klan terrorism from the victims and their friends.

Selection of the jury started after Presiding Judge Robert T. Dewell temporarily overruled motions for a change of venue to another county.

CROWD HELD OFF FOR FOUR HOURS BY FAITHFUL DOG

For four hours yesterday a young German shepherd dog lay in the Ashland avenue entrance of a Woolworth 5 and 10 cent store at the northeast corner of Ashland avenue and Madison street, preventing fearful customers from using the doorway and defying all efforts to entice it away.

A crowd of hundreds gathered at the corner, blocking both sidewalk and street trafic until a Des Plaines street police squad was called to straighten out the snarl.

A bystander suggested the dog be shot, but others protested it would be cruel. The dog placidly ignored the crowd, until an elderly man pushed his way through to the door. Then the animal leaped up and fawned upon him and the siege was at an end. The man, who said he was John Gossip, 65 years old, 1326 West Erie street, explained that, four hours earlier, he had gone into the Ashland avenue entrance of the store, commanding the dog, Lady, to wait for him. After finishing his shopping Gossip absent-mindedly left by another entrance on Madison street, but Lady faithfully stayed at her post.

MONGOL PLANES ROUT JAPANESE IN BORDER CLASH

MOSCOW, March 26.—(AP)—Japanese cannons and Mongolian airplanes were brought in play in two days of clashes on the soviet-Manchukuo border, soviet press advices reported today.

Japanese and Manchukuan forces were concentrating along the northwestern frontier of Manchukuo, the dispatches said. Yesterday the forces crossed the frontier and opened fire on an outer Mongolian detachment which drove them back after a lively engagement.

At dawn today the Japanese-Manchukuan force recrossed the border, captured a post on outer Mongolian territory, but withdrew to Manchukuan territory after Mongolian planes maneuvered over their position. In the battle which preceded the seizure of the post, it was stated, the Japanese used two cannons and the Mongolians, outnumbered, were forced to retreat 4½ miles to a ravine.

WRITER IS FOUND DEAD IN HIS HOME AT LOS ANGELES

Beverly Hills, Cal., March 26.—[Special.]—Edwin Vincent Kane, writer and sportsman, was found dead in his apartment here tonight, just three days before his scheduled marriage to Miss Mary Lou Fisher of Detroit, a cousin of Senator Couzens of Michigan. A physician said Kane apparently had died of heart disease.

The body was discovered after Miss Fisher was unable to get an answer from Kane on his apartment telephone. She notified the building manager, whose investigation disclosed Kane's death. Miss Fisher said she dined with Kane Wednesday evening and at that time he complained of a pain in the left side of his neck and expressed fear of a heart attack. They were to have been married Sunday in Yuma, Ariz.

Edward Blair Arrested on Charge of Speeding

Edward McCormick Blair, 21 years old, of Lake Bluff, a Yale university student, was arrested early yesterday by Park Policeman George Winter on a charge of driving 62 miles an hour in the outer drive between Wilson and Lawrence avenues. At Summerdale station Blair was released on a $50 bond furnished by a professional bondsman. He is the son of William McCormick Blair, investment banker.

Don't Be Fat!

"Eat Sensibly—Drink Welch's Grape Juice"

HERE, at last, is a SAFE way to reduce. A way that does NOT call for strict dieting, exercising, or taking drugs. A way that actually increases your mental and physical energy as pounds of ugly fat seemingly melt away.

Please read carefully: In a recent test, held under the direction of the eminent Dr. Damrau of New York, 14 people who were gaining at the rate of 1⅔ pounds a month, followed this method. And the average loss registered was 7 pounds a person in a single month—WITHOUT STRICT DIETING OR EXERCISING.

What You Do

Now, all you have to do is this: Mix ¾ of a glass of Welch's Grape Juice with ¼ of a glass of water—and drink before each meal, and at bedtime. Then eat sensibly—and this is what happens.

First, Welch's Grape Juice satisfies your normal craving for rich, sweet foods. You have less desire to over-eat fattening foods—yet you do feel comfortably satisfied.

Second, the grape sugar in Welch's is quickly burned up—producing vital energy—and, most important, helps nature to burn up excess fat.

Irene Rich is over 40, but weighs the same as at 16

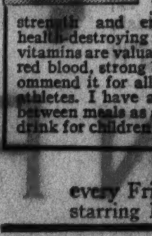
Only One Thing To Watch

In following this proved, SAFE way to lose ugly fat, eat sensibly—and then there is only one thing to watch. Use only the genuine Welch's Grape Juice. In order to get the finest, selected, premium grapes grown we pay more than anyone in the United States. That is why Welch's is always full strength. No adulterants; no artificial coloring—Certified Pure. Insist upon Welch's.



"Gives Quick Pep and Energy"

"Red" Woodworth, All-American Star and Coach at Morgan Park Military Academy, says: "Welch's Grape Juice gives my boys strength and energy without adding health-destroying fat. The minerals and vitamins are valuable in helping to build red blood, strong bones and teeth. I recommend it for all growing children and athletes. I have also found it excellent between meals as a quick energy pick-up drink for children and grown ups."

FRIENDS OF SAFE HIGHWAYS MOVE TO INCORPORATE

Elevated Routes Will Be Sponsored.

BY HAL FOUST.

A group of elevated highway supporters, meeting at a luncheon in the Chicago Athletic association clubrooms yesterday, decided to incorporate in a nonprofit organization entitled the Safety Highway Council of Chicago. An application for incorporation is to be filed next week with Secretary of State Hughes.

The purpose of the organization is to promote elevated highways for rapid and safe motor transportation as opposed to proposals, such as the widening of Congress street, which would spend millions of road building funds for the principal purpose of enhancing the value of abutting real estate.

Fights Archer Widening.

Apropos of the growing opposition to surface street widening, Walter Wolf of the Archer Avenue Business Men's association told the meeting that his association is fighting plans of the Illinois highway department for additional widening in Archer avenue. He said that this encouragement to fast through trafic discouraged local retail patronage.

"The widening that has been done in Archer avenue was a mistake," added Ald. John E. Egan [13th]. "It has brought about a big increase in accidents. Elevated highways are needed for protection of pedestrians, particularly for the protection of women and children."

Improvement Leaders Join.

Members of the new council are John F. Cuneo, printer and bookbinder; R. G. Lydy, parking lot operator; Louis L. Schorsch, president of the Northwest Real Estate board; Edward F. Boyle, chairman of the arterial highway committee of the Northwest Federation of Improvement Clubs; William C. Calvert, secretary of the North Central association; John Irwin, west side business man; George Ottenhoff, 20th Ward Improvement association, and John W. Ruzicka and R. R. Rehm of the 15th Street and Blue Island Avenue Improvement association.

They pledged themselves by resolution not to concentrate their elevated highway advocacy upon any specific route for the special benefit of any particular section of the city, but to let competent engineering and economic studies determine where construction should start on a city-wide system.

"Naturally we of the northwest side would like to see Avondale avenue built first, but we are not going to be selfish about this thing," said Mr. Schorsch. "Our main interests are to reduce Chicago's trafic toll and to promote the growth of the city by expediting its automotive commerce. If it is found that construction should start first on a west side route, we'll support it."

Others echoed this sentiment.

Push Control System.

In the meantime, progress was made in the plan to improve trafic conditions on 120 miles of existing pavements on the west side through the installation of an extensive progressive signal control system, such as is now operating in North La Salle street and in Michigan avenue. The skeleton of the proposal was drafted by the Chicago Association of Commerce a few months ago and was approved in principle by trafic engineers for the city and for the Chicago park district, Leslie Sorenson and Otto K. Jelinek.

Yesterday Mayor Kelly announced he will ask the approval of the Illinois highway department for the city to spend $64,000 of its share of the gasoline tax revenue on the new trafic light system. The entire cost is estimated at $122,000, the park district to contribute $53,500 and the city corporate fund to contribute $4,500.

MOVES TO QUASH LIBEL COMPLAINT OF ZION'S MAYOR

Question of Jurisdiction Raised by Ex-Editor.

A novel legal question—whether libel charges can be brought against a publisher in courts other than in the jurisdiction where the publication is printed—was raised yesterday in a hearing before Justice of the Peace Harry Hoyt at Waukegan.

The hearing was on a charge of criminal libel made by Mayor William M. Edwards of Zion against Edwin Baird, 1120 Lake Shore drive, Chicago, former editor and publisher of Real America, a monthly magazine. The complaint is based on an article which appeared in the July, 1935, issue of the magazine, when Baird was still editor and publisher.

The article, by a staf writer, quoted Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of the Christian Catholic church of Zion, Edward's political enemy.

The legal point was raised by Attorney Albert Hall, counsel for Baird, after Mayor Edwards had testified that the article was intended to impeach his reputation and bring him into disgrace.

Attorney Hall attacked the right of Justice Hoyt to hear the suit on the ground of jurisdiction. He contended the magazine is printed in Chicago and that therefore the action must be brought in the Cook county courts.

Unfair Procedure, Charges.

"Such a suit must be brought in the jurisdiction where the publication is printed and not where it is distributed," Hall declared. "It is obviously unfair under the present procedure as charges might be brought in every part of the state. If they could do that then there is no justice for an editor in Illinois."

Attorney Hall declared there is no decision of the Illinois Supreme court on the point but that the constitution guarantees trial where the alleged offense is committed.

Assistant State's Attorney Okel S. Fuqua of Lake county, who is in charge of the prosecution, countered that such suits can be brought in the jurisdiction where the injured person lives, provided the publication is circulated there.

Ruling Due April 2.

Justice Hoyt announced he would rule on this point April 2.

Baird testified that the reference to Edwards was a "regrettable error," caused when an associate editor deleted part of the original article. He declared that in a subsequent issue the magazine had printed a correction and apology.

Attorney Hall argued that the charge should be dismissed as Baird had not acted with any criminal intent.

Mayor Edwards has a civil suit asking $50,000 damages from Baird, Real America, Inc., and Lucille Hecht, author of the article, pending in the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan.

JUDGE PROMISES HEAVY PENALTIES IN HIT-RUN CASES

Warns Drivers in Step to Curb Mishaps.

Judge Eugene L. McGarry in Safety court issued a warning yesterday that motorists arraigned before him on hit and run charges may expect the maximum sentence provided in the statutes—six months in jail and a $500 fine.

Stern handling of all cases involving leaving the scene of an accident, Judge McGarry said, will be necessary to control trafic accidents and fatalities as the summer season brings the usual heavy increase in automobile travel.

Penalty Should Be Doubled.

"There is no crime more cowardly than that of fleeing from the scene of an accident, leaving innocent victims lying helpless in the street," the judge declared. "The present maximum penalty is not severe enough for clear hit and run cases. It should be doubled."

All cases involving hit and run, driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, and other serious charges of trafic violations are heard by Judge McGarry in the Municipal court branch designated 44A. About 60 per cent of such cases are heard without a jury.

William Noble, 40 years old, 1031 Dakin street, a railroad switchman, was sentenced to five days in the Bridewell by Judge McGarry yesterday on a charge of reckless driving. Noble's car knocked down Mrs. Josephine Westcott, 35 years old, 3912 Lincoln avenue, at Irving Park boulevard and Elston avenue Monday night.

182 Killed Since Jan. 1.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 182 persons had been killed and 3,345 in trafic accidents within the city limits since Jan. 1. In the same period fatalities in Cook county were 217.

Eric Kulberger, 50 years old, 7317 Crandon avenue, automobile dealer at 6830 Stony Island avenue, will be arraigned today in Safety court on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. His car struck and fatally injured Anthony Klevinskas, 28 years old, 724 West 18th street, Wednesday night in the Outer drive at 37th street. Kulberger drove away, but later surrendered.

Gilbert Guest, 4 years old, 1814 Greenwood street, Evanston, was fatally injured yesterday when he ran from between two parked cars at Wesley avenue and Emerson street, Evanston, into the side of an automobile driven by Willis J. Dean, 50 years old, 2000 Harrison street, Evanston.

The child died in Evanston hospital late last night. His death was the first automobile fatality in the suburb in months.

A man identified from a WPA registration card in his pocket as Nicholas Schneider, 45 years old, 8339 Anthony avenue, was probably fatally injured last night when he was struck by an automobile at 83d street and South Chicago avenue. The driver, Fred Leichner, 23 years old, 7820 Cornell avenue, was held by the South Chicago police.

LOS ANGELES SKY DARK AS SMUDGE POTS FIGHT FROST

Los Angeles, Cal., March 26.—[Special.]—Smudge pots from the orange orchard belt about Los Angeles darkened the air all day today as a low pressure area in the inner southwest cast snow flurries upon the deserts and drove this city to wearing top coats and furs.

The temperature dropped to an official 43 in downtown Los Angeles and was recorded at 32 in suburban Burbank, 31 at Riverside, and 30 at Corona.

Frost was general throughout southern California last night, and department of agriculture bulletins mention heavy damage to blossoming peach, almond, and citrus fruit trees.

DRIVER WITH ONE FOOT PUTS POSER TO TRAFIC JUDGE

Judge John Gutknecht in Trafic court yesterday fined Joseph Shafarsky, 29 years old, 7700 West 60th place, Argo, $6 on two charges of driving his truck without city and state licenses. He continued to April 3 a hearing on an additional charge brought against Shafarsky for "operating a motor vehicle while having the use of only one foot."

Shafarsky's right foot was amputated after an accident 10 years ago. He pleaded that he was a good driver nevertheless, and said he had passed a test for a driver's license in New York.

"At best, such driving is a dangerous practice, but I will continue the case until I look up the law," Judge Gutknecht said.

CLEANING FIRMS ASK INJUNCTION AGAINST PICKETS

Four cleaning and dyeing concerns filed suit yesterday in Superior court seeking an injunction to restrain Ben A. Albert, head of the cleaners, dyers and pressers' union, and other union officials from interfering with their business by unlawful picketing. The bill charges violence and intimidation has been used by the union because of the cleaning concern's refusal to deal with union employés. A similar injunction suit brought by Albert against certain union members and a number of cleaning plant owners is pending before Judge Walter T. Stanton in Superior court. In his suit Albert charges the employers' group has set up stores to compete with cash and carry cleaning shops by cutting prices, and is attempting to force him out of the union.

THE HOG CALLER'S OPPORTUNITY.

1. "When the futility of maintaining prices of wheat and cotton through so-called stabilization became apparent, the President's farm board, of which his secretary of agriculture was a member, invented the cruel joke of advising farmers to allow 20 per cent of their wheat lands to be idle, to plow up every third row of cotton, and to shoot every tenth dairy cow. Surely they knew that this advice would not, indeed could not, be taken. It was probably offered as the foundation of an alibi."

The foregoing was Franklin D. Roosevelt's criticism of the Hoover farm plan, presented at Topeka, Kas., in the course of his campaign for election. He was opposed to such nonsense. We heartily agreed with Mr. Roosevelt's position then. Our difference with him arose over the fact that no sooner had he been inducted into office than he enthusiastically embraced precisely the farm scheme which he had so bitterly ridiculed at Topeka. By the terms of the Roosevelt farm plan farmers were paid for plowing up cotton, for keeping wheat lands idle, and even for killing more than one-tenth of their cows.

2. On March 16, 1933, in a special message to congress urging adoption of the original agricultural adjustment act, Mr. Roosevelt made the following statement: "I tell you frankly that it is a new and untrod path. If a fair administrative trial of it is made and it does not produce the hoped for results I shall be first to acknowledge it and advise you."

Two years of operation under AAA passed. The secretary of agriculture then called upon the competent fact finding division of his department to report on the extent to which the President's trial plan had increased farm incomes. The bureau reported that, so far as one group of farmers was concerned, AAA had not only failed to increase agricultural incomes but had actually reduced them. A short time later the United States Supreme court handed down an opinion holding that the federal government had no power to regulate farming and that AAA was unconstitutional.

If the President had followed his original inclination he would have avoided AAA as in his own words "a cruel joke" at the expense of the farmers. If the President had abided by the promise he had made in calling upon congress to pass the AAA he would have abandoned it and all similar schemes as soon as he had received the report showing that AAA had been detrimental to agriculture. Instead, he called upon congress to reënact the invalidated law as nearly as possible in the original form.

3. What the new farm relief bill is nobody seems to know. In conference with the farm organizations Mr. Wallace has sought to convey the impression that it is the old AAA with a false face. But when the secretary sought to explain the details of the bill before a press conference recently he was promptly corrected at a number of important points by AAA men. Wallace in turn was not in agreement with the AAA subordinates when they undertook to set forth the details of the plan.

There has been vague talk about paying farmers for raising soil building crops and for reducing the planting of soil exhausting crops. But all this is horse feathers. For the AAA has been quick to point out that what is construed as a soil exhausting crop in one place is to be considered a soil building crop elsewhere. The big idea is to hand out 500 million dollars, but even the basis of the distribution is still in doubt. In that respect even AAA was more satisfactory. Under the original scheme the wheat farmers had the receipts of the wheat processing taxes distributed among them; the corn-hog raisers were given what was taken in by the hog processing taxes, etc. Under the new scheme the secretary of agriculture is to pass out the money as he feels like it. What Wallace gives to one will reduce the amount which goes to the others.

The cotton farmers, with ample political backing, have let it be known that they expect the lion's share. The sugar and rice growers are so certain that they aren't going to get what they are entitled to that they have already protested. Farmers in the central states should know that a Washington politician is giving away a half billion dollars and that the ones who yell the loudest will profit most. Some Illinois and Iowa swine herdsmen we have heard calling their pets at contests could make Washington hear without using any new fangled means of communication. They will need all their talents. They are in competition with experts in go-getting.

FINGER PRINTS.

Carl Giles, former relief director in Oklahoma, has been indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of irregularity in the handling of public funds. The government attempted to make a record of Giles' finger prints. He refused to coöperate and the federal District court in Oklahoma has sustained him. The court says there is no federal statute authorizing the finger printing of suspected criminals and in the absence of specific authorization it cannot be done without the prisoner's consent.

At last reports the attorney general in Washington was considering taking an appeal from the decision. The government cites a decision of the Circuit court in New York reversing a lower court finding that finger printing subjected a possible miscreant to an unnecessary indignity. The government asserts that finger printing is not an indignity but merely a part of the process of identifying a man, like obtaining his name and address, and therefore requires no specific authorization.

The contention is not entirely correct. The fact is that a certain stigma, however irrational it may sometimes be, does attach to the process. It is, therefore, not quite the same as asking a name and address. Finger prints, as every one knows, are commonly filed in the rogues' gallery. For this reason many recruits in the war resented having to record their finger markings on their service records. They felt that to do so placed them in the category of criminals. The resentment was renewed a few weeks ago when the bonus application blanks were distributed. The finger printing of soldiers as a matter of fact was not an unreasonable proceeding because it offered one means of identifying them in case of death or injury, as well as a means of weeding out undesirables; the checking of the prints of bonus applicants against their service records is obviously a reasonable precaution against fraud.

It is not so easy to find justification for taking the prints of a man merely because he is suspected of a crime. So far as Giles is concerned, there is no doubt of his identity and his finger prints will provide no evidence of whether or not he committed the offense with which he is charged. No useful purpose appears to be served, then, by taking his finger record.

The rule which the government should follow is simple and straightforward. It obtains no right to finger print anybody merely by calling him a suspect. Its practice in this matter should follow the rules for search and seizure. If the government has reason to believe that a particular paper in a particular place is of value for a particular prosecution it can obtain the object by means of a search warant. It cannot proceed, as Senator Black has been trying to do, by seizing all kinds of papers of all kinds of people for any purpose or no purpose.

The government has a right to demand finger prints only if it can show good reason for wanting them. If, for example, the prints of an automobile thief have been obtained from a stolen automobile, the government can reasonably ask that the prints of a suspect be taken for purposes of comparison. The suspicion must be reasonable and the purpose for which the finger prints are to be obtained must be both reasonable and specific.

THE DOCTOR'S WORST PATIENT.

Dr. Harold Disbrow, who was engaged to prolong John D. Rockefeller's life, did his work so well that the oil king at 98 is still playing golf. But the doctor who developed and prescribed the routine for longevity has just died, aged 47.

Dr. Disbrow, who was helping to escort others into advanced ages, perhaps had no opportunity to apply the methods to himself or did not think it necessary to do so. In that he was not exceptional. People who are frequently able to give sound advice so long as they can regard the problems of life objectively are frequently unable to find or apply the solution when the problem concerns themselves. Doctors are often their own worst patients. Some bankers who managed their institutions well in boom and depression are themselves today under water. And a short time ago newspapers had the painful duty to report that a minister who had led many people to a righteous life had been carrying on all the time with a blonde.

Editorial of the Day

[New York Sun.]

The United States treasury heard some good news the other day. Its district offices throughout the country reported that income tax collections during the first sixteen days of March amounted to $281,000,000—an increase of no less than 46 per cent compared with receipts from the same source during the same sixteen days last year. This sharp increase reflects the improvement of business and profits in 1935. The treasury expected something of the sort, but if the present rate of increase holds its rosiest estimate of March receipts will be exceeded.

On Capitol Hill yesterday a number of congressmen promptly jumped to the conclusion that it will now be possible to defer until after the election legislation designed to raise part of the new revenue requested by the President. They are particularly anxious to defer action on the proposal to reënact, even in modified form, the processing taxes formerly imposed on various farm products—for taxes of this kind, translated into higher prices for food, and clothing, and tobacco, are paid in the last analysis by almost every voter. Reading the figures published recently these members of congress now conclude that it will be safe to drop processing taxes and to report a revenue bill limited almost exclusively to the new plan for a tax on undistributed corporation surpluses.

But to draw this conclusion is to miss the really significant point about the tax figures. This is the fact that personal and corporate income taxes already on the statute books are demonstrably certain to bring in a very large amount of revenue with any substantial revival of business. Why should the government trade a well established corporation tax, now proving its productivity, for an untried experiment with a "surplus" tax whose yield can only be guessed at, since it depends on policies which many individual boards of directors would pursue with respect to the distribution of surpluses and since no treasury or congressional experts can foresee what these policies would be? The fact that the yield of existing corporation taxes now seems likely to exceed the treasury's best estimate ought to constitute an argument for retaining rather than discarding them.

THE PRESIDENT should stop fishing right away. His uncle, Fred Delano, who has made the only catch on the trip, hooked a blue bone porgy. This blue bone porgy therefore has cost just three hundred thousand dollars. A blue bone porgy costing three hundred thousand dollars should be mounted and put in the Smithsonian institution. The blue bone porgy is a perch and usually sells three for a dime, but a blue bone porgy that cost three hundred thousand bucks—well, that is something else again.

THE TEACHER OF ENGLISH in the high school at Seattle has hung up a Chinese gong on his desk and when any of the pupils say "I hain't seen it" or "athaletic" or "it don't" or "you was"—BANG goes the gong. The Chinese gong would be a fine thing for radio stations and whenever an announcer, a preacher on Sunday morning, or a statesman on any day of the week said "Purdoo,' "constitooshun," "roon," or "nooze" the gong should go BOOM! BOOM! BOOM! And if any one of the radio speakers say "ant," meaning a female relative, the gong should go BOOM five times. For an ant is a very small crawling insect and not at all like an aunt. I think I'll get a Chinese gong myself. I need it when some visitor says, "Oh, I'm going to have a visit next week from my ant." I always ask, "And when is your flea coming up for a visit?" but they never get it. I believe a Chinese gong would be better.

Dreamers of loveliness gone on before
We knew that dream, vanishing one by one.
They knew this miracle of touching hands,
Of mouth on mouth within a winter dawn,
The loved, the lovers, in Gold's many lands,
They laughed and wept and clung while time went

Before them, two and two, the others went Past history, tiny against the years,
And having known their hour rested content
In silence after singing and the tears.
And when our time is done there still will be
A man, a maiden and a flowering tree.

THE JUDGES are doing all they can, but when sweet, cultured young persons from wealthy homes tear up and down Sheridan road at seventy-five or eighty miles an hour—what to do? Of course the sweet, cultured young persons from wealthy homes ought to be given ten years in jail, but there is no statute on the books that will permit a judge to impose that penalty. Maybe the best thing would be to arrange a driving park and turn all the seventy-five and eighty miles an hour speeders into it and tell 'em to go to it and drive their heads off. And then send the survivors to the county jail for six months or whatever our present law allows.

THE FOOD VALUE OF NUTS.

ALL forms of animal and plant life attempt to perpetuate themselves. As an important link in this process most plants produce seeds, each of which contains a germ capable of growth. Under favorable conditions seeds will sprout and new plants will appear.

Neither animals nor plants can grow unless they are provided with nourishment, and seeds will not germinate unless sufficient food surrounds the embryo. The new bit of plant life cannot gather food on its own account until leaves and roots develop. Hence it is necessary to supply nutriment until these structures can begin to function.

Thus we see that the provision plants make for their children creates a food supply for man. We use the seeds of wheat, corn, barley, oats, rye, beans, peas, etc., for their stored up food.

Seeds may be quite large or very tiny and differ considerably in the amount and character of food which they contain. Some will consist largely of starch, others of starch and protein, and still others of starch, protein, and fats [oils]. Practically all have small amounts of minerals. Nuts particularly are rich in fats.

Because of their high nutritive qualities, nuts have come to be an important article of diet, and the annual yield in this country amounts to more than a billion and a half pounds. The yearly per capita consumption of peanuts alone in the United States exceeds seven pounds. Peanuts are not "nuts" in the strict sense of the word. They are really a rich, oily bean and are formed by ground growing plants. The commonly used roasting process renders them palatable. A popular product is peanut butter.

To some persons nuts are relatively indigestible. Well roasted peanuts are less so than many other types, as experiments have shown that peanut butter and peanut flour can be digested about as readily as other forms of food rich in protein and fat. It is a common experience, however, to be unable to digest nuts or nut products easily. They may be tasted for hours or even days after a nut eating orgy, which generally means that the stomach has not thoroughly emptied itself.

Difficulties with digestion lie in the fact that the nuts may not be thoroughly masticated. Furthermore, they are rarely eaten in connection with other foods—vegetables, etc.—and decrease, therefore, the power of the stomach to discharge its contents into the intestine. They are so rich in oil that some interference with fat digestion may occur. One symptom of this state of affairs is the appearance of reddish, pimplelike eruptions on the skin, which may exist for several days or until digestion returns to normal. The condition is noted especially in the individual who has delicate, clear skin.

Those who are unusually fond of nuts—and there are many—may pile up within the body more calories than are needed. For example, a dozen peanuts will equal 100 calories. The one who would confine his diet to this type of food, except as a matter of dire necessity, would disorganize his digestive system rather quickly. There would be too great a preponderance of fats in relation to carbohydrates and minerals. In fact, many nuts contain 60 per cent or more of fat: walnuts, 64 per cent; hickory nuts, 67 per cent; Brazil nuts, 66 per cent; pecans, 70 per cent, and even the lowly goober [peanut], nearly 40 per cent.

Again, nuts are poor in vitamin A and practically devoid of vitamin C, but they do furnish a considerable amount of vitamin B. They cannot be depended on as a source of minerals, although the iron content is relatively high.

Nuts are so tasty and form such a desirable relish that they are used extensively as a compact form of supplying calories. Caution must be exercised that they do not furnish too many.

PAIN IN BREAST.

Mrs. S. writes: In the last year a relative of mine developed a pain in the left breast. There is no lump, but the nipple has turned a bright red. The pain issues from the nipple under and down the inside and underside of the arm. This is intermittent and changes from one location to another. The patient has high blood pressure and has had attacks of kidney stones for the last eight years. During the late fall she had the flu, during which the breast trouble manifested itself more intensively. Do you think cancer is indicated?

REPLY.

There are a number of disorders which may produce the symptoms you describe. The patient should consult a physician at once. The symptoms do not necessarily indicate cancer, but in the circumstances delay may be dangerous.

THANKS TO PHYSICIAN.

C. L., referring to the article, "Happiness Brings Health," says: "The perseverance, skill, and devotion of our physician when my husband, sister and nephew were sick can never be adequately compensated. Of course, we paid his bill, but it represents but a fraction of our obligation. He is imbued with the ideals of service."

REPLY.

There are many physicians who are unwilling to place the pursuit of the dollar ahead of the satisfaction that comes with honestly rendered care to the sick. The physician who regards his profession as a trade; who demands his "pound of flesh," is unworthy of the name. On the other hand, patients are not always grateful. Some appear to believe that the physician requires no acquaintance with the current medium of exchange.

NO CURE BUT RELIEF.

R. Y. writes: I recently read that the curative power of trichlorethylene in angina pectoris was fully established. Is this true and how should the drug be used?

REPLY.

There is no cure for angina pectoris, but relief is possible under a proper type of management. The pain [angina] is a symptom and means that some disease is present in the blood vessels of the heart or possibly in the heart itself. Trichlorethylene is really an anesthetic and all that it can possibly do is to help relieve the paroxysm of pain. This can be accomplished better, in the opinion of most observers, by nitroglycerine or through the inhalation of the fumes of amyl nitrite. Trichlorethylene is of value, however, in relieving the pain of trigeminal neuralgia.

From Across the Sea

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING.—Archæologists, exploring in the Wei-hui district of Honan province, have discovered remnants and records of China's most ancient and cruel "sex" story. It had to do with the life and loves of an official known as Lu Wang, fourth son of the Ming emperor, Lung Ching, who ruled in Honan about 1580.

Despite the fact that Lu Wang has been labeled in Chinese history as a "cruel and inhuman scoundrel of the worst description who was so lustful that no woman was safe from his attentions," there is still standing in Wei-hui an 80 foot tower in the pagoda style which Lu Wang apparently constructed in his own honor. The tower is known as "Wang-Ching-Lou," meaning "looking anxiously toward the capital."

But chief interest attaches to another tower, somewhat smaller, located a short distance to the east of the Lu Wang monument. This tower carries the name "Kan Hua Lou" inscribed on a granite slab, which means "tower for looking at flowers." The word "flowers" was a euphemism for pretty women, for it was here that Lu Wang met the most attractive women of the district, who apparently were brought there by his servants.

On the top of this tower, on the east side, are three stone slabs set end to end, worn quite smooth, all placed in a slanting position. At the bottom is another slab with a sharp projecting point. According to the records if any woman brought to the tower declined Prince Lu's amorous intentions she was taken to the top of the tower, stripped naked, and then slid down the polished stone incline to be impaled on the projecting spike of the lower one.

Despite the fact Lu Wang is always referred to as an "inhuman monster" who held his position as governor purely because of his close relationship to the throne, his tomb on Phoenix hill some seven miles west of Wei-hui is the only imperial tomb in this area which has not been looted.

The approach to the tomb is between two rows of stone men and animals of gigantic size, while in front of the tomb are ten monoliths, one of which records the names of famous personages who performed sacrifices there. The remaining nine monoliths are in honor of the empress, his sons, concubines and other members of the family. All of the graves in the vicinity were rifled by rebels in 1643, excepting that of Lu Wang.

The district about Wei-hui, which is located on the Peiping-Hankow railway a short distance north of the Yellow river, is rich in monuments and places of historic associations. About three miles west of the town is a small hamlet called Kung-Tzu-Chi-Cheng-Chu, which derived its name from the fact that Confucius once visited there and played on a musical instrument made of stone. The area recently was explored by A. C. Arlington, British resident of Peiping.

COLLECTION OF DEBT.

Chicago, March 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Mr. A, who has a two story frame house, is a widower and the father of three children, all of age. Mr. A borrowed $225 from Mr. B, giving Mr. B a judgment note with his signature. Two years later Mr. A died, leaving no will. Mr. B immediately after the death of A [1] employed an attorney to confess judgment or take a lien on the property. The children of A promised to pay B immediately after they sold the property. 2. Within the following two years after A's death the children obtained clear title and sold the property. It happens that the children of A and the attorney were good friends and much to the surprise of B [3] the judgment note was not entered or confessed. 4. The attorney claims he gave the judgment note to his law partner to file and perhaps it was lost in transit. 5. Can the children be compelled to pay the amount of the note? 6. Do you think the attorney is liable for his error [7], and do you think it is advisable to sue this attorney? 8. Do you think the attorney's partner is liable? 9. Would B have to pay court costs or would the courts demand that the opposing party pay? 10. Please advise what procedure to follow. J. B.

1. The judgment would be a lien for only one year unless execution was issued. You do not state what steps have been taken.

2. This makes it seem probable that execution was not issued.

3. We could advise to better advantage if you could definitly state what was done.

4. Your chances of recovering damages against the attorney would seem good enough to warant going over your facts in a personal interview with another attorney.

5. They are not personally liable. The question whether the assets of the deceased can be subjected to the claim depends on whether seven years have gone by.

6. Yes.

7. See preceding answers.

8. He was under no contract relation with you.

9. In general, the plaintif is required to advance the costs, but they are ultimately assessed against the losing party.

10. Go over your facts in a personal interview with an attorney.

TERMS OF WILL.

Chicago, March 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A will, drawn in Wisconsin, gives the entire estate income to the widow during her lifetime. Then a son, a daughter, and grandchildren—children of the son—are given income from trust funds. The income from the trust for the daughter to go to her during her lifetime. 1. If she, having no children, predeceases her husband, what is the status of the husband during the year he may outlive her? 2. Is there in Wisconsin a law giving the right of "curtesy" whereby, in the event the husband outlives the wife, the trust and trust income continues during his life beyond hers, [3] or must it be specifically stated in the will that the husband and wife hold the trust and its provisions jointly—during the lifetime of both? 4. Is it necessary to specifically express in the will the husband's tenure, if any, in some or all fractions of her share in trust should he outlive her? H. M. P.

1. If the will gives her only a life estate, then obviously nothing accrues to the husband after her death. He would be limited to what was hers at the time of her death.

2. Your question is one of construction of the will rather than of "curtesy."

3. In general, the wording of the will would control.

4. See preceding answers.

A DIRTY JAIL.

Chicago, March 24.—Last Friday I was arrested for speeding at about 4 o'clock in the morning and taken to the Lincoln park station. I did not have enough money to cover the bond, and because I did not care to disturb any one at that hour I chose to remain in the station until a more decent hour. I was taken to the Hudson avenue station by the officer who made the arrest. There I was turned over to the jailer and was locked in a cell. It was the condition of that cell that I wish to bring to your attention and to the attention of the people of this city. It was small, dark, and was equipped with a hard board bench which was some two feet from the only other furnishing in the cell—a filthy open toilet with no trap to keep the odors from backing up.

There I spent the remainder of the night, the helpless victim of a ravenous and relentless horde of insects. Every exposed portion of my body was covered with disgusting and inflamed bites the next day when I finally got in touch with some one to bail me out. Everything I had on had to be sent to the cleaners, and my skin was in such a condition that I had to consult a specialist for treatment.

The next day I was given a stiff but fair and deserved fine for speeding by Judge Gutknecht, who is doing a splendid job in the Trafic court. I admit the offense willingly, but was it just cause for such treatment? I was not unruly. I did not argue. I followed the officer without force being necessary; yet merely because I made what seems to be a reasonable request—that I be permitted to wait until morning instead of getting any one out of bed to put up the bond—I was locked up in that foul hole instead of being allowed to sit and wait in some decent place.

I am writing to you because I believe such disgraceful treatment should be called to attention of the public and of the proper authorities. I do not blame the officers, who were courteous enough, and apparently only doing their duty, but either the cells should be kept clean or some other place should be provided for the detention of decent people when there is no reasonable or just reason for locking them up like criminals who might attempt some wild escape.

Chicago, March 22.—Why, O, why are there no men in the world like Pat Ryan? What a paragon of masculinity! If your correspondent, Ed Fahrenkrug, has by now learned the location of that Utopian island on which Pat runs into Burma, won't he please hasten there and do his best to alienate her affections so that I could take her place?

AMOROUSLY INCLINED.

Chicago, March 22.—Yes, do tell us the name of the island on which Pat, in "Terry and the Pirates," has run into the beautiful blonde. I'm not a blonde, but I have large, dark brown, dreamy eyes, and am a perfect 36. My few weeks' vacation is coming soon and I wouldn't mind visiting that island if I were to meet a handsome man like Pat there.

USELESS DUPLICATIONS.

Chicago, Ill., March 21.—I was greatly interested in the editorial, "Useless Duplications," appearing in today's issue, principally because of the inaccuracies it contains, which ordinarily do not appear in your paper.

Although it possibly is true that only 5 per cent of the communities in the United States are served by more than one railway, those communities making up the 5 per cent probably contribute at least 75 per cent of the population.

Statistics do not confirm the statement that the combined service of the railroads between important commercial centers is in excess of the demand; as a matter of fact, the so-called "duplicated" train service is the best-paying service in the country. Those trains can, of course, carry more passengers, but, generally speaking, all of the trains between the larger commercial centers [and that is where duplication of service is alleged to exist] are well patronized. Leaving time of trains is based on experience of many years. Persons using trains via one route have the same desires as persons traveling via another route. Mail is involved. Trafic to and from intermediate territory is an important factor; passengers leaving trains at intermediate local points desire to reach their destinations at times corresponding with those available to passengers traveling to local points on parallel lines. Were conditions different and had experience demonstrated that different leaving times would secure greater trafic and would serve the public to a greater extent the railroads would have been the first to rearrange their schedules.

It cannot rightfully be claimed that the production of fast streamlined trains, air conditioning, and recent fare reductions should be credited to the airplane, the private automobile, and the motor bus. Any one familiar with progress of the railroads knows that, since they first began operating, the railroads have been in the forefront in looking for means of improvement in the way of equipment, motive power, safety, and comfort. As great—if not greater—strides have been made in perfecting railroad operation and equipment as in any of the other transportation agencies to which the editorial makes reference. Consolidation of systems would greatly retard, if not stop entirely, that progress. It would be of no assistance to any one. It would be detrimental to the interests of the public, labor, and stockholders.

The editorial goes on to say that most industries offer a wide variation in products to appeal to individual tastes, while the situation is different in railway transportation. That statement indicates lack of knowledge of what the railways have to offer in the way of classes of transportation and fares to meet every pocketbook and every condition—including coach fares, tourist car fares, first class fares, ordinary coach travel, de luxe coach travel, parlor car travel, standard and tourist sleeping car travel, and excursion fares of all kinds to all places and in all seasons. In sleeping cars there is a wide variety of accommodations, ranging from the ordinary berth to the drawing room, with intermediate accommodations such as single occupancy sections, single and double bedrooms, and compartments—the range of price enabling the individual to spend much or little, depending upon his or her comfort or necessity.

H. W. SIDDALL.

NOTHING LEARNED.

Tuscola, Ill., March 21.—I have always voted for Len Small, but it is surely deplorable that he should again come out for governor. Apparently politicians learn nothing by defeat. Women and young people who are interested in their homes and the welfare of their communities are going to be unable to vote for him because of local situations. The same old gang are lining up again for ex-Gov. Small, men of questional character whom we do not want to control our local policies. M. J. S.

REPORTS A CLEW TO NEW HORMONE VITAL TO BABIES

Scientist Seeks a Third Adrenal Substance.

Washington, D. C., March 26.—(AP)—A clue to a new hormone, absence of which may indirectly cause the death of young children, was reported today to the American Physiological society by Dr. H. Selye of McGill university at Montreal.

This potent and mysterious chemical substance, Dr. Selye said, appears to control the involution, o. decrease in size, of the thymus gland under the breastbone, which is large in infants but soon shrivels up.

Failure of the gland to decrease in size, with a resulting pressure on the windpipe, has been held accountable by physicians for many sudden deaths in young children.

Third Adrenal Substance.

The substance, which is secreted by the adrenal glands located just over the kidneys, is distinct in action from the two known hormones of these glands—adrenalin and cortin.

In experimenting with young rats, the Montreal physiologist found that when the adrenal glands are removed the thymus gland did not decrease in size at the normal rate and the condition was not corrected by the administration of either adrenalin or cortin. He concluded that a third hormone, undiscovered in previous experimental work, is active in carrying on normal development of children.

Link Pituitary and Diabetes.

Evdence that the pituitary gland at the base of the brain may have as much to do with diabetes as the secretion of insulin by the pancreas was presented to the society by S. Soskin, I. A. Mirsky, L. M. Zimmerman, and R. C. Heller of the University of Chicago.

Recent experiments have shown, they declared, that an animal with diabetes could be kept alive for months without administration of insulin if the pituitary gland were removed.

They concluded that the disease may be due to an undersecretion of insulin or to an oversecretion of hormones from the pituitary and recommended that physicans treating it determine the influence of the pituitary as well as measure the sugar content of the blood.

75 OF THE WORLD'S LEADING SCHOLARS TO GATHER AT HARVARD

Cambridge, Mass., March 26.—[Special.]—Seventy-five of the world's outstanding scientists and scholars, among them fourteen Nobel prize winners, will meet here for the Harvard tercentenary conference of arts and sciences on Aug. 31, Jerome D. The conference of arts and sciences, one of the leading events in connection with Harvard's tercentenar. celebration, it was said, will bring the most distinguished gathering of learned men ever held in this country. Europe will be repre-

Two Soloists Win Divorces Between Acts at Theater

Two soloists on the bill at a loop theater with Jan Garber and his orchestra appeared before Judge Joseph Sabath in Superior court yesterday during an intermission of their act and got divorces. Mrs. Gertrude McGee Pierce, 22 years old, who sings under the name of Judy Randall, was granted a divorce from Benson Pierce on a charge of desertion. The court also awarded a divorce to Lee H. Bennett, 24 years old, who testified that his wife, Louise Keys, deserted him a year ago. Bennett and Mrs. Pierce reside in the Southmoor hotel, 6646 Stony Islond avenue.

ALDERMEN URGE CITIZENS TO SIGN TIME PETITIONS

Promise Aid in Getting Question on Ballot.

The judiciary committee of the city council recommended unanimously yesterday that the citizens of Chicago sign petitions now being circulated by the Chicago Federation of Labor to place the eastern time question on the ballot in the November election. The action was taken at a meeting of the committee with representatives of labor and others interested in the time question.

Members of the committee declared that they will help the federation in the circulation of the petitions. John Walker, chairman of the labor federation's time committee, said that 50,000 signatures have been received at the federation offices. The petitions have been in circulation since before March 1. Walker estimated that 200,000 have signed petitions now out. At least 375,000 signatures will be needed to put the matter on the ballot.

Ordinance's History Told.

At the meeting yesterday Ald. James J. McDermott [14th], chairman of the judiciary committee, recited the history of the eastern time ordinance, which was passed by the city council last Nov. 4 and became effective on March 1. Most objections to the ordinance were not raised until shortly before the effective date, he said.

"When the ordinance was passed the council indicated that the proper way to submit it in referendum was through the circulation of petitions," McDermott said. "Any other procedure is not legal. The council still holds that position."

The committee then voted approval of the petitions, and recommended that the council take similar action.

Wants Three Questions.

The labor petition asks that three questions be submitted to the voters: 1. Shall Chicago have eastern standard time [one hour faster than central time] throughout the year? 2. Shall Chicago have central standard time throughout the year? 3. Shall Chicago have central standard time, with daylight saving time from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in September?

There was a possibility indicated yesterday that the petitions may have to bear 411,000 instead of 375,000 names since they will not be filed until 60 days before the November election. The law says that the petitions must bear signatures of 25 per cent of the registered voters at the last general election. Since registrations for the April elections have increased to 1,644,198, this may also increase the petition requirements.

Young Mother Improved After Blood Transfusion

The condition of Mrs. Josephine Crockett, 18 years old, 1151 Belmont avenue, who late Wednesday night was given a transfusion of blood contributed by Policeman McGarry Fergus of Sheffield avenue station, was reported much improved at Columbus Memorial hospital yesterday. Mrs. Crockett gave birth to an 8½ pound son Wednesday and a transfusion was ordered to save her life. Fifteen policemen volunteered as blood donors and Fergus was chosen.

Solicitor of Advertising Is Seized as Swindler

James Gallagher, 62 years old, 5506 Klenwood avenue, was arrested yesterday by Eugene J. O'Connor, chief investigator of the blue sky laws division of the state's attorney's office. Gallagher was charged with swindling business men of sums from $35 to $50 for advertisments in a nonexistent municipal directory.

Forgotten Man Wins Point, but Jail Doors Stay Shut

Raymond E. Procnnow, known as the "forgotten man" of the county jail, where he has served nearly three years for contempt, won a point in his fight for freedom in the Illinois Appellate court yesterday, but learned that the ruling gives him small hope of regaining his liberty.

Prochnow, a former La Salle street broker, was sent to jail when he failed to produce $35,000 in securities which Judge Thomas Taylor, then sitting in the Circuit court, ruled he owed the estate of Attorney William Garnett, who died in 1930. The judge held that Prochnow's failure to produce the funds constituted contempt of court.

High Court Blocks Release.

In a series of appeals Prochnow attempted to reverse this ruling. Ultimately the Illinois Supreme court sustained Judge Taylor on every point. It held that Prochnow should be imprisoned until he turned the missing funds over to the Circuit court. Judge Taylor since has retired from the bench.

Prochnow sought to reopen his case, filing a new petition in the Circuit court setting out that he was penniless and a bankrupt. He asserted he was being held in prison for debt, contrary to law, and stated that he would be unable to pay the judgment against him until he was released to earn the money.

This petition was presented before Judge John F. Cummings of Kewanee, sitting in the Cook County Circuit court. The judge ruled that he had no jurisdiction to reopen hearings on the case.

It was upon this point that Prochnow yesterday was victorious. The appellate judges, Oscar Hebel, Denis E. Sullivan and Ross E. Hall, held that the Circuit court never had lost jurisdiction in the case, and consequently had the right to make any disposition deemed appropriate.

But after remanding the case to the lower court on this ground, the judges added other paragraphs indicating that Prochnow's plea that he is bankrupt is not reason enough for his release under the circumstances.

Mrs. Mabel Marie Prochnow, wife of the imprisoned broker, was in the 20th floor courtroom of the Appellate court at Michigan avenue and Washington street when the decision was announced.

"I do so hope this really means he can get out of jail," said Mrs. Prochnow who was attractively dressed. She has been supporting herself and her two children by operating a notions store at 5158 Oakdale avenue.

Appeal May Block Hope.

Appellate court attachés, however, said that at least 30 days must pass before the court mandate returning the case to the Circuit court may be issued. Meanwhile Attorney Thomas G. Vent, representing Mrs. William M. Wilson, daughter of Attorney Garnett and executrix of his estate, may appeal the finding to the state Supreme court.

"The opinion, as I see it, doesn't give a ray of hope to Prochnow," said Attorney Vent. "He doesn't deserve it. He's been found guilty by many courts; there should be no sympathy for him. We certainly will try to keep him in jail."

CRIMINAL COURT.

Alex Stanulis, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Edward Guerra, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary, by Judge Peter Schwaba.

Abigail Traxler, murder by abortion, sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary by Judge John C. Lewe.

Mrs. Abigail Traxler, 55 years old, a former physician, was sentenced yesterday by Judge John C. Lewe in Criminal court to serve twenty-five years in the penitentiary for murder by abortion. Judge Lewe acted in accordance with the verdict of a jury which two weeks ago found Mrs. Traxler guilty.

Before imposing sentence the judge denied a motion for a new trial, and the woman announced she would appeal the case. She was convicted of the murder of Miss Adeline Bulanski, 25 years old, 1617 South 50th court, Cicero, who died Nov. 7, 1935. A second murder indictment is pending against Mrs. Traxler as a result of the death of Mrs. Emily Wick, 26 years old, 3446 South 50th avenue, Cicero.

Notified that Mrs. Traxler planned an appeal, Assistant State's Attorney Benjamin Nelson said he would request her immediate trial on the Wick indictment. Mrs. Traxler served a federal penitentiary sentence in 1934 for violation of the Harrison anti-narcotics act.

WIDOW MARRIES AIR MAIL SUITOR AT FIRST SIGHT

John S. Ericson, 45 years old, 3333 North Marshfield avenue, and Mrs. Mildred Olson, 41 years old, of Pasadena, Cal., a couple of "pen friends," met each other for the first time at Chicago airport yesterday and ten minutes later were wed. The ceremony climaxed what they described as a three months' correspondence courtship by air mail.

"I fell in love with his picture," explained the blushing bride, a trim widow who flew here aboard a Transcontinental and Western Air liner from Los Angeles. "I saw the picture at the home of a mutual friend and I could see instantly that he was a nice man."

The wedding had not been planned for yesterday, the bride confessed, but she couldn't say no when Ericson met her with his uncle, the Rev. Albin Johnson, and a license.

Loses $30 and Topcoat; Saves $970 from Bandits

Two robbers assaulted Angus Wood, 7115 Colfax avenue, an employé of the A. B. Dick company, 720 Jackson boulevard, in front of the company's office yesterday and took his topcoat and $30. Wood, however, fought the pair so vigorously that he saved $970 more which he had just drawn from a bank. The money was in a pocket of the topcoat. In the struggle it fell to the sidewalk, and Wood picked it up after the bandits fled.

FIND CLEW TO CAR USED BY SLAYERS OF VICE ADMIRAL

DeValera Regime Pledges Full Punishment.

BY HUGH CURRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 26.—The De Valera government in the dail eireann today expressed a determination to hunt out and punish the murderers of Vice Admiral Henry Boyle Somerville, who was slain Monday night in his lonely Point House residence, near Castletownsend, County Cork. A card on his body read: "This is a warning to all British recruiting agents."

Civic guards, police, and Dublin detectives scouring the countryside found one new clew today. Traces of the murderers' car were discovered in County Kerry, and brought all searchers immediately to the scene.

The state pathologist today examined the body of the murdered admiral, while police took possession of the lower portion of the house and examined the admiral's correspondence. Much of it related to recruits recommended to the British army and navy by Somerville.

Dublin Chief in Charge.

Chief of Detectives Woods, from Dublin, took charge of the investigation. Casts of various pieces of evidence were taken and finger prints photographed. Mrs. Somerville, a pathetic white haired figure, remained in an upper room and from a window watched the arrival of a coffin.

The inquest will be held tomorrow and the funeral later. The admiral was a descendant of Sir Charles Kendal Bushe who in 1800 as a member of the Irish parliament of that time gained the title, "the Incorruptible Irishman," because he refused to be bribed by Lord Castlereagh to vote for union with England. Many members of that parliament accepted bribes or titles to vote for the union.

In the dail here Ex-President William T. Cosgrave asked if the government had any statement to make concerning the murder of the admiral. Acting Minister of Justice P. J. Boland, said it would be forthcoming on completion of police investigation. He expressed the government's sympathy for relatives of the victim "of this cowardly crime," and the determination of the government to take every possible step to bring those responsible to justice.

To Military Tribunal.

Opposition parties in the dail are greatly impressed by the government's firm attitude, particularly that it intends to bring persons involved before the military tribunal for trial. This is important because juries in some cases of this kind have failed to convict.

The murder of Somerville is widely denounced as a foul and cold blooded crime which has nothing to do with internal politics. Other leading members of his community had given letters of character to young men seeking service in the British army and navy.

U. S. DEMANDS LEVY ON '34 INCOME PAID TO N. Y. PARK HEAD

New York, March 26.—[Special.]—Robert Moses, who has had disputes with Secretary of the Interior Ickes almost constantly since Moses became head of the Triborough Bridge authority, today received notice the federal government proposes to levy an income tax upon his $10,000 salary as city commissioner of parks.

The notice applied only to Moses' 1934 salary. It said that although the salary came from the city, and ordinarily would be exempt, it was being taxed because park construction and maintenance are not necessary functions of city government.

Moses plans to protest the assessment to the United States Supreme court, if necessary. This is believed to be the first time the federal government has attempted to tax the salary of a park official paid by a state or one of its subdivisions.

WPA CAMPS SHUT DOWN; WORKERS ON NEW U. S. JOBS

Maj. Arthur R. Lord, assistant state administrator of the Works Progress administration, yesterday announced the closing of two WPA work camps and the absorption of most of their occupants by a Resettlement administration project. The camps closed are near Kilbourne and Chandlerville in Mason county.

About 250 of the 438 men in the camps are being moved to the Pere Marquette recreational project, for which the Resettlement administration has purchased 3,000 acres of land in Jersey county, just below the meeting place of the Illinois and Mississippi rivers. The other workers will be shifted to the remaining five work camps in the state.

The former WPA workers are being put to work at reforestation, road building and grading, and the construction of shelter buildings, cabins, and playgrounds. Scheduled for completion this autumn, the project will be consolidated with the adjoining state park.

HELD FOR WOMAN'S DEATH.

Cleveland Brown, colored, 45 years old, 3508 South State street, was held to the grand jury yesterday on a charge of manslaughter by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Mrs. Mary Connell, colored, 3508 South Dearborn street. Brown admitted striking the woman with an iron bar.

HUNT FOUR MEN AND PLANE LOST AT PHOENIX, ARIZ.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 26. — (AP) — More than a dozen planes flew over southern Arizona today seeking a cabin ship containing four Phoenix business men which has been missing since it left Douglas last night. Occupants were: Harold A. Marks, 31, attorney and a national executive of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce; John Powles, 35, secretary of the Phoenix Junior Chamber of Commerce; Paul Swasey, 34, head of a drug company, and Paul G. Odneal, pilot.

HERE ARE THE REAL FACTS ABOUT BRAN

Brought Out by Tests with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Some years ago, there was considerable difference of opinion regarding the use of bran. So to discover the actual facts of the case, the Kellogg Company asked for a series of laboratory tests at leading universities.

Experimental studies on a group of healthy women showed that the continued use of bran was thoroughly satisfactory. Unlike cathartics, it did not lose its effect.

Other independent tests on men indicated that, with certain people, the "bulk" in bran was more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables.

Laboratory analysis proved that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplied vitamin B and iron as well as plenty of bulk. This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is gentle in action. It absorbs a great deal of moisture, and cleanses the intestinal tract.

ALL-BRAN corrects constipation due to insufficient "bulk." It is the natural way—far better than using pills and tablets.

Serve as a cereal—or use in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Men Against the Floods

ELECTRIC SERVICE SAVED BY INTERCONNECTIONS

During the days of national flood disaster even the best of electric service failed to stand up at times against wild rivers, sleet, and snow.

There were interruptions of varying seriousness in cities served by companies of the Associated System. But these breaks were the more quickly repaired because the System was able through centralized management to mobilize men and equipment at danger points, and to draw upon distant electric stations for power to supply communities whose own power plants had failed. In some cases these interconnections prevented even the slightest general interruption in service.

Johnstown, Pa. Water engulfed the power plant, marooning employees. But Johnstown was without electric light for only a few hours. The Johnstown system was tied in with other Associated System stations at Deep Creek, Md., and at Piney, Erie, and Altoona, Pa., so that current was restored to the residential section of the city as early as Wednesday night, the flood having been most severe during that day.

Crews of linemen, central station men, service men, meter repair men, were rushed to Johnstown from Erie, Reading, York, Lebanon. Three trucks with trailers and 28 pumps were sent from Long Island to help pump out cellars and prevent the spread of disease. The unit of the Associated System which serves Johnstown is the Pennsylvania Electric Company.

Binghamton, N. Y. Raging waters of the Susquehanna flooded the Westover Plant, main source of power for the Binghamton area, and put it completely out of commission. Just before the waters crept up to the boilers, however, the Binghamton electric system was tied in with Associated plants at Elmira and at Holland, N. J., 110 miles away, and with lines of the Niagara Hudson System in the Syracuse area. So, while Binghamton was lashed with the worst flood in its history, its electric lights kept burning. Company power pumped drinking water into the city whose own supply was dangerously low. Binghamton is served by the New York State Electric & Gas Corporation of the Associated System.

Alexandria, Va. Flood waters poured into the power plant of the Virginia Public Service Company, threatening the light and power of Alexandria. Here again interconnection saved the electric service when the company tied in with its plant 150 miles away at Bremo Bluff.

These stories were repeated in other communities in New York, Pennsylvania, New England, the South, and wherever the service of the Associated System's 1,700,000 customers was threatened.

Heroism of Employees

The heroism of employees is still another story—employees to whom extraordinary public service is all in the day's work. Crews stuck by their plants and substations till all hope had to be abandoned; a foreman risked his life to restore service to a Pennsylvania city; employees shoveled all night to repair a leaking dam; other utility workers used boats, life lines, to rescue families. Hundreds worked till they were "out on their feet."

Centralized Management

It took a great national disaster to dramatize the advantages of a strong, interconnected utility system. The Associated System is such a group, and through its centralized management was able to send its resources of power and men to communities in danger, and to save their citizens and its customers from greater distress.

SPANISH REGIME EJECTS 60,000 FARM SQUATTERS

Balks Radical Move to Grab Big Estates.

BADAJOZ, Spain, March 26.—(AP)—The Spanish government took swift action tonight to eject 60,000 squatters who took over large farmlands in this area, impatient at the government's delay in the program of breaking up big estates. Orders were sent to the governor of Badajoz to use force if necessary to oust the farm laborers.

Miguel Granados, governor of Badajoz, reported late tonight all the seized farms had been abandoned by workers in accordance with the government's request and that there were no disorders.

The laborers left after registering their claims as the new proprietors. They were told the unauthorized seizing of land would not be tolerated by the government but that the estates would be divided legally later.

Guard Against New Seizures.

The estates chiefly concerned averaged 2,500 acres in size. They were mostly owned by persons who live in Madrid and are operated by local managers, who offered no resistance to the seizures. Several estates were owned by titled persons, including Duke Fernan Nunez, Conde De La Puebal, and Conde De La Oliva.

The farmlands had been taken over near most of the 263 villages of this southwestern province. Apparently careful preparations had been made for the step and the workers, most of whom are Socialists and communists, banded into the National Association of Land Workers, marched from their villages to the big estates early today.

Follow Pre-arranged Lists.

Then they divided the land, following lists already made up.

A number of isolated cases of land seizure have been reported following the Left victory in the Feb. 16 elections, but today's was the first such large concerted movement.

The central government at Madrid has opposed unauthorized confiscations, but is pushing steps toward a new law, supplementing a program adopted in 1932, to bring about an equitable and efficient division of the large estates.

2 Killed in Political Clashes.

MADRID, March 26.—(AP)—Fresh outbursts of political violence brought death to two persons in Spain tonight. Fascists and communists clashed at Malagon in the province of Ciudadreal, leaving one killed and eight wounded. The other fatality occurred at Coruna, where a communist was shot during a political argument with rightists. A bomb wrecked the headquarters of the Catholic Youths association at Leon.

Shah Lauds Persian Women for Change to Modern Dress

BY H. BASIL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TEHERAN, Iran, Persia, March 26.—King Riza Khan Pahlevi of Iran, whose campaign to convert Iranian women to occidental modes of dress is being aided by his queen and their daughters, told girl college graduates at commencement exercises that women in this country have at last risen to claim their rights.

In former days, he said, when no woman would appear in public without the traditional veil and black shroud, women could not display, let alone put to work, their natural abilities for the benefit of the nation.

"They could not," he said, "even claim their rights in society."

The king congratulated the young women, some of whom were graduates in medicine, midwifery, and pedagogy, and declared he is proud that they are beginning to demand an honored station. Five hundred women, adorned in the latest Paris styles, attended the commencement, which was held for boy and girl graduates of several colleges.

Supplied by Japan.

Like the queen and princesses, the wives and daughters of governors of the cities and large towns are setting an example by wearing western clothes. The demand for women's hats is great and thousands arrive each week from foreign countries, especially Japan.

The newspapers are aiding the modernization campaign by publishing pictures of foreign women in public life. Ruth Bryan Owen's picture was published among others, and not only many women, but men too, were greatly surprised to learn a woman is the United States minister to Copenhagen.

Foreign manufacturers are profiting by the sales of sewing machines as women undertake to cut and sew their own new garments. Previously a woman was so completely covered by her shroud she wore whatever she cared to underneath.

Halted By Police.

There are still, of course, some dissenters who hestitate to discard traditional garb. For some time women in shrouds and veils have been barred from walking about the streets and from visiting shops. Recently a policeman met three violators of this rule, and ordered them to return home. One woman slapped him and the other two beat him with their shoes until he whistled for assistance. Reënforcements appeared, and the women were marched to the nearest police station. They face a fine and imprisonment.

Even wives of fanatical priests have had to adopt western dress. A priest with his large white turban and loose robes and peculiar slippers seen in a gathering with his wife—he can be in public with only one of his wives at a time—who is dressed in stylish occidental clothes is an anomalous sight.

Many priests, especially those now employed by the government as registrars of marriages, births, and transfers of land, have donned western trousers, coat, and hat. The priests have been severely hit by the king's westernization. Their former monopoly of notarial fees, a source of great wealth, has been abolished.

USE OF SPANISH IN PORTO RICAN SCHOOLS O.K.'D

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, March 26.—Stressing the teaching of Spanish in public school elementary grades and using the vernacular as a medium of instruction instead of English is approved by Dr. William S. Gray, University of Chicago educational expert, brought here by the department of education to make a study of the program of instruction introduced this year.

Commissioner Padin was severely criticized when he announced English would be dropped in the elementary grades except as a special subject but would be used as the medium of instruction in secondary schools.

After several weeks of study Dr. Gray found elementary pupils expressed themselves spontaneously in Spanish while they spoke with great hesitancy in English. With 75 per cent of the children in school for only three years, Dr. Gray said they would learn more in the vernacular.

Wife of U.S. Navy Delegate Sails Home with Black Eye

LONDON, March 26.—(AP)—Mrs. William H. Standley, wife of Admiral Standley, American delegate to the naval conference, started homeward tonight with a black eye and an injured cheekbone. A few hours before the boat train for Southampton pulled out, Mrs. Standley fell down the steps of the admiralty as she and her husband made a farewell call to British officials. She slipped on the outside steps which were wet from rain.

Mexican Troops Find Ten Rebels Asleep; Kill Three

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, March 26.—(AP)—Federal troops surprised a group of ten rebels sleeping in a camp near Agua Escondida, Jalisco, today and killed three of them.

DETECTIVE TRAPS FAKE POLICEMAN IN EXTORT PLOT

Samuel Wilens, 39 years old, 5412 Washington boulevard, alleged to have attempted to extort money from a filling station owner by representing himself as a policeman, was arrested yesterday by Detective John O'Malley of the Hudson avenue station. The intended victim, Otto Klein, 4719 North Kildare avenue, arranged to meet Wilens, supposedly to pay $500 that was demanded, and notified the police. Klein said that Wilens told him he would be arrested unless he paid. J. Elmer Cable, 74 years old, a retired school teacher, was swindled of $6,000 through a similar threat by fake policemen last August.

Mayor Asks Flag Display on April 6 for Army Day

Mayor Kelly yesterday issued a proclamation requesting that Chicagoans observe Army day, April 6, by displaying the American flag and patriotic decorations. Secretary of War George H. Dern has accepted the invitation of the Chicago Army Day committee to deliver an address. There will be a parade.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Frank Ridgway

The Story of Beef.

March 26, 1936.

NO longer do men of The Tribune Experimental Farms think of the hundreds of beef steers, hogs, and sheep in the feed lots and pastures as hoof and bone and hide and hair. Studying the lingo of the barnyard has become a fascinating pastime for these men who lately have become budding philologists. They have become curious about such household words as steak, sirloin, porterhouse, chuck, haunch and hock, sausage, bacon, ham, chop, and leg o' lamb.

They find that the English gave us such names as steak, chuck, hock, and ham. The French supplied such names and terms as sausage [saucisse], bacon, haunch, and leg o' lamb.

Steak, authorities say, was so named because it was roasted on a stick—a wooden peg used to hold the meat near the fire while it was being cooked.

Beefsteak a la Jupiter.

A fable has been handed down regarding the origin of beefsteak. Lucius Plaucus, a Roman of rank, was ordered by the Emperor Trajan for some offense to act as one of the menial sacrificers to Jupiter. He resisted, but was dragged to the alter. There the fragments of the victim lay on the fire; and the unfortunte senator was forcibly compelled to turn them. In the process of roasting, one of the slices slipped off the coals and was caught by Plaucus as it fell.

It burned his fingers and he instinctively thrust them into his mouth. Meat authorities say that in that moment he made the grand discovery that the taste of a slice of beef thus carbonized was infinitely superior to any other cooking. After that Plaucus went through the "sacrifice" with due regularity and swallowed every slice, deluding Trajan and defrauding Jupiter. But the discovery could not be concealed. The priests of Jupiter soon adopted the practice.

Knighting of "Sir Loin."

Tradition has it that King James I. of England gave us the name sirloin more than 300 years ago. In 1611 his majesty stopped one night at Houghton Tower, near Preston, Lancastershire, England. Cooks at the Houghton Tower estate had prepared for the king the choicest bits of food they could find in the kitchen. The table was loaded and at one end sat a platter of beef loin. The king was so pleased that he called for a sword and knighted the loin, dubbing it "Sir Loin." Ever since, the piece of beef just back of the porterhouse has been known as sirloin.

The name porterhouse originated in the United States. This choice cut of beef—the smaller end of the loin—was so named because it was made popular by the proprietor of a former porter house in New York City.

PRICES ON MOST FOODS SHOWING LITTLE CHANGE

Some Meats and Greens Selling for Less.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Merchants who handle staples, fresh fruits and vegetables, and meats have changed their retail prices on comparatively few items this week. An unusually small number of foods have been marked up. No radical changes will be found by shoppers today and tomorrow in the prices of foods marked down.

A few butcher shops have reduced their prices on leg o' lamb, some coming down as much as 2 cents a pound. Several stores are featuring fresh pork shoulders at reasonable prices. The lower grades of rib roast of beef and the higher grades of round steak have been reduced a few cents a pound in some shops. This is offset to some extent by slight advances in the prices of pork loin roasts and the lower grades of sirloin steaks.

Prices on Fish Down.

Halibut prices have been shaved off about 2 cents in some stores, while perch has advanced 6 cents a pound and herring 2 cents a pound in many shops.

Lard, butter, head lettuce, carrots, dry onions, eating apples, and spinach are among foods that are slightly less than they were last week in several stores.

Eggs top the short list of foods raised in prices; they will be up 2 to 4 cents a dozen in some stores today and tomorrow as compared to last week's prices. A few stores are selling eggs at 1 to 2 cents a dozen less than a week ago. Stores generally have raised their prices on green beans and green peas.

Coffee Both Up and Down.

Retailers who offered their lower grades of coffee at sales prices last week have marked them up again. Other stores, however, are placing coffee on their bargain counters for the benefit of Friday and Saturday shoppers.

There is a mixture of ups and downs in the prices of live stock and dressed meats in Packingtown this week. Dressed veal is about $1 a hundred higher and dressed lamb is approximately 50 cents a hundred pounds more than last week. Most mutton is 50 cents a hundredweight higher. The first dressed spring lamb of the season sold yesterday at from $20 to $25 a hundred pounds, with fed lamb carcasses ranging from $15 to $18 a hundred.

The better grades of dressed beef from yearlings and hefers are 50 cents a hundred pounds off, while lower grades are about the same. Dressed pork prices are generally steady. A premium of $1 a hundred is being paid for light loins.

Farmers Get More.

Farmers are being paid 15 to 25 cents a hundredweight more for heavy hogs over 250 pounds. Hogs went up as high as $11 a hundred this week. Federal reporters say lambs are steady to 15 cents a hundred pounds lower than last week. Better grades of fed steers and yearlings are off about 25 cents a hundred. Packers and feeders are competing for lower grade steers that may be slaughtered immediately or taken out to feed lots. This has raised their value about 25 cents a hundred this week.

Wholesale prices of fruits and vegetables showed more changes during the week than the prices in the retail stores. Green beans went up sharply over last week's prices and many shipments were of only fair quality.

Cabbage, celery, green peppers, and sweet potatoes are higher on the wholesale market than a week ago. New potatoes are up, due to light shipments from Florida, where digging was stopped temporarily by recent heavy rains. Old potatoes are selling at about the same prices as last week.

Spring Asparagus Coming In.

Wholesale prices on carrots, asparagus, and head lettuce have been lowered. Carlot shipments of the spring asparagus crop from California are now reaching the Chicago market. Prices are considered reasonable and the quality is good. The lettuce is coming from Arizona.

A few crates of Louisiana strawberries arrived here this week. Most receipts still are from Florida. Shipments of various kinds of fresh spring greens from southern gardens are increasing.

TRIBUNE RECIPES

SIMPLE FROZEN FRUIT SALAD

1 large apple
½ lb. marshmallows
1 banana
4 slices pineapple

Dice fruit and drain very well. Add it to one cup of cream which has been whipped and folded with half cup of mayonnaise. Pack in salt and ice, or freeze in electric refrigerator.

CURRIED FISH

2 lb. fresh cod, halibut, or other large fish
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
1 small onion, chopped
¼ cup chopped celery
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups liquid from simmered fish
½ to 1 teaspoon curry powder
Salt to taste
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Simmer the fish about ten minutes in a small quantity of water, in a shallow pan; then drain it, but save the liquor. Meanwhile, melt the fat and cook the green pepper, onion, and celery a few minutes; add the flour and the cooled fish liquid with water if necessary to bring the quantity up to two cups. Cook it for three or four minutes, add the seasonings, and stir the mixture constantly. Remove the skin and bones from the cooked fish before it is arranged on a hot platter with a border of fluffy rice. Pour the sauce over the fish and sprinkle the parsley on top.

APPLESAUCE REFRIGERATOR CAKE

1 cup applesauce
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon cornstarch
⅔ cup sugar
3 egg yolks
3 tablespoons lemon juice
3 egg whites

Make a custard of the first five ingredients. Add lemon juice and, when partly cool, fold in the beaten whites of the eggs. In a pan place a layer of crumbled vanilla wafers. Pour in a layer of the applesauce custard, on top of this arrange another layer of wafer crums, and so on, putting crums on top. Serve with whipped cream.

MEXICAN SALMON STUFFED ONIONS

6 large white onions
1 cup flaked pink salmon
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
1 slightly beaten egg

Boil the whole onions until almost tender. Remove the center. Mix the flaked salmon with the chopped centers, green pepper, butter, and season to taste. Fill the onion cups with this mixture. Dredge each stuffed onion with flour, dip in egg, and again in flour. Fry in deep fat [390 degrees F.] until golden brown and serve with hot tomato sauce.

CRANBERRY MUFFINS.

1 egg
¾ cup milk
2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons melted butter
1 cup cranberries
¼ cup sugar.

Beat the egg slightly and add the milk. Add the sifted dry ingredients to the liquid mixture. Fold the cranberries into the batter with the melted fat. Pour into greased muffin pans and bake in a moderately hot oven [400 degrees F.] for about 30 minutes, or until golden brown.

FROZEN PINEAPPLE AND DATE SALAD

3 ounces cream cheese [1 package]
¾ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
⅓ cup whipping cream
½ cup drained crushed pineapple
½ cup chopped dates

Cream the cheese with the mayonnaise, until smooth. Add the lemon juice and whipped cream. Mix in the pineapple and dates lightly and freeze.

DELICIOUS BUTTERSCOTCH ICEBOX PUDDING

For the custard, blend one and one-half cups medium brown sugar and two-thirds cup butter until soft and creamy, then stir in one cup of scalded milk and three well beaten egg yolks. Cook in a double boiler until thick, pour into a pan lined with slices of sponge cake, finely rolled vanilla wafers, or other cookies. Let stand overnight in the refrigerator.

DATE FILLING FOR COOKIES

1 cup finely chopped dates
⅓ cup chopped nut meats
Pinch of salt
⅔ cup orange marmalade

Mix all ingredients thoroughly, let stand one hour, then fill cookies. This is also a delicious sandwich filling.

BEET JUICE HEALTH COCKTAIL

2 cups beet juice [from canned beets]
2 cups ice water.
2 tablespoons bottled celery juice
2½ tablespoons bottled parsley juice
¼ teaspoon onion juice
1½ teaspoons lemon juice
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons sugar
Cayenne pepper

WHIPPED CREAM WAFFLES

1 cup whipping cream
⅔ cup flour
2 eggs, separated
Pinch of salt
4 tablespoons butter

Whip the cream, add beaten yolks and flour. Beat the egg whites stiff with the salt. Add melted butter to the cream and flour mixture and fold in the beaten egg whites. Bake in preheated waffle iron. Five waffles.

ICEBOX MEAT LOAF

2 cups cooked meat
⅓ cup mustard pickles
½ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons melted butter
2 tablespoons mustard sauce from pickles

Put through a meat grinder the meat and mustard pickles. Add remaining ingredients and blend thoroughly. Pack firmly into a wet mold, baking powder tin, or loaf pan. Cover tightly. Chill thoroughly. Serve cold, cut in slices, garnished with water-cress, mint, or parsley.

A NEW GARB FOR AN OLD FAVORITE, THE JELLY ROLL

And a Never Fail Recipe to Start.

Jelly roll has always been a great favorite, but somehow it's fallen into a rut. Always rolled with the same old type of filling, it's being taken much for granted. How about giving this old time dainty a new Easter garb chosen from one of many delicious filling possibilities.

JELLY ROLL.

¾ teaspoon double acting baking powder.
¼ teaspoon salt.
4 eggs.
¾ cup sugar.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
Filling.

Sift the flour once before measuring. Combine baking powder, salt and eggs in bowl. Place over hot water in another bowl and beat with clover egg beater, add sugar, sifting it in by degrees until mixture is thick and light colored. Remove from hot water. Fold in flour and vanilla. Turn into a flat baking pan which has been greased and lined with paper, and again greased. Bake in hot oven [400 degrees F.] 13 minutes. Quickly cut off crisp edges of cake. Turn out on cloth which has been covered with powdered sugar. Remove paper. Spread with filling and roll. Wrap in cloth and cool on rack.

CARAMEL NUT FILLING.

2-3 cup light brown sugar.
1 tablespoon butter.
2 tablespoons milk.
1-3 cup flour.
1⅓ cups milk.
2 egg yolks.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
½ cup chopped nut meats.

Blend together the sugar, butter, and milk, and cook slowly until of a waxy texture. Mix the flour with part of the milk to form a smooth paste and carefully stir into a mixture of the cooked brown sugar and remaining milk. Cook until thickened, add the slightly beaten egg yolks, cook for two minutes longer over a low heat, and cool. Before spreading on the warm roll cake, add the vanilla and nut meats.

COCONUT ORANGE FILLING.

3 tablespoons flour.
⅓ cup sugar.
¼ teaspoon salt.
1-3 cup orange juice.
2 tablespoons water.
1 egg.
2 tablespoons butter.
1 teaspoon grated orange rind.
¼ cup moist shredded coconut.

Blend together flour, sugar, salt, fruit juices and water and cook slowly until thickened. Add the slightly beaten egg, continue cooking gently for one minute, and add the butter, orange rind, and coconut. Cool and spread on hot cake.

MAKE THIS TEST

Amazing New Fine-Fabric Suds Forms No Scum At All!

You know what soap scum is—that sticky, unpleasant "ring around the washbasin." But do you know that this soap scum remains in every one of your garments—that however much you rinse you can never get it all out?

Now Dreft not only can't form scum, but it will wash away scum left by previous washings. Prove this by making the silk stocking test at left.

Dreft will save you real money by preserving the softness and life of your silk stockings . . . helping cut down runs. It is far milder because it's the only suds that contains no alkali at all. Anything that is safe in water is safe in Dreft.

Double Your Money Back!

Get a package of Dreft suds from your dealer today. Wash your stockings in it tonight. If you don't agree it's the perfect fine-fabric suds send us the front of the package and we will gladly pay you double your money back.

How to make good Pancakes

1. Mix equal parts of Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour with milk or water. Stir to a smooth batter. It is ready in a twinkling.
2. Have a griddle or skillet just hot enough. To test, sprinkle a few drops of water on the cooking surface. If they go right up in steam, it is too hot. If they break up and bounce around for an instant before evaporating, it is just right.
3. Grease cooking surface before each batch. Grease very lightly.
4. Let each side bake to a golden brown. Do not press down.

GROCERS OFFER NEW SERVICE!

IN one order your grocer can deliver anything you need for Aunt Jemima's Magic Menu. Complete with printed, easy directions.

It's so easy to get fluffy, well-done pancakes—luscious and tempting—when you use Aunt Jemima's Pancake Flour. It gives far more fluffiness than ordinary bread or biscuit flour. Because Aunt Jemima's contains only about half as much gluten as ordinary flour. And gluten, you know, is the taffy-like substance in flour that resists heat and slows up the baking process.

That's why, with about half the gluten of ordinary flour, Aunt Jemima's pancakes come out so perfectly done, so tender, fluffy and light in the few short minutes pancakes are on the fire.

A stack of three Aunt Jemima pancakes, a square of butter and 1 ounce of syrup are only 391 calories. Yet standard diets permit a total of 2,000 to 4,000 calories in the 3 daily meals.

Have Aunt Jemima's Magic Menu for the next meal.

FRENCH FRIED CREAM PUFFS SCORE NEW HIT

They're Ideal Prescription for Spring Luncheon.

BY MARY MEADE.

Are you already a-twitter over fried cream puffs? If you aren't yet, we prophesy that you're going to be, and right soon.

These crisp, French fried shells are a perfect prescription for the spring party luncheon. Filled with hot chicken à la king or an unusual salad or hot creamed mixture, well, we can't tell you how delightful they are. You'll just have to try the trick for yourself. Here's the way:

Fried Cream Puff Shells.

½ cup butter
1 cup water
1 cup all-purpose flour
4 eggs, unbeaten

Heat the butter and water to boiling. Add the flour all at once and stir vigorously until the mixture forms a smooth ball in the center of the pan. Remove from the heat and beat in the eggs, one at a time. The mixture should be very stiff. Heat kettle of deep fat to 385 degrees F. and drop batter in by teaspoonful. Fry from 10 to 15 minutes, or until shells are well puffed, crisp, and brown. Drain on unglazed paper, slit, and fill with any hot creamed mixture or chilled salad. This recipe makes one dozen puffs.

◆

Chicken Filling.

¼ cup butter or margarine
1 green pepper
1 cup sliced mushrooms
¼ cup flour
1½ cups top milk
1 cup chicken stock
2½ cups chicken
½ cup canned pimiento
Salt, paprika
Lemon juice

Melt the butter, add the minced green pepper and mushrooms, cover, and cook over low heat until tender. Blend with flour and add the milk and stock slowly, stirring occasionally until the mixture thickens. Add the chicken, pimiento, seasonings, and lemon juice to taste, heat thoroughly, and fill fried cream puff shells.

Recommend Pot Roast and Short Ribs of Beef

The committee on marketing information of the Meat Council of Chicago issued the following report for the guidance of housewives purchasing meat in Chicago retail meat stores: "Pot roast and short ribs of beef are recommended to Chicago housewives as economical meat buys over the coming week-end. Shoulder of lamb also can be purchased at attractive price levels."

Glycerin Helps Salads Slip Easily from Molds

Gelatine salads will slip out of their molds more easily if the inside of the mold is brushed with glycerin before pouring in the gelatin mixture.

USE MERINGUE IN LIEU OF WHIPPED CREAM TOPPING

Fluffy Meringue.

2 egg whites, unbeaten
Dash of salt
Few drops of vanilla
½ cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons water

Put the egg whites, sugar, salt, and water in the upper part of a double boiler. Beat the mixture thoroughly with a rotary egg beater. Place it over rapidly boiling water and beat for one minute. Remove from stove and continue to beat two minutes longer or until mixture stands in peaks. Add flavoring and beat well.

BAKED BANANAS ARE DIGESTIBLE, GO WITH MEAT

Green tipped or very firm yellow bananas should be cooked, because they are rendered more digestible. Cooking brings out a deliciously different flavor in the banana and makes it a suitable meat accompaniment. To bake bananas, leave in the skins on the rack of a moderate oven, 375 degrees F. ten to fifteen minutes, or until dark in color and soft to the touch. Or peel bananas, arrange in shallow oven-proof baking dish and sprinkle with lemon juice. Bake in a 375 degree F. oven ten to twelve minutes or until tender. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve hot.

FAMILY DISLIKE SPINACH? TRY IT RAW IN SALAD

If members of your family refuse to eat cooked spinach, they may accept it in the form of a raw salad. If so, well and good, because absolutely none of the health giving food essentials will be lost, as in cooking.

Some attractive combinations which may be used for salad are spinach, green onions, and sliced radishes; lettuce, spinach, and carrots; or spinach, cabbage, and raw beets, sliced very thin. These are delicious with a French dressing or a sour cream dressing. The spinach should be shredded finely.

Broccoli buds and tiny flowerlets of cauliflower may be used in the same way.

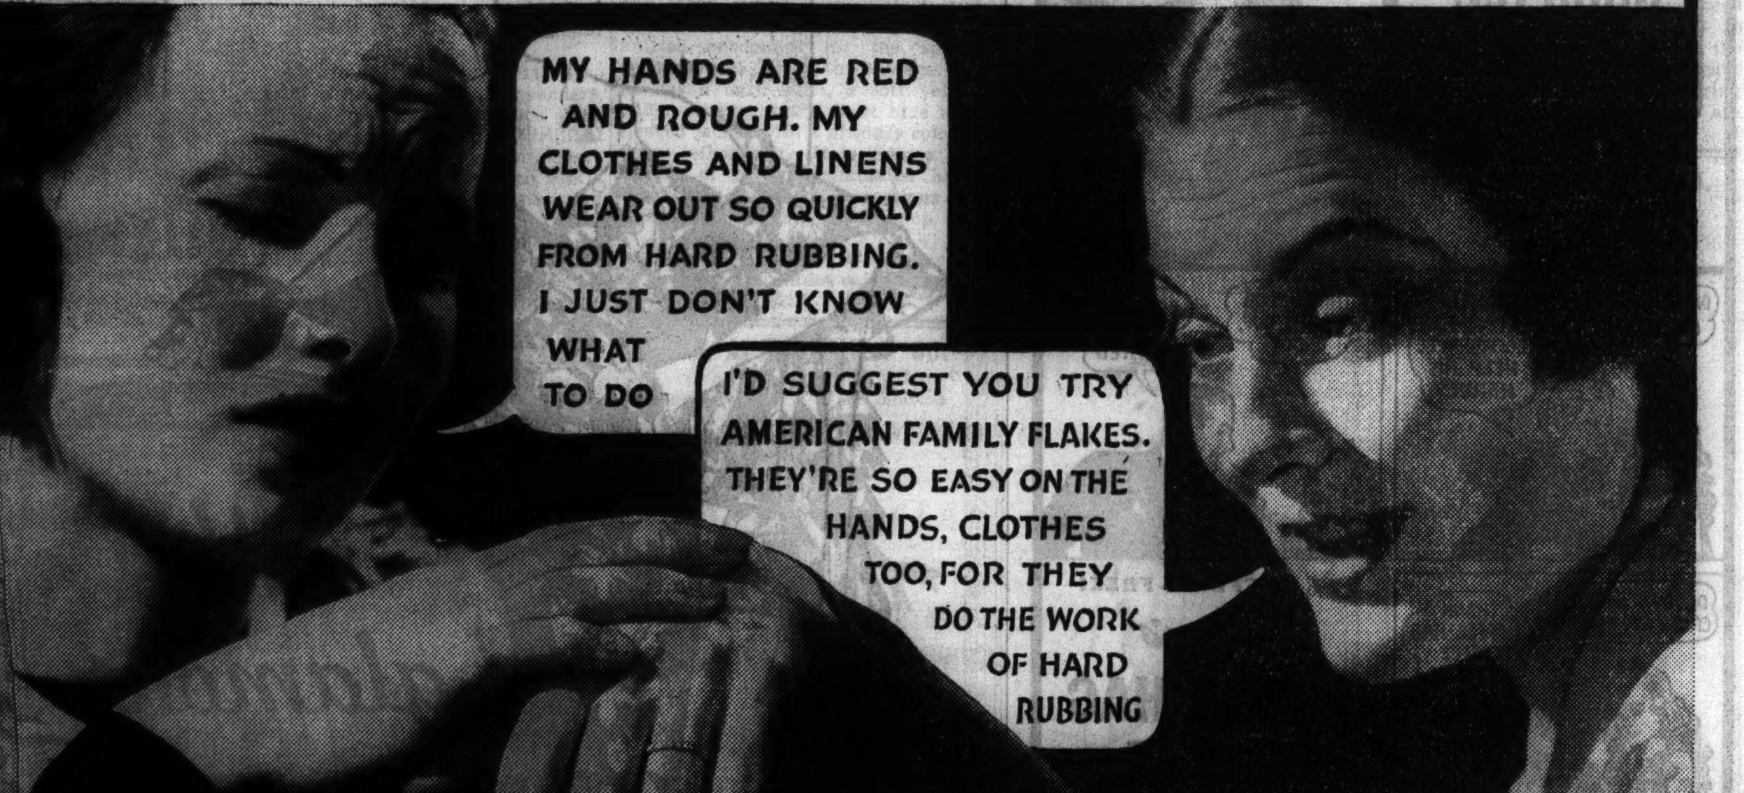
WHAT CHEAP SOAP CHIPS OFTEN DO TO YOUR HANDS
is NOTHING to what they can do to clothes



MY HANDS ARE RED AND ROUGH. MY CLOTHES AND LINENS WEAR OUT SO QUICKLY FROM HARD RUBBING. I JUST DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO
I'D SUGGEST YOU TRY AMERICAN FAMILY FLAKES. THEY'RE SO EASY ON THE HANDS, CLOTHES TOO, FOR THEY DO THE WORK OF HARD RUBBING

TODAY, with American Family Flakes at your command, it is folly to risk your hands, clothes, or linens.

ARE you perhaps being penny-wise and pound-foolish about the soap chips you buy? If so, this advertisement may be the means of saving a considerable amount of money for you.

Recent tests have revealed that cheap soap chips can greatly shorten the life of clothes. Actually, rob you of months of service you should expect.

And the use of cheap soap chips is such a needless risk, with American Family Flakes at your command. Just read what these superb flakes do:

Second, American Family Flakes provide fastest washing with utmost safety to clothes because they depend on rich "double suds" instead of harmful chemicals.

For ninety years American Family has demonstrated that it saves time, saves work and, most important, SAVES CLOTHES. That is why more Chicago women use American Family than any other brand.

You really can't afford to use cheap, harsh soaps that wear out clothes all too soon, and which require more soap to do the job. Try American Family Flakes your next wash-day—and note the difference.

And for dishwashing, you'll find American Family Flakes unexcelled—and as good for your hands as the finest toilet soap.

Joan Blondell Takes Her Rest in Vacant Lot

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 26.—[Special.]—Joan Blondell spends her vacation at a strange spot. Much of her time "between pictures" is passed at a vacant lot in the Toluca Lake district. She's there because it's the place her 18 month old son, Norman Scott Barnes, prefers to play. The lad has his own sand pile, lawn, and gardens in which to romp with his puppy, but the vacant lot with its current crop of two foot wild oats has much more appeal.

So every morning Joan is not required at Warner studio the baby takes her determinedly by the hand and directs his mummy toward the lot. Sometimes Joan hauls him there in his little red wagon.

"He has a lot of fun looking for sticks and stones, blossoms, and sometimes bugs," Joan explains. She has had to accustom herself to grave acceptance of some captured insect. When the little fellow falls asleep Joan takes him home and then goes back to the lot and scatters the stones and sticks for him to find again next day.

When Joan is busy the nurse goes to the vacant lot with the little boy. "If I have my way," Joan says, "the baby always will have a vacant lot—even if I have to buy one to keep it vacant."

"Never again will I bleach my hair for a motion picture," Ann Sothern says. "If the studio doesn't like the color my hair is, they can provide me with a wig. I had to become a golden blonde for my first film and never was able to persuade my employers to change back before this. But it is natural hair in 'Save a Lady.'"

Dolores Del Rio was at the Brown Derby for luncheon and found herself in the midst of unusually pressing autograph grabbers when she left. Becoming slightly confused, the actress dropped her purse. The autograph nuts actually ripped her purse to pieces for souvenirs. She doesn't know if she got back everything that was in it, but she did get her notebook and some cards of personal importance.

N. Y. Critics Make Award to 'Winterset'

New York, March 26.—(AP)—The New York drama critics circle tonight announced it had selected "Winterset," a play of social justice in blank verse by Maxwell Anderson, as the best American play for the 1935-'36 season.

The circle was organized last October to provide professional newspaper and magazine writers an opportunity to select a "best" play, as is done by other groups.

Reviewers generally interpreted the play as echoing some aspects of the case of Bartolomeo Vanzetti and Nicola Sacco, executed after a long legal struggle in Massachusetts for the murder of a paymaster and his assistant. They went to the chair protesting their innocence.

The scene of "Winterset" is laid under Brooklyn bridge, in winter. A youth has come there to seek the murderers in the crime for which his father unjustly has been convicted and executed. There the youth meets the judge who sentenced his father to death, now devoid of his reason.

As the boy is about to trap the actual killers, they murder him.

The play provided a combination of strong playwriting, notable acting and direction, and impressive designing.

Richard Bennett created the rôle of the judge, Burgess Meredith that of the youth. Jo Mielziner's setting of Brooklyn bridge evoked enthusiastic comment. The critics' citation said "special appreciation must also be expressed to Guthrie McClintic, the producer and director, to Jo Mielziner, and to the members of the cast."

According to CULBERTSON

VIVE LA FRANCE

My immediate feeling when an opponent dashes my hopes with a brilliant coup is that it virtually is roobery for one's opponents to play so well. This reaction is as human as it is deplorable. But soon, I am glad to say, I can look at things with a a less jaundiced eye. My bridge sense comes to the fore and lets me sincerely admire the workmanship, no matter who was the craftsman.

The immediate cause of all this philosophizing, if it is philosophy, is the following hand, played by Pierre Albarran, one of Europe's most brilliant players, during a recent series of match games. His partner was Sophocle Venizelos; mine, Richard L. Frey. Since Albarran is French, Venizelos Greek, and I am half Russian and half Scotch, these games had a decidedly international flavor.

The bidding:

South	West	North	Pass
1 diamond	1 heart	Double	Pass
1 spade	Pass	4 Sp. [final bid]

South's bids were shaded, but well justified by his excellent distribution.

I sat West and was decidedly tempted to double the final contract, but restrained myself with the conviction that the hand must be of a "freakish" nature.

The club king was my opening lead. When I saw the dummy I was both disappointed and relieved. Disappointed in that it looked like a tough job to defeat the contract; relieved that I hadn't walked into a redouble. Of course, I couldn't realize that with South's none-too-robust four card trump suit he had a tortuous road to follow. After the club king I shifted to the king of diamonds. South won the ace and ruffed a diamond with a low trump in dummy. When I followed with the six to this trick, South "placed" me with the Q 10 remainder. My first overcall, and opening lead, evidence of at least three clubs together with the count of four diamonds in my hand, satisfied Albarran that I had, at most, one spade, and since he desperately needed entries to his own hand, and also since the percentages favored the play, he finessed the nine of trump on the next lead from dummy. When it held he ruffed another diamond with the king of spades, while East discarded a heart. A second trump lead was won by his ten spot. And then he made the really brilliant play of the hand. He led a low diamond and, when I played the queen, he allowed me to hold the trick!

East discarded his last heart, but I now was helpless. If I led the ace of clubs dummy would ruff, declarer return to his own hand by trumping a heart, pick up West's last spade, and win the balance of the tricks with two good diamonds and the queen of clubs. If I underled the club South would let it ride to his queen, ruff his last club in dummy, and proceed as before. If West led the ace of hearts South would ruff and lead his good diamonds, allowing East to trump. Dummy's last trump is used to ruff a club, and South's last club is discarded on the king of hearts.

Actually I led a low heart, dummy played the king, East ruffed, and South overruffed. South then cashed two diamonds and trumped a club, conceding the last trick to West.

Note what happens if South trumps that fourth round of diamonds. East overtrumps, returns the jack of clubs, and the two club tricks set the hand immediately. Albarran's play of this hand was as fine as I ever have seen, and I don't want to see many like it in the future; at least, not from the opponents' side of the table.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: What is the shortest possible time in which a person of intelligence may become an expect contract player?

Answer: Within my knowledge no player has become truly expert in less than two years. Most of the present experts had a much longer schooling.

Tomorrow's Hand.

IF YOU ARE WEAK, PALE, RUNDOWN SKINNY MAKE THIS SIMPLE TEST!

It's Glands Starving for IODINE That Keep You Tired, Nervous and Worn-out!

Natural Iodine in Kelpamalt, New Mineral Concentrate, Must Correct Trouble With Tired, Careworn, Haggard-Looking Folks the First Week and Add 5 Lbs., Or the Trial Is Free!

As the result of tests covering thousands of weakened, run-down, nervous, skinny folks, science now claims that it is GLANDS STARVING FOR IODINE that keep you pale, tired-out, underweight and ailing. When these glands don't work properly, all the food in the world can't help you. It just isn't turned into "stay-there" flesh, new strength and energy.

The most important gland—the one which actually controls body weight—needs a definite ration of iodine all the time—NATURAL ASSIMILABLE IODINE—not to be confused with chemical iodides which often prove toxic. Only when the system gets an adequate supply of iodine can you regulate metabolism—the body's process of converting digested foods into firm flesh, new strength and energy.

To get this vital mineral in convenient, concentrated and assimilable form, take Kelpamalt—now recognized as the world's richest source of this precious substance. It contains 1300 times more iodine than oysters, once considered the best source. 6 tablets alone contain more NATURAL IODINE than 486 lbs. of spinach or 1387 lbs. of lettuce.

Make this test with Kelpamalt. First weigh yourself and see how long you can work or how far you can walk without tiring. Then take 3 Kelpamalt Tablets with each meal for 2 weeks and again weigh yourself and notice how much longer you can work without tiring, how much farther you can walk. Notice how much better you feel, sleep and eat. Watch flattering extra lbs. appear in place of scrawny hollows. And if you don't gain 5 lbs. the very first week the trial is free. Seedol Kelpamalt costs but little to use. Try it today.

Life in France of 1794 Seen in Print Show

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

There is no more amusing way to study history than through pictures. Miss Elizabeth Day McCormick has collected a great number of prints which illustrate the life and dress of the French world between 1794 and 1814.

A group of these has been lent to the Art institute and is on view in the print galleries. They are of definite interest and many of them own to a definite beauty. The color is invariably clear and fine; the drawing is accurate and the incidents portrayed full of humor.

All types of society are represented, from the little shop-girl and the soldier to the lady of high society and the gentleman of fashion. Those years of reconstruction in France were years of extravagance and the trend is visible in the fashions.

Beau Brummell ruled the men's world and classicism ruled the ladies'. Wigs were in fashion, preferably blonde. A beauty could hardly do with less than fifty or sixty. "The Coiffeur," a color print by Debucourt, points the way. For men, high stocks were the fashion, and the manner of tying and wearing them had to be learned as carefully as any lesson.

Although the currency had depreciated frightfully, money mattered little to a grande dame. The lady of fashion demanded [and usually received] a wardrobe of at least 365 headdresses, as many pairs of sandals, six hundred gowns and twelve chemises. Her blonde wigs were of various shades to match her costumes.

A fan then cost 20,000 francs, so one may gather that the rest of the wardrobe ran well into the millions, but no one seemed dismayed.

From this amusing exhibition it is a long step to the etchings by Arthur William Heintzelman in the O'Brien galleries, 673 North Michigan avenue. We come out of a world of pomp and circumstance into a very simple life.

Heintzelman is universally acknowledged as a great etcher. His prints are of simple persons and customs, beautifully executed. A peasant and his goats, a mother and child, a young girl, the portrait of a learned man, the exhibition is fascinating in its scope.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Yesterday we found mascara in the cutest little bakelite case you've ever seen. The top lifts on tiny hinges, the lines are trim, and, all in all, it's one of those affairs that makes the thoughtful woman marvel. The ingenuity, effort, and pure, honest-to-goodness art that go into even the smallest of beauty packages these days is amazing.

But it's the mascara that is our muttons—and this is everything you want a mascara to be—smooth in texture and not a bit irritating to the eye. Doesn't run unless you weep—and if you're a weeper that threat may be just what you need to keep your tears in check. It comes in six shades—brown, black, green, light and dark blue, and the softest, richest sort of violet. This last, by the way, can do marvelous things for some women, especially those with a hint of natural violet shadowing around their eyes.

Tucked in with this mascara are both a brush and a comb. The brush, of course, is nothing new, but the comb idea isn't nearly as well known here as it is in Europe. The comb has unbelievably small teeth that do a good job in keeping the lashes from beading.

Years ago we asked one big mascara manufacturer why he didn't bring out these little combs; we'd been fascinated with the precision with which French women used them. It seems that they are awfully expensive to make—which is why they haven't appeared in large numbers around here.

If you have long eyelashes and want to keep each one darkened and curled to the queen's taste you might give this elegant mascara, equipped with brush and comb, a good trial. You won't regret it.

ELEANOR NANGLE.

College Men Rate Sparkling Teeth as First Beauty Asset

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

When asked what is a beautiful woman's Asset No. 1, the young men at a Pacific coast university voted for sparkling teeth. The eastern university youth undoubtedly would vote the same ticket. Men and women everywhere thrill to the smile with a display of beautiful white teeth. And, as you know, to get a job in the movies, if one has teeth blemishes, would be as hard as trying to wangle your way into heaven on a forged passport. There is a whole dental school of corrective measures in the land of film-making to meet the emergency of overhauling every mouth included in a screen test.

Even though one's teeth may be sound as to health, if there is a hint of irregularity in their formation, a temporary cap has to be worn during the picture-making to present a perfectly even row. These caps, I understand, are not for practical general use, since they are constructed of material that suffers damage, if not dissolution, while one is eating. They are not, as I have been asked, useable by girls in non-professional life, whose tooth troubles, however, are amply solved by the better dentists.

Linda Terry, one of the screen newcomers, sets particular store on maintaining the beauty of her fine two rows of pearls. For tools, she advises two brushes, one medium soft, the other hard, and 15 minutes by the clock for the daily care of the teeth. She reverses the usual order and uses the dental floss first, follows this with a good brushing with the hard brush spread generously with her toothpaste. After this brushing, Linda spreads a little milk of magnesia, the plain old medicine cabinet kind, on her clean forefinger and massages it into her gums. In the morning the softer brush is put into action for a five minute period of attention, in which is included a mouth wash made of one teaspoonful of sodium perborate in a glass of warm water. The last named attention is for freshening and whitening. The whole program of care prescribes to the sparkle which leads, according to above authorities, in beauty assets.

In the teeth brushing procedure brushing the gums comes in as part of the brush action, the gums requiring this stimulation as a preventive of both mouth and tooth disorders.

It's true! —USE 1/4 LESS
Prido THAN VEGETABLE SHORTENING

1-, 3-, AND 6-LB. SIZES

Never have you used anything like this new scientifically blended miracle shortening. Prido is so rich that you can make deliciously tender cakes and pastry, using 1/4 less than any vegetable shortening, or the same amount as pure refined lard. Yet Prido is not a lard.

It is "tops" in digestibility—creams easily at home refrigeration temperatures—and, thank goodness, it doesn't smoke at any deep fat frying temperature. No telltale odors.

Try Prido at our risk. If you are not entirely satisfied, return the unused Prido and get your money back.

Grainger Has Three Roles at Stock Concert

Serves as Soloist, Composer, and Conductor.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The twenty-fourth program in the Chicago Symphony orchestra's Thursday series brought together last night as bewildering a variety of composers as the most fanatical advocate of diversity could ask. Robert Schumann and Alban Berg shared the first half of the concert and glowered across the gulf of the intermission at John Alden Carpenter and Percy Grainger [some slight affinity, there] who divided the second session. Grainger appeared as soloist and conductor as well as composer.

Grainger began his part of the evening with a sparkling performance of Carpenter's witty Concertino. Rhythms were deftly handled, quite in the Grainger manner; the piece had zest and humor from beginning to end. Did you notice in Felix Borowski's program annotations a record of the fact that the Carpenter Concertino and Percy Grainger were both introduced to symphony patrons together, at a March concert twenty years ago?

The pianist turned next to two of his own works which had never before been heard in Chicago and abandoned the keyboard for the conductor's stand. The first was a nostalgic Hill Song, interesting for its unusual instrumentation [winds, primarily]; the second, an honest bit of workmanship called "To a Nordic Princess."

Grainger's gift for blithe melody and its skilful handling was demonstrated thoroughly in the two little works that closed the schedule part of the program. "Handel in the Strand" and "Spoon River" have more in common than their widely separated points of origin might suggest. Both are jolly and careless, one in the manner of an England of long ago, the other in the line of America's "Turkey in the Straw" tradition.

Staid old Orchestra hall was outraged by a generous admixture of shrill whistling in the huge ovation that followed "Spoon River." Its long standing rule against encores was flouted once more—twice more, in fact.

The excerpts from Alban Berg's "Lulu" are incomprehensible as pure music and would have to be heard in their operatic context before their justice and effectiveness could be apparent. The knowledge of the subject and action of the original that can be gleaned from the very full program notes do not provide a complete enough background to make the details of the symphonic pieces fully intelligible.

This much is obvious. The emotional climate of "Lulu" is one of extremes and the music designed to accord with it must be in itself radically different from anything of the temperate zone. Berg was trying to expand the spiritual territory of the art. One can admire his honesty of purpose and still quarrel with his belief that the art can follow language into any defile and remain as serviceable as it was out on the plains in the sunlight.

Style Season Best in Years for Color Fan

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The wild looks of frustration that formerly marked the faces of some shoppers came about because matching costume accessories used to be a stunt that took time and all kinds of patience. Even then it usually ended in a compromise, with the shopper taking things that didn't match.

No wonder the streets are alive with color now. You can have anything matched in less time than it takes to tell about it. Even the most difficult shade, the tiniest scrap of material, illusive and subtle shades and tones can be matched exactly.

The obliging shops are presenting sections filled with the last word in accessories in every shade, color tone, and tint that can be used for harmonious contrast or combination. Green from the palest spring yellow green to the deep mysterious cypress green, yellow from delicate petal yellow to the bright clear canary color chamois, butter yellow, honey, ivory, true beige, mustard, green yellow, and the smartest of all—the new sulphur yellow.

You'll find mauves, violets, deep dyes of purple, soft grayed lavenders, blue misty violets, and so on. Red, ranging from rosy coral to brilliant carmines, with high fashion American Beauty tones in abundance, subtle French cerise, plentiful fuchsias, and vivid hunter's pink.

Blue, that delightful cornflower blue, gray blue, kingfisher blue as brilliant as the feathers of the bird it is called after, French blues, powder blues, purple blues, and, the newest color from the dye pots, a baby or heaven blue.

Belts, bags, gloves, blouses and waistcoats, handkerchiefs, flowers to wear in the buttonhole, ascots and other tricky scarfs, hat bands, sashes, even raincoats and umbrellas are all gathered or assembled in one handy spot.

You can start with slippers and shop up, or start at the top with a hat. You can take a pair of gloves and build an extra costume around them in a short shopping period because these matched costume accessories are all together, ready for the rush. Practically every shop and store in town can turn you out complete to the last detail in perfectly matched or daringly right contrasts.

Fashion photograph . . . colors and clear strong combinations and contrasts are going strong in the new knitted ensembles for the spring sportswoman. This three piece outfit has a dark skirt, a soft yellow under sweater and a light blue long sleeved jacket with a brightly colored fancy lether belt. It is from a collection of cleverly simulated hand-knit sports and daytime creations featured in a smart Chicago shop.

Color Photos Catch Details of Paris Styles

First of Notable Series Will Appear Sunday.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Spring fashion glamor, as Paris interprets it, will delight THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S women readers when they study the front cover of Sunday's rotogravure section. There in full natural colors THE TRIBUNE is presenting several of the most striking costumes from the recent showings in the famous Paris salons.

The rotogravure page is the first of a series of such reproductions and it marks a new and brilliant achievement for the color camera of Scaioni, well known Paris photographer. It also portrays style as it will be recognized this spring and summer by the most discriminating ladies of fashion.

In the photos the mannequins . . . and each one of them is a blonde, brunette, or titian haired beauty . . . are wearing lovely gowns with the new draped bodices, stunning full length chiffon capes, and corsages splashed here and there with daring artistry. The gowns indicate that waistlines are moving up and up . . . that scarfs are yards without end . . . and that the swagger line is correct whether used for the sports or formal wrap.

The glamor of queens has been borrowed by Robert Piguet in creating the Empire evening gown portrayed in one of the photographs to be released on Sunday. It is of a printed silk with daisies joining petals and marching in green and white beauty over a black ground. The very high waistline is accented by a green velvet girdle and circular ruffles decorate the décolletage and the voluminous scarf.

Many a young lady will lose her heart to the exquisitely draped gown of pale rose chiffon, also from the salon of Robert Piguet. It is the personification of spring with pink roses clambering over the bosom of the brief bodice and a long and vaporous full length cape flowing from the shoulders.

Both of these gowns bear out the Paris decree that color is the vogue for spring and summer. And still another photograph, to be included in this Sunday's page, proves that the mauve decade has come back to color the new Paris styles. It is an evening cloak by Molyneux cut swagger and made of Parma violet silk.

The reproduction of these styles has been accomplished with so much perfection that it is almost possible to feel the crinkle of the taffeta and the featherweight of the chiffon. From the blush of the mannequins' cheeks to the finest design of the printed gowns Scaioni's camera has reproduced the delightful colorings true to the originals.

This Sunday's photographs, in the rotogravure section, are only the first of a series. Other stunning style creations, perfectly reproduced, will be printed during succeeding weeks.

Goethe Program.

The German Literary society will hear talks on the life and works of Johann Wolfgang von Goethe at a meeting this evening in the Bismarck hotel. Mrs. Emil Eitel will recite several of Goethe's poems. Among the guests will be Theodore Brentano and Ernest J. Kruetgen, postmaster of Chicago.

Jean Hersholt Celebrates 30 Years in Films

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 26.—One of the few screen pioneers still in pictures today celebrated his thirtieth anniversary in films. Jean Hersholt started his career before the camera on March 26, 1906, and today Twentieth Century-Fox gave a luncheon in the sunroom of the Café de Paris, on the studio grounds, to mark the anniversary.

Hersholt had to attend in a ragged, threadworn suit, with sparse gray hair [that was, indeed, a great tribute to the studio makeup man, because the actor's own crop of hair is heavy and wavy] and ragged beard. He came in bowed and shuffling, but this was because in his current rôle, as an ancient Swiss bellringer in "Turmoil," he has to wear forty pounds of lead fastened in his clothes and in his shoes to give the trembly walk of a man approaching decrepitude.

"I thought it was only a lark," Hersholt said, speaking of his first venture before a camera as a young Dane in his teens. A movie camera was a great novelty in Denmark at that time; in fact, the first employment of any motion picture equipment in Denmark had taken place only one month before. That was when King Christian IX. had died and the camera had been imported to record the funeral procession.

The following month Ole Olson got the idea to start making films in Copenhagen, and Olson hired Hersholt and one other actor from a theater there. They started filming at 10 a. m. "By 3 p. m.," Jean told those who gathered to do him honor at the luncheon table—grave studio executives, impressive looking directors, quizzical writers, and bantering fellow actors—"our picture had been completed. It started with a painter putting a fresh coat of paint on a park bench and ran for 300 feet of footage. Hersholt and the other actor took the 'Fresh Paint' sign off the bench. Then a dapper gentleman sat on the bench. Most of the 300 feet was the dapper gentleman and the townsfolk chasing us two actors."

The picture was titled "Paa Valby Bakke" ["On Valby Hill"]. It was the beginning of the Danish film industry and Hersholt's long movie career. Hersholt came to Hollywood twenty-three years ago after playing in numerous motion pictures in Europe, and he got his first Hollywood job at the old Thomas H. Ince studio at Inceville, along the ocean north of Santa Monica. His salary then was $15 a week. When he finishes his present film, "Turmoil," he will have appeared in 428 separate movies since 1906.

Hersholt recently was featured as the doctor in "The Country Doctor," with the Dionne quintuplets, and since then has been elevated to full stardom. He recently was offered $5,000 a week to make personal appearances.

He didn't accept, although his screen salary isn't that heavy. But he does have a contract with M.-G.-M. under which his services have been loaned for two successive films to Twentieth Century. And, besides, the Danish actor wouldn't want to leave Hollywood while the first spring blooms of his back yard flowers are coming up.

Incident—River Boats—Economy.

A GENTLEMAN was hurrying down La Salle street a few days ago when a young woman, coming toward him, went to the left to pass. He started to his right, then to his left. She dodged to the other side, and there they were, bobbing back and forth in front of each other, getting nowhere and feeling foolish. At least he was. The young woman suddenly stopped completely and said sweetly: "Silly thing, let's at least make it a waltz or a fox-trot."

HAROLD STARK, author and lecturer, is passionately fond of an old house he owns in Indiana, down on the Ohio river, and through this affection has become a devotee of the nineteenth century. He collects nineteenth century glass and architects' books, and hopes some day to found a "steamboat museum." Lecturing the other day on the panorama of the nineteenth century, covering what he calls "steamboat Gothic" and "railroad Romanesque," Mr. Stark pointed out that the time is arriving for the nineteenth century to be revaluated and appreciated. It has been too long neglected, he said, and already its monuments and memorabilia are fast disappearing. Its famous steamboats, for instance, are almost extinct. Two thousand of them once plied the waters of the Mississippi and the Ohio, while now there are exactly four passenger steamboats left.

* *

THE steamboat was an original architectural contribution of the century in America, according to Mr. Stark, and because of the necessity that the boats be shallow bottomed they had to be quite different from seagoing boats or those that operated in the Hudson river. In style they followed the architectural forms of the century, first, classic, then Gothic revival. And the famous J. M. White, that in the seventies grandly traversed the Mississippi, was done in Eastlake style, with all the elaborate decoration that characterized houses of the period.

* *

THERE was fitness as to the choice of place where Mr. Stark talked about the river travel of an earlier day. The Little Traveler is the home of Mrs. Edmond Raftery, whose family in Jeffersonville, Ind., were proprietors of the famous Howard shipbuilding yards, now gone, that built many of the celebrated river boats. The J. M. White, which he mentioned in his lecture, was a Howard built boat. Mr. Stark points out that although there are four or five alcoves in the Metropolitan devoted to the nineteenth century, and a few houses, like the Hermitage, Andrew Jackson's home, and Gen. Grant's home at Galena that preserve the memory of the nineteenth century, it is, on the whole, undervalued and neglected.

A BARTENDER named Louis Most [where does that girl spend her time!] was walking along Madison street toward the Wells street "L" recently when he saw a sign announcing collars for sale for 3 cents. He went in, bought nine of them, and caught an elevated home, showing them triumphantly to his wife.

"That's fine," she said. "Now all you have to do is to buy the shirts—all yours are collar-attached."

Three Music Events Added to April List

Church Mission of Help Sponsors Opera.

BY JUDITH CASS.

IMPORTANT additions to the April calendar, socially as well as musically, are being made this morning with the announcement that the Church Mission of Help will sponsor the opening performance of the San Carlo Opera company Monday evening, April 20, at the Auditorium theater, and that the University of Chicago Music society will present the Czechoslovakian folk opera, "Schvanda," at Mandel hall on the 20th, 22d, and 23d.

A third addition is the spring concert of the Paulist choristers to be given on Wednesday, April 29, at Orchestra hall.

The women interested in the Church Mission of Help and its work among underprivileged young women were so delighted with the success of their benefit last year, when they took over the opera company's opening performance of "Madame Butterfly," that they decided to give a similar benefit this year.

"La Traviata" will be the opera presented, with Lucille Meusel, Dmitri Onofrei, Mostayn Thomas in the principal rôles, and Lydia Arolova and Lucien Prideaux leading the ballet.

Mrs. Dudley S. Stark, wife of the rector of St. Chrysostom's church, heads the committee arranging the benefit. Assisting as vice chairmen are Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Bruce Borland, and Mrs. James R. Offield.

Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson is president of the organization which for 27 years has assisted Protestant girls of all denominations between the ages of 16 and 25. Many prominent members of St. Chrysostom's and St. James' parishes are lending their support to the event.

The Music society again is doing the unusual in presenting "Schvanda" in English for the first time in the history of the opera. The society is

SYNOPSIS.

Inspector Sandy Ross and Buck Wasey of the department of justice travel from Reno to Vinton City in search of information on Sociable Joe Willis, suspected of assisting in armored car robberies. A collision of two cars on a mountain road brings Jane Bronson into Sandy's life. But she vanishes when she learns his identity. Jane had come to Vinton City to plead with her brother, Lee, known there as Ray Hammer, to give up his gang connections. Lee makes a hurried getaway with Jane, driving a cream colored car, and Lee deliberately runs down Sociable Joe. Sociable Joe denies knowing Jane Bronson or Ray Hammer. Meanwhile in San Francisco the Lurch-McKeevor mob await the arrival of Lee Bronson, needed for his ability in female impersonating. The cream colored car is located at a tourist camp near Gunnison, Colo., where Sandy and Buck speed by plane. They find Jane alone. She confesses her brother carried a machine gun and left in anger at her pleas to go straight. An outfit of Jane's clothes is missing. In Gunnison Sandy uncovers clews which lead him to believe that Lee Bronson, dressed as a woman, took a train for San Francisco. Sandy leaves Jane under surveillance and he and Buck fly to San Francisco. Before they reach there another armored car holdup has been attempted. Lee Bronson, in woman's disguise, escapes with the gang after wounding two policemen. With the coöperation of Banderson, in charge of the San Francisco field office, Sandy finds the gang's hideout.

INSTALMENT XXIX.

THE GANG'S HEADQUARTERS.

"I talked to the messenger boy," said Sandy. "The one you sent out to that house with the telegram."

"House? What house?" Three Fingered Max was puzzled.

"You know what house," Buck cut in. "Now do you want to talk?"

Three Fingered Max began a speech.

"Why Pal, you wouldn't think I'd do nothin' like that. Why——"

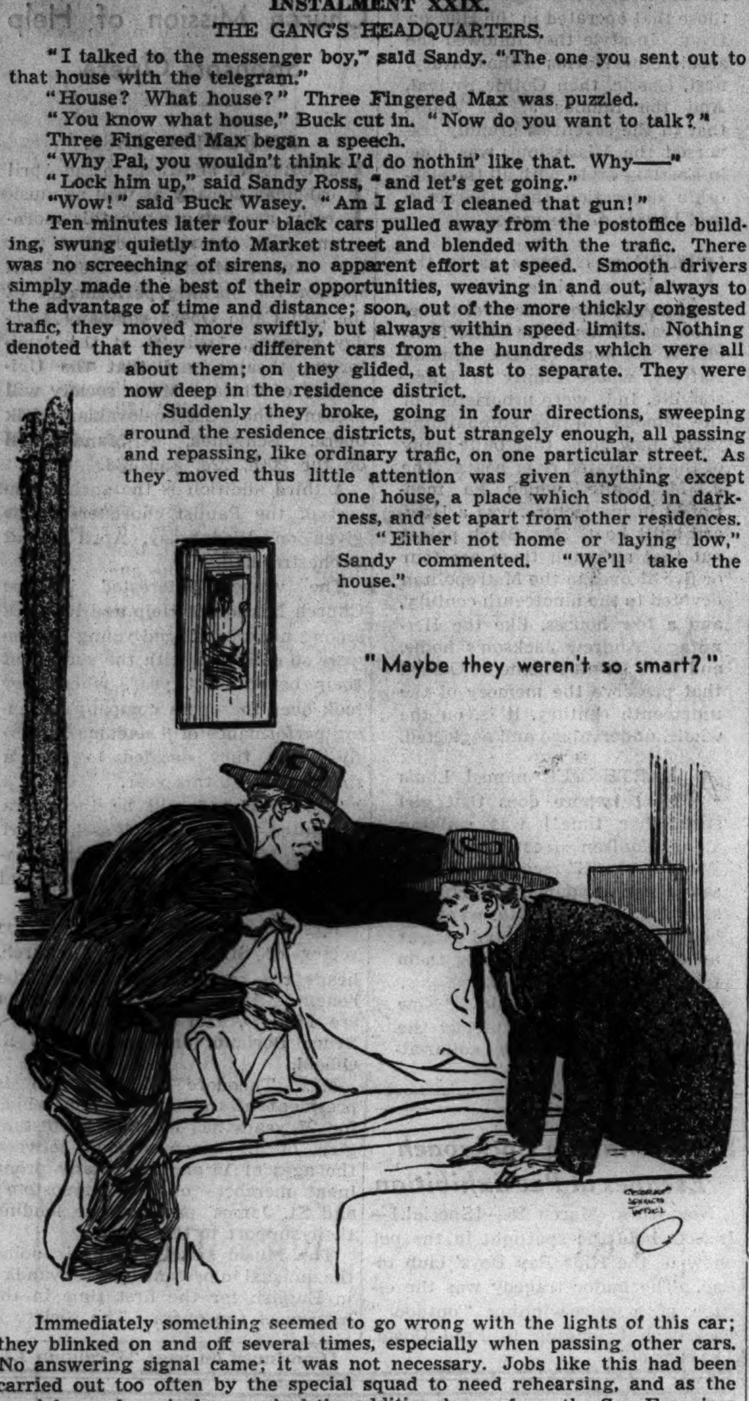
"Lock him up," said Sandy Ross, "and let's get going."

"Wow!" said Buck Wasey. "Am I glad I cleaned that gun!"

Ten minutes later four black cars pulled away from the postoffice building, swung quietly into Market street and blended with the trafic. There was no screeching of sirens, no apparent effort at speed. Smooth drivers simply made the best of their opportunities, weaving in and out, always to the advantage of time and distance; soon, out of the more thickly congested trafic, they moved more swiftly, but always within speed limits. Nothing denoted that they were different cars from the hundreds which were all about them; on they glided, at last to separate. They were now deep in the residence district.

Suddenly they broke, going in four directions, sweeping around the residence districts, but strangely enough, all passing and repassing, like ordinary trafic, on one particular street. As they moved thus little attention was given anything except one house, a place which stood in darkness, and set apart from other residences.

"Either not home or laying low," Sandy commented. "We'll take the house."



"Maybe they weren't so smart?"

Immediately something seemed to go wrong with the lights of this car; they blinked on and off several times, especially when passing other cars. No answering signal came; it was not necessary. Jobs like this had been carried out too often by the special squad to need rehearsing, and as the special squad worked so worked the additional men from the San Francisco field office.

One car moved just around the corner and stopped. A second car did the same a block away. Two other cars made the circuit of the block, taking similar positions, each with a driver at the wheel and a man remaining beside him, holding in readiness a special automatic rifle capable of penetrating a bulletproof vest.

Quietly the other agents slid forth, machine guns, Monitor rifles, and tear gas guns held close to their sides. They sought the shadows, moving close upon the house, yet each spotted so that no one would be in the path of cross-fire. At last, his men placed, Sandy Ross went to a neighboring home, displayed his credentials, and asked to use the telephone. He was connected with the field office.

"Ross speaking," he announced. "Found that telephone number yet?"

"Yes, sir," came from the F. B. I. man at the switchboard. "It's a silent number. Listed in the name of J. B. Lurmack."

"Connect me."

It was done. The steady ringing, however, brought no answer as Sandy waited, minute after minute, in following out the usual procedure of warning which goes so often these days to surrounded crooks—that the hideout is covered by machine gun, rifle, and tear gas, and that insurance of safety lies in backing out, one by one, hands in the air. There was no answer. At last Sandy joined his men.

"We'll move in," he commanded and led the way to the veranda, where he rang the bell. Only silence replied. "All right, Gray, open 'er up," called Sandy and a special agent came forward with a ring full of master keys. A moment later the door swung open. Still covered from four directions by armed men, the inspector reached within and snapped on the hall lights. No one appeared. Quietly then the infiltration began. Soon the place was filled with federal men. But they found no gang members, nor even the slightest indication that they had been there. Jock McKeevor had held to his intention of leaving this place "wiped clean."

Everything was in order. Rugs and carpets had been swept clean; floors evidently had been cleaned with dustmops. Ash trays had been washed—furniture had been polished. Nevertheless, taking a long chance, Sandy Ross ordered a complete search for finger prints.

Men who only a short time before had watched tensely, gun in hand, now became plodding searchers, moving from place to place around the house, dusting light surfaces with black powder, dark ones with aluminum, or in other instances using a peculiar shade of red called dragon's blood, all to no purpose. Not once was a latent or accidental finger print found; not in any part of the house was there evidence that a single piece of furniture or utensil had been overlooked in the cleaning process.

They searched for beer bottles, usually the most abundant providers of telltale marks, and found them, but they were of no value. Like everything else of an incriminating nature, they had been placed in a bonfire in the back yard and there blackened by the ashes resultant from the careful burning of trash. This, evidently, had been a particular job; not a scrap of paper remained. Sifting of the ashes revealed broom and mop wires, and one small, charred piece of handle—nothing more.

Hour after hour the search went on, the number of men dwindling that others might be released to a canvass of the neighborhood, and the incessant asking of questions as sleepy neighbors tried to remember just what the nice, quiet young men who had occupied this house had looked like when they had come and when they had gone. No one had paid much attention it seemed. There were fragmentary descriptions, of course, each to be carefully placed in notebooks by patient agents. Perhaps it was all as hopeless as the work at the house seemed to be, but the usual case looks hopeless almost until the moment that the F. B. I. strikes.

The ever vigilant work went on, men seeking finger prints where there were no finger prints, looking into closets and dark corners for newspapers, scraps of laundry, left-behinds which did not exist, covering and recovering the ground which already had been gone over a hundred times before. At last as Sandy Ross moved toward one of the beds a new special agent hurried forward to give aid.

Gingerly he turned back the spreads, and then the light blanket. Suddenly he bent forward alertly. The new special agent saw only the upper and lower sheets, their slight wrinkles portraying the fact that they had been slept upon. A gleam came into Sandy's eyes.

"Buck!" he called. Instantly the Texan was beside him, the same queer light of victory shining in his features.

"Maybe they weren't so smart?" he asked, and stood there, rocking on heel and toe, one cheek bulged by the pressure of his tongue. "No servants in this house—all the neighbors say that. So this gang must have done its own housework. And if it did——"

"Examine the other beds," commanded Sandy. "Do it carefully. Wrap the sheets in cellophane for a silver nitrate examination."

Quick working men hurried to obey the command. Sandy again glanced about the house, its smoothly polished furniture, its dusted floors, and clean swept rugs.

Dionne Awaits Film Story Before Signing for Movie of Family

CALLANDER, Ont., March 26.—(AP)—Oliva Dionne, father of the quintuplets, said today he had not signed a contract for appearance of his family, except the famous sisters, in a motion picture, but that negotiations for the family's appearance, initiated about two months ago, were actively reopened during the last few days.

Charles Rogers of Universal had announced in Hollywood he had signed the father, mother and five elder Dionne children to appear.

Dionne said he and Mrs. Dionne would have to approve any story in which the family would appear before the agreement would be completed.

Independent Studio to Build in Florida; Recall Movie Threat

Hollywood, Cal., March 26.—(AP)—Last year's threat of the movie industry to move from Hollywood to Florida echoed today in the announcement by M. H. Hoffman Jr., independent producer, that he would construct a new studio at Brandon Park, North Miami, Fla.

It will be known as the Pan-American Studios, Inc., Hoffman said, and will begin producing pictures "around June 1."

Hoffman is the son of the former president of Liberty Pictures of Hollywood, an independent studio. He said his father's Hollywood company would have no active connection with his own Florida project.

Major film producers made no comment on the announcement. Only a short time ago they joined in a threat to take the billion dollar business out of California to avoid projected taxes on movie making.

When the proposed tax bills were quashed the angry rumblings stopped.

making use of a translation by Libushka Bartusek, wife of Dr. Harry L. Brown of Oak Park. Carl Bricken will direct the combined university symphony orchestra and choir in the production, with Paul Pence and Agatha Lewis among the soloists.

The Paulist choristers, now in their 32d year, will use the proceeds of their concert for the maintenance of the choir's summer camp in northern Wisconsin, where the boys spend much of their summer vacations every year. The Rev. Eugene O'Malley will direct the choristers in their program.

Musical events taking place in April which already have been announced are a concert by the Amherst Glee club on the 2d at the Drake hotel, the last of the Woman's Symphony orchestra concerts on the 5th at Orchestra hall, and the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra's concert on the 17th at the Auditorium, under the auspices of the Woman's Aid society of Passavant hospital.

Give Dinner Tonight for Nicholas Murray Butlers.

The cocktail party and dinner that the Chicago Columbia Alumni association and the Chicago Barnard Alumnæ association are giving tonight at the University club for Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia, and Mrs. Butler promises to be an interesting affair. Several members of the associations are entertaining guests at the function, among them Mrs. Oscar C. Hayward of Winnetka, president of the Barnard alumnae, and Mr. Hayward.

Others entertaining will be Victor Elting, a past president of the Columbia club; and the Eric Lambarts.

The Rev. Duncan H. Browne, rector of St. James church, a Columbia graduate, has invited several guests who are active members of his parish.

Dr. Edward C. Elliott, president of Purdue university, and Mrs. Elliott, and their family also will attend the dinner. Dr. and Mrs. Butler will remain in Chicago until tomorrow night.

Mr. and Mrs. Wirt Morton are entertaining at dinner tonight and at cocktails tomorrow for Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Wilson of La Salle, Ill., who are arriving today to spend the weekend with the Mortons in Lake Bluff. Mrs. Morton is the former Mrs. Katherine Mabbett of New York, and Mrs. Wilson also is a New Yorker, the former Marianne Van Rensselaer.

Earle B. Fowlers Will Enjoy Cruise.

Mrs. Earle B. Fowler, winner of the cruise tickets awarded at the Chicago Junior league's Open House at the Drake last fall, is sailing tomorrow with Dr. Fowler on the Santa Rosa for California. Their cruise is an 18 day one, and the Fowlers plan to spend a week or more in California before returning to Oak Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson and their daughter, Mrs. Ronald P. Boardman, their son, Sanger Robinson, and their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Snelling Robinson, have gone to Boca Grande, Fla., for a fortnight.

The junior Theodore W. Robinsons were hardly settled in their apartment on Lake View avenue after their honeymoon before Mrs. Robinson was called to Cleveland by the illness of her children, who have the measles.

Cliff Dwellers' Tea for Percy Grainger.

Mrs. Frederic W. Upham will be hostess at a tea to be given at the Cliff Dwellers' this afternoon. Percy Grainger, soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra, will be the especial guest. Among those pouring will be Mrs. Upham's sister, Mrs. Frederick H. Smith III. of South Orange, N. J., who is visiting Mrs. Upham; Mrs. James C. Ames and her sister, Mrs. Bowman C. Lingle, Mrs. Marx E. Oberndorfer, Mrs. Norman S. Parker, Mrs. John F. Stacey, and Mrs. Ernest B. Zeisler.

Miss Virginia Howlett, secretary of the welfare department of the Association of Junior Leagues of America, will speak at a general meeting of the Chicago Junior league at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Drake hotel.

Adviser to Ethiopia Will Lecture Today.

The League of Nations association will hear a lecture by Pitman B. Potter, legal adviser to the Ethiopian government, at 12:30 o'clock today at the Union League club. Dr. Potter, who is the only American member of the official league commission investigating the origins of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute, will speak on "Behind Geneva Headlines." Luncheon will be served.

Mrs. Elliott Donnelley, Mrs. Francis Huffman, Miss Betty Seabury, Miss Margaret Huth, and Mrs. Richard H. Uhlemann are among the 18 alumnae of Dana Hall who are entertaining at luncheon today at the Union League club for Miss Katherine Warren, their former schoolmate. Miss Warren is playing the leading feminine rôle opposite Walter Hampden in his current production of "Cyrano de Bergerac."

Mayor and Mme. Ferdinand Hirigoyen of Biarritz, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin J. Rosenthal here and in Florida, have gone to Washington, D. C., where they will be guests of the French ambassador before sailing for France.

Miss Helen Taylor has returned from Guatemala, where she spent several months visiting cousins who are associated with an archæological expedition from Columbia university.

Jabez Dean Hammonds in North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Jabez Dean Hammond II. and their children, Marcia and Gertrude, are spending six weeks in Tryon, N. C., where they have a house. Mrs. Hammond is the former Marcia Prendergast of Wheaton.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hutchins have gone to Boca Grande, Fla., with their daughters, Miss Barbara and Miss Margaret Hutchins. It is Miss Margaret's spring vacation from St. Timothy's school, Catonsville, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Macdonald [Jane Copthorne] are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son on March 12, who has been named Copthorne for his mother's family. Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald have taken a house in Ravinia.

Frock Has Wealth of Chic

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Grace is an outstanding feature of this attractive frock which is amazingly simple to sew. There are many details of chic, but none of them is difficult to achieve. The neckline is high, in scarf effect, and modish buttons accent the shoulderline. The belt is softly tied and draped and pert patch pockets contribute charm to the plain skirt. The cape sleeves are easy to make, and even if you prefer long sleeves there are no bothersome armholes to be fitted.

Plain or printed silk is attractive for wear this spring. This model is admirably suited to the summer season, too, and will be comfortably cool in novelty cottons or linens.

Style No. 2676 is designed for sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material, with 2¼ yards of 4 inch ribbon for the belt.

Puts Character First in U. S. Defense Plans

State P.-T. A. Head Speaks at Patriotic Rally.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Warning parents against making the home only a filling station in front of a garage, Mrs. Arthur R. Williams of Normal urged the need for character building in children yesterday afternoon before four hundred members of the Illinois Department of the American Legion auxiliary in the Congress hotel. Mrs. Williams is president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers.

"Coöperation between organizations interested in youth is absolutely vital," Mrs. Williams stressed in beginning her fifteen minute address which met with prolonged applause. "And what we must work for is the building of character from the cradle."

Quoting historical examples Mrs. Williams pointed out that character means honesty, industry, and courage. "If we were more careful in building character, we would have finer men in public office," Mrs. Williams continued. "Adults must be models for their children. They are on exhibition every hour they are with their boys and girls. Parents must devote themselves to their homes."

Mrs. Williams was preceded at the afternoon session of the annual patriotic conference of the Legion auxiliary by Mrs. Malcolm Douglas of Seattle, Wash., chairman of national defense for the national organization of the auxiliary.

"Let us get the peace movement out in the open," Mrs. Douglas urged. "Let us examine the leadership. Much of it is propaganda in the ostensible cause of peace . . . from enemies rather than friends of the republic.

"I do not mean to say that all pacifists are working under the veil of communism. The great majority of the church groups and the women's clubs interested in the peace movement are sincere, but I fear that many of these fine people are being misled. Idealistic and patriotic groups have the same goal . . . peace . . . and they must get together as sincere fellow Americans. We can only have a peaceful America by having a reasonably well armed America."

Mrs. William Glenn Suthers, president of the Illinois department of the auxiliary, presided over the afternoon session and the dinner in which it came to a close. The dinner was addressed by Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the Big Ten conference, and Homer Chaillaux, chairman of Americanism for the American Legion.

The American people have not yet lost their character, courage, and self-reliance—and will not revert to the old idea that the people are the servants of the state, Maj. Griffith declared.

"We have always fought our own battles, we have always carved out our own destinies, and we have never—for any length of time—leaned on the government," he continued.

He warned that there are those in government who want to change the rules so that only incompetents can win.

"Tugwell, Wallace, Roosevelt, and some of the others do not like competition," Maj. Griffith asserted.

"When dictators talk about social justice, or the abundant life, and propose that the people sacrifice some of their liberties for economic and social security, the people are likely to lose their liberties, but they never obtain the promised security."

N. Y. Expert to Describe North American Dinosaurs

Dr. Barnum Brown, curator of vertebrate paleontology at the American Museum of Natural History, New York, will describe dinosaurs that lived in North America 120 million years ago in a lecture tomorrow afternoon at Field Museum of Natural History. The lecture will be illustrated and free. Children will not be admitted.

Benefit Party to Aid Shut-Ins Happy Success

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

From breakfast time yesterday until the small hours of the night, friends and members of the Vocational Society for Shut-ins visited Huyler's restaurant in the Palmolive building for meals, for cocktails, for bridge, for dancing at an all-day benefit sponsored by the society.

"Call it a day," as the large benefit was titled, stretched out into "call it a night" as well, for after dinner, which was served at 8 o'clock, the main corridors in the building were closed off and those dining in nearby rooms danced in the additional space.

Today Mrs. Royden J. Keith, Mrs. Earle J. Zimmerman and Mrs. Walter S. Ross, general chairmen of the benefit, as well as all the various committee heads, will be congratulated on running such a successful party. Mrs. Daniel Peterkin Jr. had charge of the bridge tables, which were placed in shops on the second floor; Mrs. Frank M. Gordon had charge of the candy sales, and Mrs. John R. Hurley Jr. was in charge of the bar.

The luncheon and bridge party was one of the most popular events of the day, possibly because of the attractive prizes offered to the winners at each table. Among the prizes were evening bags, lingerie, kitchenware, glassware, linens, hats, china, decanters, tomato juice, soup, assorted liquors, and even a ticket that is good for a series of reducing treatments.

Many of those who came for luncheon and bridge had cocktails first in a smart new cocktail lounge on the ground floor. Mrs. Hurley, Mrs. William A. Little [Dorothy Dickinson], her sister, Mrs. Gilbert H. Robinson [Alice May Dickinson], and Miss Barbara Fortune were a smart quartet there before going upstairs. Mrs. Denis E. Sullivan Jr. and Mrs. Roy Flannery enjoyed a cocktail before going into luncheon on the main floor, where they found Mrs. Flannery's sister, Miss Phyllis Walsh, lunching with the Countess Potocka [Gloria Griffiths].

Fred Astaire Settles Dispute with Studio; Ready to Start Film

Hollywood, Cal., March 26.—[Special.]—Fred Astaire today composed his differences with Radio-R.K.O. studio and announced he would report for film work. Astaire will again have Ginger Rogers as his partner in a new film, "Never Gonna Dance." There will be no changes in the studio staf handling the film.

Astaire won his insistence that he need appear in only two films during the coming year, when his contract will expire, instead of four.

The movies made by Astaire and Miss Rogers have been the chief profit makers for Radio-R.K.O. studio for the last two years. Astaire draws a percentage and the reduction of his schedule is reported to cut his income.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Family Needs Furniture.

A case worker in one of the north side districts has requested assistance for the G. family. It consists of the parents and five children, and they are living on an extremely small budget. Their present living quarters consist of several cramped furnished rooms, and a move to another location would better them financially and physically. They have found other living quarters, but have absolutely no furniture other than three beds and a stove. Chairs, a table, dressers, curtains, linen, dishes, and utensils will be appreciated, and the case worker will arrange transportation if the distance is not too great.

Teach Child to Be Natural About His Body

Enforced Modesty Is Usually False.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

A combination of complete naturalness about his body and respect for such a marvelously contrived and functioning mechanism, added to knowledge about it, is part of a child's education.

A boy or girl can be so brought up, so permeated by this attitude that he or she never knows the sense of shame that is developed in some children because their parents themselves feel it, or because they want to inculcate the virtue of modesty.

It's not only nakedness that they are trained not to be natural about, but the normal functions of the body. These feelings are not real modesty but false modesty, and seldom go hand in hand with the respect for and intelligence about their bodies that I spoke of.

Also, some parents are afraid that this naturalness and freedom about their bodies that it is so normal for children to feel will prove embarrassing to them or to other people.

During the early years this sort of situation is quite within the mother's or nurse's control. And when a child gets older it takes care of itself. Oddly enough, boys and girls seem to acquire a sense of the conventions without being told. They will show all the reserve one could desire when not among their family—or upon any other necessary occasion.

Part of the respect and naturalness I mention depends upon a child knowing the correct names of the parts and functions of the body. Many parents admit they do not know them themselves.

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"A Vocabulary of Names of the Parts of the Body" and other booklets are listed and described in our sex education booklet which will be sent out on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

'Realistic' Attitude Toward History Urged by Mrs. Roosevelt

New York, March 26.—[Special.]—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today advised 1,700 girl students of Washington Irving High school to study history "realistically" and "not always believe your country is right."

"You'll love your country just as much," Mrs. Roosevelt said, "the same as you love your parents."

Blossom Fete in Michigan Opens May 3

Queen Will Be Selected on April 22.

Benton Harbor, Mich., March 26.—[Special.]—The Southwestern Michigan Blossom festival, first of Chicagoland's yearly spectacles and unofficial opener for the Michigan tourist and resort season, will be held May 3 to 10 at Benton Harbor and St. Joseph.

Selection of the blossom queen will be made at the Liberty theater, Benton Harbor, on Wednesday, April 22. Thirty or more cities in western and southern Michigan each send a girl to compete for this honor.

The floral parade on Saturday afternoon, May 9, is the climax of the festival. This year's parade is to be of new design and character, according to the festival executive committee. Other features of the week include the springtime music festival, which will run for three nights; the annual coronation ball for the blossom queen, the children's day program with a juvenile parade and a children's ball, and the Night of Knights carnival parade on Friday evening.

A number of new features are being considered for this year, including an extensive tour of middle western cities for the queen and her maids of honor, and a large air circus at the Benton Harbor airport.

The Blossom festival is timed to come when blossoms are out on the hundreds of square miles of fruit lands in Berrien and Van Buren counties, which form one of the richest agricultural regions in the United States.

The festival advertises the fruit crop, which comes into bearing during the strawberry season the first of June, and lasts until November.

The time to take precautions - is when your general resistance is low!
This spring, instead of waiting until common ills bother you, do everything in your power to build good general resistance.
Right now is a time of great risk for these conditions. All winter you've been drawing heavily upon your physical reserve. You've probably worked too hard, exercised too little, had insufficient sunshine.
Don't wait until you're affected by seasonal ills. Take steps at once to build up your general resistance. Begin with Adex!
Adex, in either tablet or capsule form, provides you with an abundance of Vitamin A, the vitamin which is known to be a help in building good general resistance. Each Adex capsule supplies not less than 6,600 units.
With Adex tablets or capsules, you also obtain Vitamin D, which you may require from some source other than sunshine at this inclement time of year.
For best results with Adex, take it regularly. It's the day-in-and-day-out use that counts.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Tallahassee, Fla., March 26.—The Cubs this afternoon waited until two were out in the ninth before losing their third straight game to the New York Giants, 7 to 6, a setback which caused the champions to drop the six game series, 4 to 2.

Manager Grimm in the late phases of the game elected to try out two of the young men whom his scouts discovered. It appeared that one of them, Ken Weafer, who hasn't pitched an inning all spring, might get away with something. In fact, he had the Giants licked, 6 to 2, going in the ninth. Thereafter, however, Ken and Johnny Hutchings supported the earlier contention that the said Cub scouts enjoyed last year's pennant race, but, aside from cheering the Cubs, did little else which will help the team in their efforts to repeat.

Henshaw Pitches Well.

The Cubs hadn't expected to win the game in the first place, but some stellar work by Roy Henshaw, with batting support which featured a home run with two on by Phil Cavarretta and a single with the bases full by Gabby Hartnett, had the Giants in arrears from the second inning until the blowoff. Weafer, too, had been surprisingly good during his first three innings as successor to Henshaw. He held the Giants to a scratch infield single during that span. Then came the ninth inning blowup, and Hutchings' nervous appearance in a relief rôle.

The Cubs now are a .500 ball club in spring competition with major league opposition. In addition to winning two and losing four to the Giants, they have won two and lost one against the White Sox, won two from the Pirates, and lost one to the Cleveland Indians.

After each side had gone out in order in the first inning the Giants scored the first run before anybody was out in the second inning. Leiber doubled over third and scored on

WHITE SOX PILE UP 22-2 SCORE AGAINST BISBEE

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bisbee, Ariz., March 26.—[Special.]—It won't be long now before the White Sox will be able to give the home constituents a clew to what may happen when they and seven other American league teams take up serious work April 14. Thus far the indications are that not much of consequence will happen, at least as far as the Chicagoans are concerned, but this doesn't necessarily mean disaster. It merely means they have only a slender chance to improve on their fifth place rating of last season.

The penultimate of the "breather" series against nondescript opposition was run off in the mile high atmosphere here today, the major leaguers winning with consummate ease, 22 to 2. Another piece of this same variety of entertainment will be put on tomorrow at El Paso, after which the spring program will be made up exclusively of 13 games with the Pirates and three with the Cubs. These 16 affairs should furnish the aforementioned clew.

Appling Only Sox .300 Hitter.

Manager Jim Dykes has been so busy figuring how to get nine men good enough for regular employment that he probably hasn't given much thought to the possible hitting power of the team. If he has thought about it at all the conclusion undoubtedly has been unpleasant. On a basis of last season's figures there is only one .300 hitter in the pack. That's Luke Appling. Catcher Frank Grube is credited with .360, but that is slightly phoney because it represents only the dozen or more games he played with the Sox whom he joined late in the season after being discarded by Hornsby's Browns.

However, there is another way of sizing up the possible hitting situation. The absence of .300 hitters naturally is something to think about, but on the other hand the Sox are sure to be well fixed with fellows able to keep themselves bunched in the territory between .275 and .295. That means a fairly dangerous attack. In addition there is a possibility that some of the 1935 marks may be improved. Zeke Bonura, if he is as good as his salary demands indicate, will rise well over his .295 of last season.

Kreevich May Turn Trick.

Still another possible candidate for the .300 set is Mike Kreevich, who is billed for the right field job until Haas is relieved from first base duty by the arrival of Bonura. Haas then will go to right and Kreevich to center. Kreevich, a good hitter in the minors, is an experienced player, so shouldn't be scared to death, as many are, by big league employment.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 26.—[Special.]—One quarter million people will run the gamut from fervent hope to disappointment tomorrow at Aintree in England, where the 98th annual Grand National steeplechase will be decided. . . . No horse race in America attracts the attention that fans throughout the world focus on this historic event. . . . This universal interest is traceable largely to the Irish Hospital sweepstakes, to which $12,455,810 was subscribed this year and from which holders of lucky tickets will receive $7,268,770.

The Grand National is the severest test of stamina in racing. . . . In the 97 Grand Nationals run to date, 2,243 horses have gone to the post and only 722 have finished. . . . Bookmakers have standing odds of 5 to 1 against any horse finishing. . . . The distance is four miles and 856 yards, twice around the Aintree course, over 30 obstacles. . . . It is a race for 5 year olds and up and the purse to the winner is approximately $25,000.

Of the 97 winners, all but 25 have been aged horses, that is, eight years old or over. . . . The average age of the last 20 winners is 8 years and 10 months. . . . The average starting price of the last 25 winners is 22 to 1. . . . No horse has won the Grand National three times. . . . Only six have won it twice, Peter Simple in 1849 and 1853; Abd El Kader in 1850 and 1851; The Lamb in 1868 and 1871; The Colonel in 1869 and 1870; Manifesto in 1897 and 1899, and Poethlyn in 1918 and 1919. . . . Only three owners, Capt. Machell and Sir Charles Assheton-Smith, have had three winners and ten have had two. . . . The champion Grand National jocky was George Stevens, a professional whose record of five victories around 1870 has never been equaled. . . . He died of a fractured skull when thrown from a saddle horse while cantering along a lane. . . .

The first Grand National was run on Feb. 26, 1839, with 17 starters. . . . Capt. Becher was up on Conrad, the favorite, a proved jumper owned by Capt. Childe of the king's army. . . . At the first water jump, a small brook which crosses the course just before the first turn and again in the back stretch, Conrad, well up in front, crashed into the barrier, bounded back and left Capt. Becher to continue on over the fence in full flight. . . . The captain landed head first in the brook and immortality. . . . For thereafter the obstacle, one of the most difficult on the course, has been designated as Becher's brook. . . .

The largest field was that of 1929, the year conditions were changed to reduce the number of starters. . . . Sixty-six went to the post and ten finished with Greglach the winner at 100 to 1. . . . The smallest field was ten in 1883, when six finished. . . . The largest number of finishers was 17 in 1870, when 23 started. . . .

The smallest number of finishers was in 1928 when only two of the 42 starters reached the judges' stand. . . . Rain and a heavy mist made visibility so poor spectators had no idea what was going on until Tipperary Tim, the winner, and Billy Barton, the American owned jumper, burst out of the fog past the finish line. . . . The record jump was made by Chandler, the 1848 winner, who was discovered by Capt. Peel pulling a cheese and bacon peddler's wagon. . . . His leap over a water hazard swollen by a cloudburst measured 39 feet from hoof print to hoof print. . . .

In 1885 bookmakers faced ruination if Zoedone, the favorite, won. . . . The mare was closely guarded and left the paddock in excellent condition. . . . At the post, Count Kinsky, owner and rider, noticed a spot of blood on her nose. . . . On the second time around she collapsed and veterinarians found traces of poison. . . . DE PAUL DEFEATS GOPHERS, 36-30, IN OLYMPIC TRIAL

De Paul defeated Minnesota, 36 to 30, in the first game of the interdistrict Olympic basketball trials at the 132d Regiment armory last night. A victory for the Blue Demons in the second game of the series tonight will earn them the privilege of representing the midwest in the Olympic finals at New York next week.

The Gophers, displaying a greatly improved brand of ball, ran up a 14 to 10 lead midway in the opening period, but were unable to withstand De Paul's counter attack. The Blue Demon's held a 23 to 20 lead at half time.

Roscoe Breaks Loose.

Minnesota's strong first half showing was due directly to a brilliant exhibition of one handed shooting by George Roscoe, stocky forward, who dropped in four field goals during the period.

Scoring honors for the game went to Nick Yost, De Paul center, who dropped in six field goals for 12 points. It was largely due to his efforts that De Paul overcame Minnesota's first half lead. In the rally that put the Blue Demons back in front Yost collected three of his six baskets.

De Paul Starts Fast.

After five minutes of play in the first period the Blue Demons held a 10 to 2 advantage. Then Roscoe started a Gopher drive with a pair of fields goals, and the visitors soon were ahead, 14 to 10. This advantage was short-lived, however, as Wendt sank a basket from near midcourt and Yost connected to tie the score. Campion made a free throw on Roscoe's foul, giving De Paul a lead which it never relinquished.

Early in the final period the Blue Demons ran their advantage to 33 to 24, but a pair of baskets in quick succession by Jones narrowed the gap. Yost scored from the side and Adams added a free throw to run the count to 36 to 27. Jones' free throw and Wallbloom's basket in the final minute of play ended the scoring.

82 Vanderbilt Horses Romp About Estate

BY FRENCH LANE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baltimore, Md., March 26.—The Aga Khan, who until now has owned the largest racing stable in the world, had better fold up his tent and move away silently, for his distinctive position soon will be held by Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, youngest turf man of prominence in America.

Early this morning Vanderbilt showed a group of visitors at picturesque Sagamore farm, which nestles in Worthington valley, 18 miles from here, why he thinks he has the Aga Khan on the run.

It was the busiest day of the training season at Sagamore. The sun was shining brightly. Buds were bursting and birds, just in from the southland, were chattering loudly. The training track, surrounded by its red and white striped buildings, for the first time this year was in perfect condition.

82 Horses in Training.

There, between the hours of 5:30 and 11 a. m. today, galloped 82 horses which Vanderbilt has in training. Never before has an American owner looked upon that many of his own steeds going through their training paces. They came out on the track in a seemingly endless parade, each one led by a darky and ridden by a capable exercise boy or a jocky.

It was difficult to tell which one in the small group watching these horses was the owner.

Twenty-two year old Vanderbilt, the most eligible bachelor in the world today with the exception of England's King Edward VIII., was happily mingling with the stable boys and jockies. Clad in what was frankly a poorly pressed suit of tweeds, a blue flannel shirt and suede jacket, he was not above kidding Sam Renick, one of his jockies, on a rumor of the jocky's avowed intention of getting married as soon as an opportunity was provided.

Large Staf on Hand.

The process of training the horses went off with precision. Yet during it all it was unusual to observe the friendliness that existed between Vanderbilt and this group in whose hands rest the destinies of this largest of all racing stables.

The group of employés included 31 exercise boys, five jockies, 35 colored grooms, Trainer Bud Stotler and his assistant, Charley Slade, a veterinarian, and a score of handy men who could perform any chores the boss might order.

The 2 year olds, headed by Airflame, holder of the world record for three furlongs which he ran in 33 seconds at Santa Anita, came out to take another lesson in how to conduct themselves when they appear on the race tracks during the eastern season

TORONTO BEATS BOSTON, 8 TO 6; WINGS WIN, 3-0

TORONTO, March 26.—(AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs, smashing one of the strongest defenses in the National Hocky league with an astonishing display of power, tonight defeated the Boston Bruins, 8 to 3, to oust that team from the Stanley cup playoffs.

The Leafs won the two-game, total goals round, 8 to 6, having been shut out, 3 to 0, by the Bruins in the opening game Tuesday.

A crowd of 14,000 roared its approval as the Leafs laced in six goals in the second period after Boston had taken a one goal lead in the first. Charley Conacher got two goals while Clancy, Horner, Harvey Jackson, and Boll got one each in that surge. Eddie Shore, Bruin player and considered to be the most outstanding defense man in the league, was sitting in the penalty box while the furious rally took place.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Chicago's 1935-1936 National Hocky league season came to a hair raising, if sorry, conclusion at the Chicago Stadium last night when the New York Americans took the third place series of the Stanley Cup merry-go-round by a score of 7 to 5. By one of those ironic twists of hocky's world series mathematics, the Chicagoans won the second game proper, 5 to 4, but since the Americans had scored three goals to the Hawks' none in the first game at New York last Tuesday, the New Yorkers were the victors on the basis of total goals for the two contests.

It was the first time in seven years that the Americans had even come this far in the playoffs, and their battle against Toronto in the opening of the semi-finals on the Leafs' ice tomorrow night will be their first semi-final showing in history. None of the 9,000 Hawk mourners who attended last night's obsequies will deny that the visitors, long the doormats of the league, played hocky almost as inspired as that of the Hawks. They protected their advantage from start to finish with superb defensive work.

March Starts Scoring.

It had to be superb, for the Hawks have never tried harder to win a hocky match. Half way through the first period Mush March scored, making the series tally, 3 to 1. The Americans, taking advantage of the Hawks' concentrated offensive play, twice swept down to beat Mike Karakas in the same period.

The second period saw the Chicago zeal twice rewarded on goals by March and Big Earl Seibert, making the series count, 5 to 3, but little Eddie Wiseman of the Americans stole the puck in the last minute of the period and made it 6 to 3 for the New Yorkers.

Schriner Joins In.

Sweeny Schriner, the Americans' league leading scorer, then had his fling in the third period, and it was 7 to 3, but the Hawks came back to frighten Goalie Roy Worters of the visitors on two goals by Doc Romnes and Seibert. That rally was too late, however, for only a minute and a half remained to play, and it may now be set down that the series

82 HORSES ROMP AT VANDERBILT RACING ESTATE

Doesn't Expect to Win Derby.

There were thirty-eight in this group of 2 year olds. Most of them have never started. Following them on the track were twenty-eight 3 year olds, the best of which is Postage Due. Mr. Vanderbilt does not expect to win the Derby, however, for none of them is "quite of Derby or championship caliber," he says.

The last to gallop onto the track was the champion of them all, Discovery, the 5 year old which, although he failed to win the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap, still is, in Vanderbilt's estimation, the greatest horse in America.

Discovery wasn't being keyed up for a big event. He was unwinding. He is enjoying a vacation on Sagamore farm. He won't come back to the turf until midsummer. The Suburban handicap in New York is one of his objectives. The Arlington handicap in Chicago is another.

Race followers everywhere are anxious to know what some of those 38 Vanderbilt 2 year olds can do. And Vanderbilt was still wondering about it himself after he had watched them go through their drills today.

"Have you a 2 year old that can beat Airflame?" he was asked. "None has done it yet," was his reply.

Impressed By Others

Still he seemed to be particularly impressed by the way Off Time, Savage, Gay Balco, Stand In, Pipe Dream, Tedious and Prevaricator moved along when it was their turn to be tested for speed.

When the 38 Vanderbilt 2 year olds were tested for speed as yearlings last fall Airflame, the world record holder, didn't step as fast as several of the others. But when he was sent out against those that had worked faster he invariably beat them in slower time. "That showed us that Airflame was a great horse," Vanderbilt remarked.

Airflame doesn't have the looks of a great horse. He is too small to begin with; his hind legs are not any too straight, yet he moves about in his drills in long graceful strides. During the early part of the eastern season he is likely to beat most any juvenile sent against him.

Vanderbilt is for giving this colt a rest in order to let him grow. However, there are rich stakes to be won between now and Aug. 1, and young Vanderbilt, in addition to the fact that he gets a lot of fun out of his horses and the races they run, conducts his big stable in a businesslike way. He wants it to show a profit at the end of each year.

Does he bet?

The biggest wager he made last year was five dollars, he said.

"And I probably won't bet more than five dollars on any horse I run this year," he added.

Vanderbilt gives the impression that winning money is not the thrill he gets out of racing.

"I just like to see my own horse come home in front," he said.

To keep 82 horses in training costs the young sportsman about $500 a day.

TOBIN TO MEET STRONGBOW ON MARIGOLD MAT

Farmer Jack Tobin, bewhiskered heavyweight wrestler from Brighton, Mass., and Jules Strongbow, Broken Arrow, Okla., Indian, will meet in the main event of the wrestling show tonight at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. They will wrestle for one fall, with a 60 minute time limit.

A strong supporting card includes encounters between Ray Richards, Chicago Bears football player, and Lou Plummer, Waukegan, Don Koch, Milwaukee, and Andy Rascher, and Buckets Goldenberg, Milwaukee wrestler, and Jack Zeravich, Chicago.

Vincent Pellegrini, west side lightweight, will clash with Homer Williams of the south side in a five round amateur contest tonight at Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street. Charles Manna will oppose Frank McBride, Charles O'Connor will face James Brown, and Harry Frederickson will meet Frank Klotz in three of six other matches.

200,000 to See English Grand National Today

LONDON, March 26.—[Special.]—Thousands of Londoners today were beginning their annual exodus to Aintree, Liverpool, site of the Grand National steeplechase which is to be run tomorrow.

On this day sport is supreme in the realm of Edward VIII. Close to 200,000, many who ordinarily would not cross the street to see a horse race, are lured by the glamor of the Grand National, and will be gathered tomorrow morning around the 2¼ mile Aintree course, which is covered twice during the race.

Outsider Can Win.

The majority of those who have tickets in the sweepstakes are likely to be disappointed, for often an outsider wins the race. It is estimated that at least 8,000,000 betters are holding sweeps tickets on this year's race in England alone.

Dorothy Paget's 1934 winner, Golden Miller, which dashed the hopes of thousands last year by falling just beyond Valentine's brook, again is the favorite this year. The Miller was quoted at 4 to 1 in the last call over, and Maj. Noel Furlong's Reynoldstown, 1935 winner, was quoted at 7 to 1.

Avenger Is at 9 to 1.

Among others of the favorite entries remaining on the list today are: Mrs. Violet Mundy's Avenger, 9 to 1; G. H. [Pete] Bostwick's Castle Irwell, at 100 to 7; Lord Roseberry's Keen Blade at 100 to 6; J. B. Snow's Delaneige, 20 to 1; Lady Lindsay's Blue Prince and G. Beeby's Brienz, 33 to 1.

Castle Irwell, which will be ridden by his owner, Pete Bostwick, and Delaneige are the leading American owned candidates. Double Crossed, Royal Ransom, and Rod and Gun, all owned by J. H. Whitney, and Jesse Metcalf's Kiltoi are the other American entries.

Reynoldstown Loses Support.

Reynoldstown, reported to dislike hard turf, and minus the rider who guided him to victory last year, Frank Furlong, has lost considerable support, while Avenger, winner of his last three races, hasn't proved his ability to go the long route required in the Grand National.

That leaves Golden Miller as first choice in the race, and the general opinion is that any horse which can beat Miss Paget's great jumper is sure to win.

LITTLE NINETEEN SWIM MEET TO BE HELD TODAY

Record breaking performances are expected today as approximately 100 swimmers from eleven colleges compete in Naperville for the ninth annual Little Nineteen conference championship.

Illinois college, defending champion, with 15 entries, is expected to receive its stiffest competition from Bradley, second place winner last year, Illinois Wesleyan and St. Viator. Other schools to be represented are Monmouth, Knox, Macomb Teachers, North Central, Wheaton, Millikin, and Augustana.

Although new marks were set in six of the seven swimming events last year, only the 100 yard backstroke and the 200 yard free style relay records appear safe. Illinois college and Illinois Wesleyan swimmers have bettered existing marks for the 50, 100 and 200 yard free style events, as well as the 100 yard breast stroke and 150 yard medley relay in meets this spring.

Time, 1:38. Two dollar mutuels paid: Brown Feathers, $18.30 straight, $6.50 place, $7.00 show; Lady Higloss, $4.40 place, $5.10 show; Bird Flower, $8.40 show. Winner, b. f., 4, by Brown Bud-War Feathers. Owner, Mrs. Emil Denemark. Trainer, B. S. Mitchell. Start good. Won driving, place same.

BROWN FEATHERS, showing a remarkable reversal, moved up with a rush turning out of back stretch, came around field, took lead entering stretch and held on well. LADY HIGLOSS handled her weight well and made a game effort. BIRD FLOWER ran a good race. HAPPY HELEN on the inside all the way. HOLLYHOCK ran a disgraceful race. She lacked speed and failed to close any ground.

SEVENTH RACE—One mile and a sixteenth, 3 year olds. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $525; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, 1:47. Two dollar mutuels paid: Stealth, $4.50 straight, $2.60 place, $2.20 show; Far Cry, $2.80 place, $2.20 show; Count Me, $2.20 show. Winner, b. c., 3, by Dunlin-Little Fox. Owner, R. W. Collins. Trainer, R. W. Collins. Start good.

STEALTH ran good race. He was in a pocket going around lower turn, finally got out and then moved up on outside, raced FAR CRY down and won going away.

EIGHTH RACE—One mile and a sixteenth, 3 year olds. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $525; second, $100; third, $50, fourth, $25.

Time, 1:47 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Entree, $13.50 straight, $4.80 place, $3.10 show; Jaber, $3.00 place, $2.30 show; Chryseis, $2.30 show. Winner, br. f., 3, by Rolled Stocking-Homebody. Owner, J. W. Parrish. Trainer, J. M. Goode.

ENTREE got away very fast, was rushed into lead, saved ground and just lasted to win. JABER trailed far back to far turn, where he moved up, and circling the field just failed to get up. CHRYSEIS was hustled along all the way but was not good enough. STUMPTOWN had speed for seven furlongs.

Poloists Fly Here Today for Tourney

The two champion polo teams of the east that will meet the pick of the west in the national indoor tournament starting tomorrow night, will board a plane this afternoon and land at the Municipal Airport tonight at 9:25 o'clock.

The TWA plane, christened the "Indoor Polo Special," will carry stars of the Squadron C and Fort Hamilton trios who will meet the Cleveland Riding club and Shamrocks, respectively, tomorrow evening in the first of their three game series for the national titles in the junior and Sherman cup classes.

Eastern Ponies Arrive.

The string of 24 ponies to be used by the eastern teams reached here yesterday in a horse car attached to the Commodore Vanderbilt of the New York Central lines. The horses were accompanied by six grooms.

Also arriving were the Cleveland Riding club players, Nelson Newcomb, George Waibel and Ernest Stahli, who will meet Squadron C in the junior titles series. The Cleveland players, as well as Lieut. Jim McAnulty, Capt. Les Ireland and Lieut. Chris Schuh of the Shamrocks, will take their final warmup practice this afternoon at the armory arena.

Players Reach Peak Form.

The practice schedule calls for light workouts, since the players are at their peak after winning western titles in their division. The same condition applies to the mounts they will ride.

Making the air trip to Chicago from New York will be Capt. Milton Kornblum, Carl Pflug and Jack Pflug, the Squadron C players; Col. J. R. Howlett, commanding officer, and Capt. R. L. Dulaney, Capt. C. W. Westlund and Capt. W. G. Stephenson, who will ride in the order named for Fort Hamilton.

KNOX, BURMAN CLASH TONIGHT IN STADIUM RING

Heavyweights to Appear in 8 Round Windup.

The Card

Buddy Knox vs. Red Burman [8].
Harry Thomas vs. Curtis Scott or Harry Nelson [6].
Johnny Erjavec vs. Joe Lipps [6].
Bob Tow vs. Lou Janek [6].
Eddie Boyle vs. Bobby Kraft [6].
Max Zona vs. Packey Gardner [6].
Bud Schildknecht vs. Jimmy Slavin [4].

The quest for a future opponent for Joe Louis will be resumed tonight at Chicago Stadium with Buddy Knox and Clarence [Red] Burman matched to meet in the eight round windup bout of the heavyweight boxing tournament being conducted by Matchmakers James C. Mullen and Nate Lewis.

Knox, Dayton, O., standard bearer, and his red head rival from Baltimore, Md., two of the youngest candidates in the meet, have made the most progress thus far.

Buddy has scored six additional victories since he made his tournament debut Jan. 10 by whipping Izzy Singer. The 19 year old fighter has put on more than ten pounds of muscle since that time. In addition he displayed improvement in each contest. He weighed 192½ pounds for his latest battle, a four round knockout of Phil Sommese March 13.

Marching Club Forms.

Burman also has attracted a legion of backers by fine work in previous Chicago appearances. Most of these enthusiasts joined the Burman cheering brigade after his last fight at the Stadium Feb. 21. On that occasion he decisively trounced a big favorite in Billy Treest, 1934 Golden Gloves middleweight champion.

However, Burman, nominally a heavyweight, actually is a light heavyweight. He never has weighed more than 180 pounds. Against Hank Bath, whom he wipped in ten rounds Feb. 14, he scaled 178½. He was at the light heavyweight limit of 175 against Treest. In his most recent start, March 23, when he defeated Billy Ketchell at Baltimore, Burman tipped the beam at 178¼.

Red's Camp Is Uneasy.

The only uneasiness apparent in the Burman camp yesterday was a belief that the bout had been cut from ten rounds to eight for the benefit of Knox.

North and South Golf Meet Postponed by Rain

Pinehurst, N. C., March 26.—[Special.]—The final 36 holes of the $4,000 North and South open golf tournament, scheduled for today, were postponed until tomorrow by a rainstorm.

CARDINALS WHIP TIGERS, 8 TO 5, ON BIG SIXTH INNING

Champions Fall Apart as Four Runs Score.

Bradenton, Fla., March 26.—(AP)—A wild rookie pitcher and two errors brought the downfall of the champion Detroit Tigers in an exhibition game today as the St. Louis Cardinals scored four runs in the sixth to win, 8 to 5.

After five innings the score was tied. When the Cardinals went to bat in the sixth, York fumbled a bunt. Don French, Detroit relief pitcher, then filled the bases on a walk and hit batsman. Two runs scored as Walker dropped a fly. Two more Cardinal runners moved into scoring position on a wild pitch. Collins then singled to center to send the other two runs home.

OAK PARK WINS FIRST GAME IN Y. M. C. A. MEET

Peoria, Ill., March 26.—(AP)—Teams from Kansas City, Mo., and Buffalo, N. Y., won their way into the second round as play opened in the international Y. M. C. A. basketball tournament today.

Kansas City defeated Muncie, Ind., 44 to 23, while Buffalo downed Corbin, Ky., 40 to 29. Oak Park, Ill., led by Heike, who counted 14 points, eliminated Lincoln, Neb., 42 to 23. Oak Park built up a 16 to 4 lead in the first half and was never threatened.

In other games Denver, Colo., led by Bob Gruenig, formerly of Chicago, beat Plosio, 50 to 32, and Wilmerding, Pa., crushed Stamford, Conn., 81 to 18.

KRUMSKE TRAILS DAY IN NATIONAL BOWLING SERIES

Milwaukee, Wis., March 26.—[Special.]—Ned Day of Milwaukee tonight led Paul Krumske of Chicago, 80.46 points to 70.1, at the end of the first 16 games in a national bowling elimination series. In the second block of eight games tonight Day collected 1,790 pins to Krumske's 1,642. For 16 games the totals are: Day, 3,421, and Krumske, 3,276.

Midwest Table Tennis Tourney Opens Tonight

Hawks Ousted from Playoffs by Americans

really was decided at New York on Tuesday.

The Americans had their first offensive opportunity after four minutes of play when Brydson was sentenced for charging Oliver. The Stadium's hired hands were forced onto the ice to clear off the avalanche of débris hurled in protest against this decision. Within the next five minutes the same crew was called for twice after the customers had hurled sundry missils because of the officials' rulings.

Subsequently the Hawks scored the first goal of the night, March batting the puck home from 15 feet, with Romnes, Gottselig, and Thompson drawing assists. The time was 10:30.

Americans Fight Back.

This incensed the Americans and within less than two minutes they had scored twice to make the series total 5 to 1. The Hawks were pressing savagely, leaving Karakas more or less unprotected, when first Oliver and then Jerwa swept down on Mike. The time for Oliver's score was 11:55, with Cotton and Stewart being credited with assists. Jerwa connected at 12:26, with an assist to Oliver.

That four goal lead was quite satisfactory to the Americans when they came out for the second period and they didn't unbend themselves in any offensive endeavors. For the first ten minutes the action was centered around the American cage, with many a thrilling, if futile, volley at Worters. The Americans, when they did take charge of the puck out of these frantic Chicago sorties, promptly punted to the opposite end of the rink.

Cotton Slashes Brydson.

With about six minutes to go in the second period Cotton attempted to get away with one of the boldest crimes of the season. He slashed Brydson with his stick, knocked him down, and then apparently to cover the deed up, skated over to assist the Chicagoan to his feet. This ruse failed, however, and he was given a major penalty. With this lift, the Hawks didn't take long in getting a goal, Seibert driving the puck past Worters from about 20 feet out. March and Gottselig were given assists and the time was 15:45.

The Hawks then made their most vicious onslaught of the evening. The Hawks were rewarded at 18:58, when March, after assisting maneuvers by Thompson and Romnes, blazed the puck past Worters. The Hawks continued to drive on, and were in such earnest that they were unprepared when Wiseman stole the puck and dashed down to beat Karakas in 19:42, making the series score 6 to 3.

Schriner Beats Karakas.

The Hawks fought to the final minute to cut down the three goal deficit, but the Americans fought just as hard, and when they weren't batting the puck down the ice, they were forming a human wall around Worters. They even found time to score their fourth goal of the night at 15:30, when Schriner took a pass from Jerwa and beat Karakas.

The Hawks refused to go down by four goals, and Romnes came through Chicago's fourth goal of the series on passes from March and Thompson in 16:18. Two minutes later, the Hawk customers were given further balm when Seibert beat Worters again after taking a pass from March.

LEAD IN A. B. C. MEET CHANGES IN THREE EVENTS

Indianapolis, Ind., March 26.—(AP)—The Pabst Blue Ribbon five man team of New York soared into first place in the American Bowling Congress tournament tonight with a 3,065 total. It was the third new leader in as many events.

The New Yorkers' series was 11 pins better than the total posted by the former leaders, Oak Park Motors of Chicago, and one of the highest ever rolled in A. B. C. competition.

Charles Warren, 22 year old bowler of Springfield, Ill., registered 735 to top the individual standing for the third highest singles total in tournament history. Larry Shotwell of Covington, Ky., set the all time high of 774 in the 1930 meet.

Herman Bohne and Jerry O'Grady of Indianapolis gained the two man lead with 1,303.

PAUL DEAN SIGNS HIS CONTRACT WITH CARDINALS

The signing was a formality as Dean accepted the salary offered in a telephone conversation last Sunday night with Branch Rickey, vice president of the club.

Terms, in line with St. Louis policy, were not disclosed.

EARLIER CHICAGO.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 26.—Dear Wake: Many hotels famous in the old days have passed. Once the Leland stood at Jackson and Michigan, present site of the Straus building. The Victoria was at Van Buren and Michigan; the Wellington, with Al Gage in charge, at Jackson and Wabash; the Grand Pacific, under the Drakes, at Jackson and Clark, present site of the Continental-Illinois bank.

McCoy's hotel was at Clark and Van Buren and Kuhn's, also European, on Clark near Monroe, where Frazer's restaurant also was located. Across on the west side of the street was Burcky & Milan's famous eating place, rendezvous of low salaried employés, where a full meal, including pie, was served for 15 cents.

Kinsley's fashionable restaurant was on Adams between Clark and Dearborn. Rector's, nationally known, was in the basement at the southeast corner of Monroe and Clark. Thomson's was on Dearborn near Madison. The Briggs house was at Wells and Randolph and the Old Tremont at Lake and Dearborn. The locations were about 1892. Harry W. Meltzer.

Before the Chicago fire the biggest cottonwood tree on the west side was in the back yard of Ed Orb at the southwest corner of Clinton and Monroe. Dutch Ed, as he was known, was agent for the Alton and North Western railroad lines. His little daughter was trotted on the knee of Abraham Lincoln in the Alton station on the occasion of one of the latter's visits to Chicago.

East of Des Plaines on Monroe were homes of the Pinkerton and Chalmers families, with Amberg's pop factory opposite. S. O. D.

Signs of Spring.

Brother looks at fishing rods

Isn't this a glorious spring dream?

Giants' Rally in Ninth Beats Cubs, 7 to 6

Two Singles Wasted.

Hartnett and Gill got the Cub second under way with singles, but there promptly was a fade out. Cavarretta and Hack lifted gentle flies to Moore and Jurges whiffed on a pitch that hit the dirt 3 feet in front of the plate.

The Cubs got three runs across with none out in the third. Henshaw opened with a single to left and Galan walked. Herman singled to right, Henshaw scoring and Galan reaching third. Klein walked, filling the bases. Hartnett came through with a smash off the left field wall which scored Galan and Herman. It should have been a double, but Klein became confused and held first until the ball hit the fence, then could advance only to second. Klein and Hartnett moved up on Gill's bouncer to Terry. Then Cavarretta popped to Whitehead, Hack was given an intentional pass, and Jurges again fanned.

Henshaw Leaves in Fifth.

The Giants scored their second run in the fifth on a walk to Bartell and a double by Pinch Batter Mancuso. Henshaw then retired Moore, Whitehead, and Ott, and quit work for the day.

Gabler replaced Schumacher in the Cub half of the fifth and pushed off effectively. Hartnett fanned, Gill flied to Moore, and Cavarretta rolled to Whitehead.

Weafer should have had the side out in order in the sixth. Hack threw out Leiber and Leslie popped to Hack. Jackson sent an easy grounder to Herman, but Bill made a wild throw to first. Hack fumbled Danning's bouncer, Jackson reaching second. Galan then pulled Weafer out of the mess with a running circus catch of Bartell's short liner.

Cavarretta Smashes One.

Weafer walked Leiber to start the eighth, but Leslie hit into a double play. Jackson grounded deep to Jurges and Cavarretta made a fine play for the putout.

Here is the detail of the Giants uprising in the ninth: Danning singled to center and Bartell beat out a bunt. Ripple batted for Gabler and walked on four pitches, filling the bases. Moore sent a short fly to Galan. Then Whitehead singled to left, Danning and Bartell scoring. Ott walked, again filling the bases. Then Hutchings replaced Weafer. Leiber flied to Galan. Ripple scored and Whitehead advanced on a wild pitch. Leslie doubled to right center, scoring Whitehead and Ott. Hutchings threw out Jackson.

GOLDEN GLOVES TEAM ARRIVES IN CHICAGO TODAY

Only one fighter will be missing when the team arrives in the loop. He is Jesse Robinson, flyweight alternate, who became ill in New York and was forced to remain behind. However, his condition is not serious and he will depart for home within several days.

HANK GREENBERG SIGNS CONTRACT; TERMS A SECRET

Lakeland, Fla., March 26.—(AP)—Hank Greenberg signed a contract to play first base for the world champion Detroit Tigers after along conference with club officials tonight. Terms of the contract were not announced but all parties said they were happy.

Soon after the Tigers returned from Bradenton, where they played an exhibition game, the infielder went into a conference with Manager Mickey Cochrane, owner Walter O. Briggs, and Walter O. Briggs Jr., assistant secretary-treasurer. The conference lasted two hours and 45 minutes.

Both Greenberg and the Tiger management have been tight lipped and there was no basis for an estimate of the salary the slugger will receive.

Sox Pile Up 22-2 Victory Over Bisbee

good health. He was over the .300 mark early last season, but slumped to .286 at the finish. If Luke Sewell, first string catcher, doesn't do a fair share of hitting in the first week or so of the season it is highly probable that Dykes will experiment with Grube. The latter has trained faithfully and as long as he is able to keep his weight down he'll be looked upon favorably. He's better than average at hitting for distance, which is something the Sox lack, and he owns a swell throwing arm.

Boys Love Their Base Hits.

The Sox could hardly be blamed for inflicting unnecessary punishment on the local nine this afternoon. Something had to be done about keeping warm in the snowflaked atmosphere and the desire could be accomplished only by exercise. Then, too, the boys always love their base hits even if a baby is doing the enemy pitching. Chief among the hits was a homer which Kreevich planted somewhere up on the mountain side beyond the center field fence.

Manager Dykes employed three pitchers instead of two as originally planned. The cold weather caused the change. Monty Stratton started and yielded one run and one hit in three innings. Les Tietje followed with three hitless innings. Next was Babe Phelps, who surrendered two hits and one run.

Rookie Stumpf, showing the die for dear old Rutgers spirit when the Sox had a 16 run lead in the ninth, slid into second base and twisted his ankle, but the mishap wasn't serious.

PEGGY WATTLES BEATS MRS. CREWS 1 UP ON 19TH HOLE

Augusta, Ga., March 26.—[Special.]—Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews of Miami, who has shared dominance of the women's winter golf season with young Patty Berg of Minneapolis, today met her match in slim, black haired Peggy Wattles. Miss Wattles defeated the veteran, 1 up, in 19 holes, in one of the semi-finals of the sixth annual Augusta invitational tournament.

In tomorrow's eighteen hole championship match, Miss Wattles will meet Jane Cothran of Greenville, S. C., who eliminated Edith Begg of Cleveland, O., two up, in today's other semi-final.

Miss Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., the defending champion who was defeated in the opening round by Barbara Bourne of New York and Augusta, meets Miss Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C., in the finals of the second flight tomorrow. In the semi-finals today Miss Miley defeated Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I., 4 and 3, and Miss Hemphill won from Mrs. Harold Foreman of Chicago, 6 and 5.

Women Stars Will Compete in Badminton

Two of the leading women badminton players in the world, Constance O'Donovan of Detroit and Gordy Grant of Scotland, yesterday were added to the badminton exhibition program which will be held tomorrow night at New Trier High school, Winnetka, for the benefit of Evanston junior auxiliary of the Infant Welfare society. The first match will start at 8:15 o'clock.

Sharing the spotlight with the two women players will be Jack Purcell of Toronto, world's professional champion; Joseph Noble, second ranking professional, also of Toronto; Walter Kramer of Detroit, No. 1 ranking amateur player in the United States, and Jack Cameron, Canadian amateur champion.

The program, which is directed by Mrs. Robert K. Grier, general chairman, also will include matches between young players of Chicago and several suburbs.

Noble and Purcell, the professionals, will oppose Kramer and Cameron, amateurs, in a doubles match. Purcell also will engage in two singles matches, meeting Cameron and Noble. In mixed doubles Miss O'Donovan and Kramer will meet Miss Grant and Cameron. In women's doubles Misses Grant and O'Donovan will meet Miss Ruth Long, Illinois state champion, and Mrs. George Fargo, Glencoe.

STARK OUSTED AS DARTMOUTH BASKET COACH

Hanover, N. H., March 26.—(AP)—Albert D. [Dolly] Stark, holdout National league umpire and Dartmouth varsity basketball coach since 1928, was ousted today from his college position by the Dartmouth athletic council.

William H. McCarter, college librarian, who has been acting as athletic director during the illness of Harry R. Heneage, announced that Osborne B. Cowles, a three-sport coach at State Teachers' college in River Falls, Wis., had been appointed as Stark's successor.

He came to Dartmouth as freshman basketball coach. In 1928, when he became a member of the National league officiating staf, he was appointed varsity basketball coach and an assistant professor of physical education.

Several months ago, after being voted the outstanding umpire by the National league players, Stark notified President Ford Frick that he was dissatisfied with his 1936 salary terms. Frick had several conferences with Stark, but they were unable to come to an agreement and Frick was forced to obtain another umpire to round out his 1936 staf.

Stark told Frick major league umpires received small pay for their exacting work and that he thought he could better himself in business.

WM. O. GOODMAN LEAVES ESTATE OF $1,200,000

Family Is Named Chief Beneficiary in Will.

The will of William Owen Goodman, lumberman and donor of the Goodman theater, leaving an estate of $1,200,000, was admitted to probate yesterday. Mr. Goodman died March 22 at the age of 87 in his home at 1355 Astor street. He erected the Goodman theater as a memorial to his only son, Kenneth Sawyer Goodman, who died in 1918 while serving as a naval lieutenant at Great Lakes.

Under terms of the will approximately half of the estate will go to the widow, Mrs. Erna Sawyer Goodman.

Bequests Are Listed.

St. Luke's hospital, Presbyterian hospital, the Orchestral association of Chicago and the Historical society of Chicago, $25,000 each.

Kenneth Goodman's widow, now Mrs. Marjorie Robbins Hopkins, 1530 North State street, $50,000; her two daughters, Mrs. Marjorie Goodman Dewey of South Bend, and Miss Kay Sawyer Goodman, $100,000 outright to each. Each granddaughter also will receive the income from a $200,000 trust fund. The income from the two trusts will pass to the Goodman theater on the deaths of the two granddaughters, in the event that they have no children.

Robert B. Goodman of Marinette, Wis., a nephew, $15,000, and James F. Goodman of Kansas City, another nephew, $15,000. Miss Estelle M. Goodman of Marinette, Wis., and Mrs. Margaret Smith of Winnetka, daughters of the late Charles A. Goodman, another nephew, divide $25,000.

Miss Grace D. Mills, a private secretary, $25,000; William C. Freese, a personal attendant. $5,000, and Ernest Digweed, a chauffeur, $3,000.

Julius A. Goldberg Will.

The will of Julius A. Goldberg, secretary and treasurer of O'Connor & Goldberg, shoe merchants, was also admitted to probate. Mr. Goldberg died on March 12 in Miami Beach, Fla. He was 56 years old.

His estate, after small bequests to relatives and former employés are deducted, will be used to establish a trust fund. Two-thirds of the income from the fund will go to the widow, Mrs. Josephine Goldberg, 211 Vine avenue, Highland Park, and one-third to a foster daughter, Mrs. Cecile G. Block, 5000 East End avenue.

Fred Warneke, 93, Pioneer West Side Resident, Dies

Fred Warneke, resident of the west side for 75 years and once an active figure in Republican politics, died Wednesday at his home, 422 West Marquette road. He was 93 years old. At the time of the Chicago fire Mr. Warneke was in the teaming business and hauled brick for the rebuilding of several loop structures. From 1875 until 1920 he conducted a saloon at 951 West 19th street. Surviving Mr. Warneke are three sons and three daughters. Funeral services will be held at the residence tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be in Glen Oaks cemetery.

Hold Funeral Tomorrow for Dr. M. C. Morlock, 71

Funeral services for Dr. Matthew C. Morlock, 71 years old, 4632 Prospect avenue, Downers Grove, retired Methodist minister, will be held tomorrow afternoon in the First Methodist-Episcopal church in Downers Grove. Burial will be at Naperville. Dr. Morlock died yesterday in his home. He retired four years ago. From 1924 to 1930 he was district superintendent of the church at Cincinnati. His widow, Bertha, and three children survive him.

SCHOOLS OF CITY TO CLOSE TODAY FOR BOGAN RITES

Funeral services will be held today for William J. Bogan, superintendent of Chicago public schools, who died Tuesday night. All public schools will be closed during the day.

The funeral will be held at 10 a. m. from the Bogan home at 741 Gordon terrace, with services at 10:30 o'clock in St. Mary's of the Lake church, 4200 Sheridan road. The route from the home to the church will be lined by 1,200 cadets from the Lane, Lake View, and Senn High school R. O. T. C. units.

Most of the 1,400 seats in the church have been reserved for representatives of teachers' organizations, school employés, members of the board of education and other officials, according to August H. Pritzlaff, who has charge of arrangements.

Mr. Bogan, who was 65 years old, died of heart disease following an illness of two months. He had served the Chicago school system since 1893 and had been superintendent for eight years.

Officials of the Chicago Principals' club last night announced the formation of a William J. Bogan Memorial fund, which probably will be used to establish scholarships.

DR. D. P. ABBOTT, NOTED PHYSICIAN HERE, DIES AT 52

Dr. Donald Putnam Abbott, 5600 Kimbark avenue, widely known specialist in internal medicine, died of pneumonia yesterday in the Presbyterian hospital. He was 52 years old.

Dr. Abbott was born in Brookline, Mass., a descendant of John Putnam, who came to Salem, Mass., in 1640. Dr. Abbott was graduated from the University of Chicago in 1907 and from Rush Medical college in 1910. For many years he was associate clinical professor of medicine at Rush.

During the war Dr. Abbott was a captain in the medical corps, and was stationed at a base hospital with the A. E. F. Surviving are his widow, Marion, and four children.

William W. Watkins Dies; Head of Rail Tie Company

William Wynee Watkins, 47 years old, president of the Joyce-Watkins company, dealers in railroad ties, died unexpectedly of pneumonia yesterday in a hospital at Memphis, Tenn., where he had gone on business. Mr. Watkins had been residing at the Orrington hotel, Evanston, while his wife and three daughters were spending the early spring at Pass Christian, Miss. He was a vestryman of St. Mark's Episcopal church, Evanston. Funeral services will be held at St. Mark's at a time to be announced later.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Making his first American guest appearance Wednesday evening with Harold Stokes on the W-G-N Mardi Gras of Melody, Alec Templeton, brilliant blind British pianist and composer, made a special hit with the studio audience by playing a few extra numbers after the broadcast. Alec was in his gayest mood and displayed his musical magic to the fullest. He included a lullaby which he had written when he was 4.

Alec was particularly happy because his mother was due to arrive from England yesterday to join him and his father, Andrew Templeton, who has been with Alec since they arrived last fall with Jack Hylton.

Mr. Templeton announced that he would make his second public appearance on April 5 as guest soloist with the Chicago Woman's Symphony orchestra. That is the same day that Hylton launches his new NBC commercial so it will be a busy day for Alec.

Art Tatum, blind Chicago pianist whom Alec Templeton calls "terrific," made his first appearance on a local sponsored radio program yesterday morning on the NBC Carnival hour.

Sunday evening at 11 o'clock Giovanni Martenelli, the great tenor, is to present on the Melody Master program on WMAQ a promising young baritone, Conrad Mayo. Now Conrad Mayo is none other than Chicago's operatic baritone, Mario Fiorella. Not so long ago Martinelli met him here when they both sang together in "Pagliacci" with the Chicago Opera company. Martinelli was so favorably impressed that he induced Fiorella to go to New York to continue his musical studies under Estelle Liebling.

American born, he decided to scrap his too foreign flavored name now that he is ready to try radio. In this regard he is unlike Joe Benton, the Oklahoma lad, who changed his name to Joseph Bentonelli before he joined the Chicago Opera and under that name crashed the Metropolitan last season when Richard Crooks was suddenly taken ill.

The national radio trade show and annual meeting of the Institute of Radio Service men will be opened in the grand ballroom of the Sherman hotel at 8 o'clock tonight. Meetings will be held each day and evening through Sunday. More than 75 manufacturers of radio equipment will have their products on display. Edgar C. Arnold, president of the service group, is in charge of the sessions.

Maj. Bowes' No. 1 traveling unit will open at the Oriental theater today. This is the fifth Bowes troupe to visit Chicago. . . . George Olsen and Ethel Shutta will play at the Chicago this week. Anson Weeks, who replaces them at the College inn, is to use three pianos which is causing something of a problem on the limited bandstand space at the inn. . . . Ethel Merman, singing comedienne of the stage and films, will be Ben Bernie's guest star next Tuesday evening.

◆

Lucy Gillman's mother and sister, Tony, who is in radio in New York, are here for a visit with the young radio actress who lives here with her grandmother. . . . Connie Boswell has written her first song. She calls it "Mommy" and sang it for the first time on the air with Ray Noble Wednesday evening. . . . Herbert Hoover will make his next broadcast from Fort Wayne, Ind., at 10:30 p. m. Saturday, April 4, over NBC. His subject: "Has the New Deal Solved Our National Problems?"

CHICAGO WRITER OF BEST CRIME LETTER ON AIR

New York, March 26.—[Special.]—Tom Lee Brown, 38, Chicago real estate man whose letter on "How Can We Solve the Crime Problem?" was selected by the League of Political Education as the best among 5,000, made his debut as a radio speaker at Town Hall Tonight.

Brown emphasized that in his opinion, any solution of the nation's crime problems must come from "proper education." He presented his views as those of "an average American," modestly asking his audience to consider his opinions merely those of a public interested realty man and not an expert criminologist.

The solution of the problem, he said, does not pertain to jails or police, or even directly to politics. Rather, "it's sort of sociological." The main problem is that of waking the business man and the private voter to the inroads of crime. The answer, he said, is education.

"The average citizen doesn't know what it's all about, and most of them make no effort to find out," said Brown. "Racketeering costs ten times as much as violence, yet nobody seems to do anything about it."

W. C. THOMPSON, INSURANCE MAN, DIES ON 'L' TRAIN

William Campbell Thompson, 4522 Greenwood avenue, veteran insurance representative and former manufacturer, died of heart disease yesterday on an elevated train while en route home from the loop. SHOW STEWART-WARNER PROFIT TRIPLED IN 1935

Report Says Taxes Exceed Dividends.

The Stewart-Warner corporation yesterday reported net income of $1,724,313, or $1.39 a share. This was three times the 1934 figure of $571,968, or 46 cents a share. It also was the best profit since 1929, though only about one-fourth of that year's net of $6,838,938.

J. E. OTIS JR.

"While the results of the year cannot fail to be gratifying to every one interested in the progress and welfare of this company, the rising tide of taxes must be viewed with considerable concern," said Chairman James S. Knowlson and President J. E. Otis Jr. in their joint letter to stockholders.

"Taxes amounted to $704,989 in 1935, representing an assessment of 57 cents per share of stock, an amount in excess of dividends paid. Added to these are those similar taxes included in the prices paid for material.

Taxes Twofold Handicap.

"A tax burden of this kind cuts both ways—it diminishes the income available for stockholders and necessitates higher prices, which in turn are liable to retard sales. Look at it as we may, the effect is a vicious spiral."

The sharply improved results, in the face of severe competition and rising taxes and wage rates, were possible only through united effort of all departments to increase efficiency, said the letter. Sales increased 20 per cent to $20,479,164, while the cost of sales rose from $12,597,785 in 1934 to $14,579,216.

Attention was directed to the fact that selling, administrative and general expenses were pared slightly—from $3,225,452 to $3,183,268—despite larger volume. They amounted to 14.75 per cent of sales, the lowest ratio in six years and comparing with 17.79 per cent in 1934.

Operations Are Diversified.

Progress was made in diversifying and balancing activities of the company, the report said. Sales of automotive equipment to factories increased, but profits were held down by lower prices occasioned by severe competitive conditions. The increase in sales to industrial concerns and to distributors and wholesalers was termed gratifying.

Charts incorporated in the letter show sales divided thus: 49.12 per cent to distributors, 35.75 per cent to car factories, and 15.13 per cent to industrials. More than three-fourths of gross income goes into the pay roll and for materials and freight.

Earned surplus was increased from $571,968 to $1,675,357 during the year after adding profit and deducting $620,924 for dividends of 50 cents a share, the first paid since Nov. 15, 1930.

Capital Surplus Increased.

Capital surplus was increased from $4,721,992 to $5,251,992 by a $500,000 reduction in the $1,250,000 reserve set up in 1934 against plant losses and by net recovery of $30,000 in bonuses and salaries from former officials.

Current assets totaled $8,056,535, including $2,412,188 cash, against current liabilities of $1,740,698, resulting in net working capital of $6,315,837 last Dec. 31. At the end of 1934 current assets of $6,043,179, including $1,024,084 cash, compared with $1,155,324 current liabilities, making net working capital $4,887,855.

Tribune Ships to Carry Soy Beans from Chicago

Two cargoes of soy beans have been booked for shipment from Chicago to Montreal as soon as lake navigation opens. They will be taken to Montreal by two of three of THE TRIBUNE'S ships which are now loaded with paper in Thorold, Ont., waiting to clear for Chicago as soon as ice conditions permit. The steamers are the Shelter Bay, Thorold and the New York News. The first two of the three vessels reaching Chicago will load the soy beans. The two cargoes aggregate 170,000 bushels.

ONLY POLICIES OF U. S. RETARDING RECOVERY, SAYS COMMERCE CHIEF

Lansing, Mich., March 26.—[Special.]—Only the menace of governmental meddling, competition, and excessive taxation due to unwise spending are holding back a thorough business recovery, said Harper Sibley of Rochester, N. Y., president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, who addressed a business men's meeting here today.

He listed as the chief deterring factors the unbalanced governmental budgets, the burden and threat of mounting taxation, monetary uncertainties, the practice and threat of government competition with private enterprise, and increase of burocratic control of business.

"The resources of private enterprise," said Sibley, "if opportunity is given for their full utilization, are adequate to meet the overshadowing problem of unemployment and provide a reasonable measure of social security and necessary relief. The board of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States urges upon its membership the fullest possible cooperation, consistent with sound economic policy, in the attainment of this desirable end."

Sibley said legitimate business is as anxious as the government to eliminate unfair and oppressive practices. He said the government can only stand on the prosperity of business because it has no other way of financing itself without ultimate disaster. Government competition through such projects as the TVA, he said, are preventing huge expenditures by utilities companies for durable goods.

Rails' Profit Rises Despite Floods Cost

Despite operating losses incurred by many midwestern railroads during February on account of heavy expenditures to maintain service during the frigid and blustery weather, the first twenty-five carriers to issue February reports had an increase of 34 per cent in net operating income over a year ago.

The aggregate figure for these carriers was $12,993,686, compared with $9,673,119 in the corresponding month of last year.

Among the railroads in the middle west and the northwest region that suffered operating losses for the month were the Chicago and North Western, Milwaukee, Northern Pacific, and Chicago Great Western.

Operating Expenses Rise.

The North Western's operating revenues rose $1,044,470 during February over a year ago, but at the same time operating expenses increased by $1,895,369, leaving a net operating deficit of $960,712, compared with a deficit of $52,427 a year ago.

For the first two months of 1936 the carrier had a net operating deficit of $875,185, against $109,444 in the corresponding two months of 1935.

The Milwaukee reported a net operating deficit of $376,116 for February, against $32,790 a year ago. The Northern Pacific's operating deficit of $218,354 this year compared with a deficit of $94,976 in February of last year.

The New York Central railroad reported net railway operating income of $2,718,738 for February against $2,036,882 for February, 1935. The Pennsylvania net operating income for the month, $4,684,243, dropped from $4,894,161 in 1935.

Some Set New Peaks.

Some other carriers, however, set new high levels in operating results for the month. The Lackawanna's operating income was at a seven year high at $583,840 and compared with $204,933 a year ago. The Delaware and Hudson had the best showing since 1930 with net operating income of $416,207, against $77,661.

Car loadings for the week ended March 21—including the flood period—will decline sharply, a survey based on reports of the first five railroads indicated yesterday. The total loadings for the week, it is estimated, will fall considerably below 600,000, probably ranging between 580,000 and 590,000 cars.

PURE OIL AUTHORIZES ADDITIONAL SHARES TO CLEAR ARREARAGES

The board of directors of the Pure Oil company yesterday authorized the issuance of the additional number of shares of preferred stock necessary under the company's plan to clear up the arrearages on the preferred, and declared accrued dividends to April 1, 1936, on the shares of preferred stock holders who have not participated in the plan by assenting to it or depositing their holdings.

The company announced that approximately 88 per cent of the outstanding preferred shares of the company have been deposited under the plan. New shares and checks for the cash payment will be distributed on April 20.

Dividend payments on the stock of holders who did not participate in the plan are on the following basis: 8 per cent preferred, $25.50 per share; 6 per cent preferred, $19.12½ per share; 5¼ per cent preferred, $16.87½ per share.

Application will be made to list the new preferred shares on the New York Stock exchange.

Court Postpones Approval of Grigsby-Grunow Sale

Confirmation of the sale of certain assets of the bankrupt Grigsby-Grunow company, including the machinery, to a Cincinnati group headed by Walter E. Schott was postponed yesterday until 9:30 a. m. Monday. The Cincinnati group offered $350,000 for the personal property of the company. No separate bid has been made for the real estate.

RAIL SHIPPERS EXPECT UPTURN IN MIDDLE WEST

Ask 14% More Cars than Year Ago.

There will be 686,750 freight cars loaded in the territory served by the midwest shippers' advisory board during the three months ending June 30, next, compared with 600,379 cars actually loaded during the corresponding period of 1935, an increase of 14.4 per cent, according to an estimate made yesterday by the board. The territory for which the board makes estimates includes Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, western Indiana, and northern peninsula of Michigan.

In only one category, cement, did the board estimate there will be a decline from the number of cars loaded during the second quarter. This decline is expected to be only 1.2 per cent.

Expect Noteworthy Gains.

Among the most noteworthy gains predicted are those for grain, in which loadings are expected to rise 50 per cent; hay and straw, 25 per cent, and iron and steel, 25 per cent.

In the foodstuffs, flour and meal products loadings are expected to rise 8 per cent; fresh fruits, 13.7 per cent; poultry and dairy products, 5 per cent; sugar, 20 per cent, and canned goods, 20 per cent. Live stock shipments are expected to show a gain of 15 per cent.

Building material shipments are expected to show the following gains: Lumber and forest products, 15 per cent; brick and clay, 20 per cent, and lime and plaster, 20 per cent.

Other Increases Predicted.

Among the miscellaneous items, petroleum and petroleum products loadings are expected to rise 8 per cent; machinery, 10 per cent; paper, 8 per cent, and agricultural implements and vehicles, 20 per cent.

The detailed figures follow:

Butler Bros. Expects Lower Loss for First Half of 1936

Frank S. Cunningham, president of Butler Brothers, at the annual meeting of stockholders yesterday estimated the loss of the big wholesale company for the first half of this year will be about $200,000, compared with $500,000 in the like period of 1935. He also announced extension of the bonus plan to include more executives to inspire them to increased efforts.

F. S. CUNNINGHAM.

Cunningham explained that the first half is usually the poorest part of the year in the wholesale business and profits are usually obtained during the second half. He said the improved showing of this year, made despite the unusually bad weather, gave promise of better results for 1936 than were had in 1935. The company in 1935 had a net income of $1,284,907, equal to $1.16 a share.

Bonus Plan Meets Objections.

Announcement of the bonus plan, which the directors in January authorized to be extended to higher officers than those now participating, brought some heckling from stockholders, who said they thought they should get a dividend before any bonuses were given. The last dividend paid on the common stock was in 1930.

Telling the reasons for extending the bonus system, under which about $35,000 was paid to officers last year, Cunningham said salaries of executives have always been on a modest scale because of the highly competitive field in which the company operates.

"We have some very capable men and I do not belive we can retain them unless we arrange to give them extra compensation," Cunningham said. Under the plan in effect last year certain executives lower in rank than those who will now share it were given extra compensation on a selective basis, he said.

Bonus Only After Profit.

"The plan approved by the directors in January," Cunningham said, "provides that there will be no extra compensation unless there is a net profit of 60 cents a share, or roughly $660,000. Of the net profit in excess of $660,000 10 per cent will be set aside for distribution among executives.

"No director shall have any voice in setting the amount to be paid him and, in fact, the directors passing on the extra compensation to be given executives shall be composed predominately of men outside the business. I believe through this extra compensation we shall materially increase our profits because it will provide an incentive for increased efforts.

Discussing dividend prospects, Cunningham said the directors believed it was to the best interests of the company to plow profits back into the business. He said the fact that the company has $2,350,000 of bank loans is a clear indication that working capital has not yet been built up to a safe position.

BANK CLEARINGS RISE; BIG GAIN IS REPORTED HERE

New York, March 26.—(AP)—Bank clearings for 22 leading cities in the United States, as reported today by Dun & Bradstreet, totaled $5,372,442,000 for the week ended Wednesday, a gain of 7.3 per cent over the aggregate of $5,006,828,000 for the corresponding week of 1935. In the previous week the gain over a year ago was 20.4 per cent, the current contraction being influenced to some extent by the 16.5 per cent drop in Pittsburgh because of floods.

New York City clearings were $3,610,120,000, up 6.6 per cent from the total of $3,386,850,000 a year ago. In outside cities the total was $1,762,322,000, a gain of 8.8 per cent. Chicago clearings amounted to $269,300,000, a rise of 16.8 per cent.

"Gains predominated in individual cities," Dun & Bradstreet said. "These were exceptionally large at Cleveland, Chicago, Omaha, Dallas, San Francisco, and Seattle."

Compared with a week ago, the total for all cities declined $1,835,451,000.

Timken Roller Bearing Earnings Rise Sharply

New York, March 26.—(AP)—Timken Roller Bearing company and subsidiaries reported today 1935 net profits of $7,483,602, equal to $3.10 a common share, compared with 1934 earnings of $3,486,056, equivalent to $1.44 a share, and the best in five years.

COURT ENJOINS SEC FROM DISCLOSING 3 COMPANIES' SALARIES

Philadelphia, Pa., March 26.—(AP)—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals enjoined the Securities and Exchange commission from making public the salaries of officers and employés of the National Biscuit company, P. Lorillard company and Congoleum-Nairn, Inc., or revealing "other confidential information," pending a hearing on a suit attacking the constitutionality of the securities exchange act.

The injunction was granted on the appeal of the three companies from the commission's ruling of last January that "confidential information" they submitted under protest was of "public interest" and would be revealed.

Bruchholz Elected Head of Life Underwriters

The Chicago Association of Life Underwriters yesterday elected Frederick Bruchholz, agency director of the New York Life Insurance company, president to fill the unexpired term [to June, 1936] of I. B. Jacobs, who died March 22. Bruchholz is also president of the Chicago Chapter Chartered Life Underwriters and chairman of the general agents and managers division of the Chicago association.

LATE DECLINE CLIPS GAINS OF MANY SHARES

Railway Issues Turn Strong and Active.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 26.—After holding strong most of the session, the share market turned reactionary in late dealings today shading early gains and in numerous instances converting them into losses. After an active opening trading turned quiet, and transactions again failed to total 2 million shares.

Railroad issues, which have been treated coolly by the speculative fraternity, gave their best performance in more than two weeks. Gains ranged from a fraction to more than 2 points. Louisville and Nashville gained 2¼ points. Delware and Hudson rose 2 points before meeting profit taking that reduced its final advance to a point. New York Central and Southern Pacific were the most active at fractionally higher prices.

Motor Shares Strong.

The market for motor shares acted as if all doubts as to the character of spring sales of automobiles had been dissipated. Along with talk of first quarter earnings running above expectations, the street buzzed with optimistic predictions of second quarter results. General Motors was again one of the most active stocks in the list and was bid up to another new 1936 high price before reacting to close at a fractional loss. Chrysler also was active and a fraction higher.

United States Steel moved in a narrow range throughout, and the final gong found it unchanged. Bethlehem gave up a point. Most of the oil issues tended lower.

Case Climbs Again.

J. I. Case plowed ahead for a gain of 5 points, but the rest of the farm implement division was inclined to be backward. Allied Chemical set another new high mark on a gain exceeding 4 points. Eastman Kodak advanced 3 points.

Some of the weak spots in the list were American Can, Bohn Aluminum, Lehigh Cement, Atlas Powder, Gulf States Steel, U. S. Pipe and Foundry, Johns Manville, International Business Machine, and Cash Iegister.

Industrial news developments were scarce, but were generally regarded as favorable to the constructive element. Optimism in trading circles was reported to have replaced apprehension over flood damage.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 26.—The brisk demand for the guaranteed bonds of the United States government, including the Home Owners' Loan corporation and Federal Farm Mortgage obligations, featured otherwise quiet and routine trading in bonds on the New York exchange today. Although all classes of the federal loans were in demand as seventeen of the long term issues rose to new record high levels since their issuance, it was the guaranteed loans which attracted most attention and which made the most impressive advances.

Transactions in all groups amounted to $10,707,000, as compared with $9,650,000 on Wednesday.

Gains Are Substantial.

Net gains in the government list ranged from 1-32 to 14-32 point. The guaranteed loans rose 8-32 to 11-32 point in reflection of the growing belief in trading circles that those issues have been selling out of line with the direct federal obligations for some time.

Narrow and mixed price movements characterized trading among the domestic corporation loans. A few of the secondary rail liens were moderately higher, while many industrial and public utility issues were slightly easier. Only a nominal change was recorded in the combined price average as a result of the day's trading.

Foreign List Irregular.

Irregular price trends ruled in the market for foreign dollar bonds. Several German industrial issues were well taken at higher prices, including North German Lloyd bonds, which rose 1⅞ to 4⅜ points, and Royal Dutch 4s, which gained 2 points.

In contrast, French government 7½s yielded 3 points on two sales. Italian loans were fractionally lower in quiet trading.

Sutherland Paper.

Investors' Guide: Shall be thankful for information on Sutherland Paper.—J. E. G.

Answer: Sutherland Paper company is the largest manufacturer of parafined cartons in the United States. It also produces other types of folding containers, wrappers and paper board display specialties. Among its customers are the Chicago packers, Reynolds Tobacco, Procter & Gamble, National Dairy Products and 800 dealers in ice cream and dairy products. The company is working on a paper beer container with tin ends. If successful the container would probably sell for 30 per cent less than cans.

	Net sales.	Net income.	Inc. per share.
1935	$6,656,000	$618,000	$2.15
1934	5,903,000	441,000	1.54
1933	4,986,000	307,000	1.07
1932	4,004,000	*8,000	*0.03

*Net loss.

Salaries to the five principal officers in 1934 were less than 1½ per cent of net sales, totaling $82,000.

Dividends in 1935 were $1 a share, against 70 cents in 1934 and 20 cents in 1933. The stock currently pays 25 cents a quarter. An extra of 5 cents a share is payable March 31.

On Dec. 31, 1935, current assets were $1,882,000 and current liabilities were $202,000. Capitalization consists solely of 287,000 shares of $10 par stock. The stock deserves a fairly good rating.

Greenport Ship.

Investors' Guide: I have 500 shares of common stock of Greenport Ship company, incorporated in New York. Will you kindly advise me if this stock has any value?—K. S.

Answer: Greenport Ship company, Inc., was incorporated in New York on July 19, 1918. Its properties were sold at a creditor's sale to H. W. Sweet Ship Yard company. Creditors received only about 48 cents on the dollar for their claims. The stock is regarded as worthless.

An Income Tax Problem.

Investors' Guide: Suppose I should buy cumulative preferred stock which had several dollars a share back dividends accrued on it. When the corporation pays the back dividends must the dividends all be regarded as income or a return of principal for income tax?—R. H. J.

Answer: Payment of accumulated dividends on preferred stock, though they had accrued prior to the time of purchase, is regarded as income for tax purposes.

HIDE FUTURES.

NEW YORK, March 26.—[Special.]—HIDE—Futures were unsettled today with the close 3 points higher to 4 points lower. Sales were 14 lots, or 560,000 lbs. Closing bids in cents per pound: June, 11.76c; September, 12.10c; December, 12.44c; March [1937] $12.74c.

IOWA ELECTRIC, BISCUIT CONCERN OFFERING BONDS

One Issue for Refunding, Other Due to Merger.

New securities offerings to be made today include $3,600,000 bonds of the Iowa Electric Light and Power company and 68,000 shares of common stock and $200,000 bonds of the Consolidated Biscuit company.

The Iowa Electric issue, which is being offered by a banking group headed by Harris, Hall & Co., consists of first mortgage 4 per cent bonds due Dec. 1, 1955. The bonds are priced at 103 to yield about 3.75 per cent. Proceeds will be used to retire an issue of Iowa Railway and Light corporation first and refunding 5s of 1946, which have been called.

Notes Sold in Refunding.

In connection with the refunding operation, Iowa Electric issued $1,250,000 of 3 per cent notes due from Oct. 1, 1936, to April 1, 1941. These notes have already been sold.

A banking syndicate headed by F. S. Yantis & Co., of Chicago, is offering the Consolidated Biscuit securities consisting of 68,000 shares of $1 par common stock at $10 a share and $200,000 of first mortgage 5½ per cent sinking fund bonds, Series B, due March 1, 1946, at 100 and accrued interest. The purpose of the offerings is to consummate the recently announced merger of the Davidson Biscuit Company of Mount Vernon, Ill., and the Hampton Cracker Company of Louisville, Ky. Sales of the two units, which were merged to form the Consolidated Biscuit company, last year totaled nearly $5,000,000.

Pacific Telephone Plans Issue.

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company of San Francisco, a subsidiary of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, has filed a registration statement covering $30,000,000 of 3½ per cent refunding mortgage bonds, series B, due April 1, 1966.

A considerable saving in fixed charges will result from the financing as proceeds will be used to redeem securities of higher interest rates.

The Gotham Silk Hosiery company is marketing $2,141,000 of 10 year 5 per cent sinking fund debentures to redeem a 6 per cent issue due Dec. 1, 1936.

Tenders will be considered next Monday for a new issue of $100,000 of Cook county, Ill., forest reserve district bonds. Further details of the loans will be anounced later.

CHICAGO STOCKS IRREGULAR; TEN MAKE NEW HIGHS

Chicago stock prices were mixed yesterday as trading expanded to 66,000 shares. Forty-three issues advanced, 47 declined, and 33 were unchanged. Ten stocks, however, rose to new highs for the year.

Bendix reached a new high at 27 following its favorable annual report and closed at 26½, up ¼, in 5,250 share turnover. Butler Brothers had like activity and advanced ⅛. Cities Service, the day's leader with a 6,400 share trade, was up ¼ and Continental Steel gained 1⅝. Cord and Pines eased fractionally.

Sangamo Electric jumped 5 points to a new top of 54. Masonite hit the 100 mark on a 2 point rise. Others gaining a point or more to new highs were Sivyer Steel, Nachman Spring, Lion Oil, and Midland Utility 6 per cent preferred. Midland Utility and Midland United reached new tops. Commonwealth Edison gained 1½ points.

First National Stock Up; Continental Illinois Off

First National bank stock was bid up 5 points yesterday, while Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust shares eased 4 points. Other Chicago bank shares were unchanged, except Merchandise Bank and Trust stock, which was quoted at 205 bid, 215 asked, up 10 points. First National closed at 301 bid, 305 asked, while Continental was 168 bid, 170 asked.

NEW DEAL GIVES ARGENTINA EDGE ON U. S. FARMER

Grain Magnate Sees a Threat from South.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Argentina, as a competitor of the American farmer, is now looking for a double deck advantage from the New Deal enforced scarcity policy, according to Nels B. Updike, head of the Updike Grain corporation of Omaha. Just back from a trip to South America, Mr. Updike called at western Republican headquarters yesterday.

He set forth that the Argentine not only expects to unload a considerable part of its corn crop this year in the United States, but also is evincing interest in the hybrid seed corn developed by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. The corn is claimed to increase per acre yield about 20 per cent.

Wallace Plants the Seed.

Last fall the Hi-Bred Corn company of Grimes, Ia., sent an expert to Buenos Aires by plane with bags of seed corn to experiment in the growing of hybrid corn during the winter for the 1936 planting season in Iowa. One result has been to kindle the imagination of Argentine corn growers.

"Great interest is being shown in Argentine in improving the breed of corn," said Mr. Updike at headquarters. "Most of the Argentine corn now grown is a flint variety similar to that produced in the Dakotas.

"I came home on the steamer, 'American Legion' and we were delayed six hours at Rio de Janiero while a cargo of bran was being stowed away. At Santos, in Brazil, we were tied up while several carloads of Brazilian cotton were taken on.

50 Million Bushels for U. S.

"Argentina is now harvesting what promises to be the largest crop in its history. It hopes to dispose of not less than 50 million bushels of this in the United States. It can be delivered in Texas or New York at 70 cents a bushel, absorbing the tarif of 25 cents, this figure being less than American corn can be delivered at the coasts today.

"A great effort also is being made in Argentina to get a release from the quarantine imposed by the United States against fresh beef, which cannot now be sent into the United States from the Argentine because of regulations against hoof and mouth disease.

Canned Beef Coming In.

"We are already getting large quantities of canned beef from the pampas, but if the quarantine should be lifted it would be possible for Argentina to ship almost unlimited quantities of fresh meat into this country, despite existing tarif provisions.

"We have been reducing our production only to learn we are creating opportunities for farmers of other lands to feed our people."

Choose Broker Carefully, Hill Advises Women's Club

The layman should choose his broker just as carefully as he chooses his lawyer or physician, said Harvey T. Hill, executive vice president of the Chicago Stock exchange, in a talk yesterday before the Women's Finance forum at Hotel Sherman. Hill outlined principles of investing money and described the operations of stock exchanges.

WHEAT RALLIES AFTER DROP AS 'SHORTS' COVER

Wheat and Oats Finish Steady; Corn Higher.

Short covering proved the mainstay of the grain markets yesterday and brought about a fair recovery after an early decline had carried May wheat off fractionally to 96¼ cents, the lowest price since early in December, while the September future sold to 85⅝ cents, a new low on the crop.

Final trades on all grain except rye were at about the best prices of the day, with wheat and oats unchanged to ¼ cent higher, while corn gained a small fraction. Rye was off fractionally. The July rye delivery has either closed unchanged or lower since March 13, and at the lowest figure of 50⅝ cents yesterday showed a decline of 6 cents per bushel during that period.

An oversold condition was regarded as largely responsible for the rally yesterday, as there was nothing in the general run of the news to account for the late buying.

More Dust Storms Reported.

Dust storm reports were again received from a wide area in the southwestern winter wheat belt, while northwestern messages told of a prospective delay in spring wheat seeding. Damage reports from the former area attracted little attention, as crop comments except from the "dust bowl" were rather favorable, although rains were said to be urgently needed over a large area in order to prevent further soil blowing.

Selling of May wheat against purchases of the July option, which was regarded as back spreading, narrowed the difference between the old and new crop futures ¼ cent per bushel, with the May delivery at 9⅝ cents premium at the close. May wheat at Minneapolis developed independent weakness and closed at $1.01⅝, or 4⅝ cents over Chicago, the narrowest difference so far. Some weeks ago it sold at 18 cents per bushel premium.

Other Markets Are Steady.

	Yesterday.	Wednes.	Wk ago.
Wheat	$ .96⅝	$ .96⅝	$ .98⅝
Corn	.59	.58⅝	.60¼
Oats	.25⅝	.25⅝	.25⅝
Rye	.52	.52⅝	.55⅝

Trade in corn was largely of a local character with some of Wednesday's buyers selling early, while commission houses absorbed the offerings. Owing to the poor condition of country roads the movement of grain in the interior is light. Rye declined on scattered liquidation by holders of contracts.

HOUSE APPROVES EXTENDING HOME LOAN INSURANCE

Washington, D. C., March 26.—(AP)—The house voted today to extend for another year the Federal Housing administration's authority to insure repair and modernization loans. The house substituted its own bill for one passed by the senate but prompt senate agreement was forecast. It would then go to the White House. Present authority to make modernization and repair loans expires April 1.

The principal difference in the house bill was a provision—put in at insistence of members from flood states—authorizing insurance up to $2,000 of loans for outright new construction. The act now limits the loans to improvements to homes already built.

The measure would reduce the government insurance from 20 per cent to 10 per cent of the total volume of loans made by a bank. The bill also reduced from $200,000,000 to $100,000,000 the maximum insurance liability of the FHA during the extended life of the administration. The extension will expire on April 1, 1937, or earlier if prescribed by Presidential proclamation.

Engineering Construction Volume Higher for Week

New York, March 26.—[Special.]—Engineering construction volume this week totaled $34,111,000, compared with $39,606,000 last week and $18,584,000 a year ago, the Engineering News-Record reported today.

ROOSEVELT TOLD U. S. COMPETITION IS DESTRUCTIVE

Berry Group Discloses Summary of Study.

Washington, D. C., March 26.—[Special.]—The intrusion of government into competition with private enterprises, "except in situations where the public welfare can only thus be served, is wholly destructive," according to the committee on government competition with private enterprise, whose report was made available to President Roosevelt, it was announced today by George L. Berry, coördinator for industrial coöperation.

The report, after setting forth exceptional circumstances under which the government was justified in entering private industry, concluded that the government's function is to protect economic activities of its citizens and not to supplant them.

Benefits from Withdrawal.

It was pointed out that governmental withdrawal from private enterprise would reduce governmental expenditures and increase federal revenues.

"Government competition with private enterprise is not normally justified to preclude the possibility of exploitation of the public by private industry, since the anti-trust laws may be relied upon to control and correct this situation," the report said.

"The intrusion of government into competition with private enterprise except in situations where the public welfare can only thus be served, is wholly destructive. It invites and cultivates a growth of burocracy."

When Government May Act.

The committee unanimously agreed that only under the following conditions is the government justified in entering into competition with private enterprise:

1. When required to assure adequate preparation for, and creation of, the facilities for national defense.
2. For the conservation of natural resources.
3. When private enterprise fails to conduct needed scientific research and exploratory activities to advance industrial development, or in the interest of public health and safety.
4. When private enterprise fails to render a service necessary for the general welfare.

NEW YORK CITY PUSHES FIGHT ON UTILITY VALUES

New York, March 26.—[Special.]—Mayor La Guardia's board of taxes and assessments, with the stout backing of the Democratic comptroler, Frank J. Taylor, will broaden its attack on the assessed valuation of public utilities, it was learned today, to include all of the utility and transportation companies operating in and about the city.

Revisions on sixteen utilities have already yielded $203,000,000 in increased valuations and the plan on foot now is to alter the values of scores of additional companies.

The startling development was the mayor's declaration that, to his way of thinking, utility and transportation companies have presented two sets of valuations, one for rate fixing and the other for taxation. The board of taxes and assessments asked the board of aldermen for $203,474 to pay a staf of experts to proceed against the companies named. The experts are already at work.

IDLE BANK FUNDS REDUCED AS U. S. SHIFTS DEPOSITS

Treasury Piles Up Balance with Reserve Members.

Idle bank funds were reduced again in the week ended Wednesday, as reserve balances of commercial banks with the federal reserve banks were cut by further increases in United States treasury cash and deposits with the reserve banks.

The changes were the same, in a smaller way, as those of the preceding week, when major reflection was shown of government financing operations and collection of income taxes. The treasury account was up 80 millions to the abnormally high total of $3,667,000,000 in the week ended Wednesday, following a jump of 678 millions the preceding week.

Reserves of the commercial banks declined 85 millions to $5,059,000. They were estimated to be $2,310,000,000 above legal requirements, 80 millions less than a week earlier and at the lowest level since early last fall.

Reserve Credit Unchanged.

Total reserve bank credit remained unchanged at $2,485,000,000, and other related items were little changed. Monetary gold increased 4 millions, to $10,177,000,000. Money in circulation decreased 4 millions, and treasury and national bank currency declined 1 million. Nonmember deposits and other federal reserve accounts increased 12 millions.

A flight of funds from Chicago in anticipation of the April 1 personal property tax assessment date was seen in a decrease of 46 million dollars in demand deposits of member banks here, while New York commercial banks reported an increase of 38 millions in demand deposits. Interbank deposits in New York banks shrank 89 millions, while Chicago banks reported a 6 million dollar increase.

Chicago Banks Reduce Bonds.

Loans and investments shrank 30 millions in Chicago banks, principally because of a decrease of 32 millions in government bond holdings. Commercial loans expanded 5 millions.

In New York loans and investments were off 10 millions, a decrease of 48 millions in loans to brokers and dealers being largely offset by increases of 22 millions in government bonds and 21 millions in other securities.

New York banks had loans of $898,000,000 to brokers and dealers in New York City, compared with $946,000,000 a week earlier and $604,000,000 a year ago. Such loans outside of New York City were $64,000,000, the same as a week ago and $10,000,000 more than a year ago. Chicago banks had $28,000,000 in brokers' loans, compared with $34,000,000 a week ago and $46,000,000 a year ago.

BUTTER DECLINES ⅛ CENT; EGGS ALSO CLOSE LOWER

Purchases of about 57,000 pounds of butter by the government for distribution in the flood areas and reports indicating more than 600,000 pounds had been purchased recently in leading markets brought in buying of the March delivery on the Chicago Mercantile exchange early yesterday. The upturn attracted profit taking sales and the close was ⅜ cent lower at 30½ cents per pound. Spot butter prices were unchanged. Sales of futures were 132 cars.

Heavy receipts of fresh eggs—the four leading markets receiving about 40,000 cases more than a year ago—and a decline of ¼ to ½ cent in the spot market led to increased pressure on futures, which closed ⅜ to ½ cent lower, with October at 21⅝ cents per dozen. Sales were 58 cars. Prices follow:

FEBRUARY SHOWS JOBS AND WAGES RISE IN ILLINOIS

But Gains Over January Are Less Than Seasonal.

Jobs and pay rolls in Illinois in February rose 3.3 and 8.5 per cent, respectively, over a year ago, and were 0.3 and 0.5 per cent above January, the latter gains being less than seasonal, the Illinois department of labor announced yesterday.

For the thirteen year period, from 1923 to 1935, inclusive, there was an average increase of 0.9 per cent in employment and 2.3 per cent in total wage payments from January to February, the department reported. Failure of last month's jobs and wages to measure up to the normal gain was attributed in part to the adverse weather conditions that hampered business activity.

Pay Roll Index Rises.

The index of employment last month rose to 74.9 per cent of the 1926-'27 monthly average from 72.5 per cent in February, 1935, while the pay roll index increased to 61.6 per cent from 56.7 per cent.

Average weekly earnings for employés in all reporting industries, totaling 4,459 manufacturing and nonmanufacturing enterprises, amounted to $23.83, or $26.45 for men and $15.74 for women.

During February 34 reports of wage increases, affecting 846 workers, or 2 per cent of all employés reported during the month, were received by the department, according to Peter T. Swanish, chief of the division of statistics and research, which prepared the jobs report.

INDUSTRY RECOVERING

Industrial activity in the United States declined again in February, the national industrial conference board reported yesterday in its regular monthly survey. However, output was reported larger than a year ago and some improvement was made during the first two weeks of March.

The survey showed that larger than seasonal declines occurred in the construction, automobile, steel, and textile industries. Bituminous coal output showed a gain of 5 per cent as contrasted with the usual seasonal decline during February. Production of electrical power maintained the January level. Machine tool equipment orders reached a new high level for the recovery period.

Retail trade, despite the abnormally cold weather, held up well.

WALLACE ORDERS CUT INCOME, SAY LIVE STOCK MEN

Declare Rate Rules Are Based on "Guesses."

Washington, D. C., March 26.—(AP)—Orders from Secretary Wallace fixing handling rates at the Chicago stock yards, were termed "confiscatory" and "arrived at by guess" today in a Supreme court brief. Attorneys for 161 commission firms at the Union stock yards made these assertions in a case involving more than $750,000 in impounded funds.

The case and a companion appeal by the government are expected to be argued before the highest court within the next two weeks. Because the Chicago market receives live stock from 45 states and its prices are said to "establish and govern world prices," the rate case has attracted attention of the live stock industry and government officials.

Assert Income Is Slashed.

The commission firms were unsuccessful in seeking an injunction from a three judge Federal court in Illinois against the Wallace orders of 1934 reducing their charges. They asserted the reduction cut income 25 per cent. Pending the Supreme court appeal they were allowed to collect the old rate and impound all above the Wallace schedule.

The fund of three-quarters of a million dollars will go to farmers and live stock shippers should the Supreme court uphold the lower court. If it reverses the lower court, the money may be retained by the commission men.

Today's brief said "the sole question is whether Secretary Wallace can constitute himself the manager or board of directors of a market agency and by administrative fiat determine the rates." The firms complained that the reduced rates did not consider the effect of NRA's increased costs and wages and AAA's lower live stock production.

"Rates Confiscate Business."

The Wallace orders were termed "the imposition of the personal judgment of the secretary for that of the owners and managers of the regulated business and an attempt legislatively to revise, rather than administratively to regulate, an industry. The rates prescribed confiscate the business, property, and servitude of the appellates [commission firms] and are unlawful and unconstitutional."

The companion appeal by the government was from a second decision of the three judge court, eight months after the first, which upheld a slightly higher rate schedule the commission firms had proposed to Wallace. He refused to consider the new schedule until the Supreme court had acted in the first case, but the lower court ordered the rate into effect and the commission men posted a $50,000 surety pending this appeal.

HOGS AVERAGE HIGHER DESPITE LATE RECESSION

The hog trade turned erratic after a 5 to 15 cents higher opening yesterday, but generally the advances were rubbed out before the close, with some final bids off 5 to 10 cents from the average of Wednesday. However, the early upturn was scored on sufficient volume to elevate the average for the session 5 cents to $10.55, the highest level in five weeks and 65 cents above the low daily average a month ago.

Lambs sold weak to 15 cents lower when offerings suddenly increased to 16,000, the second largest total of the year for a Thursday. Prime 93 pound stock to city butchers brought the $10.40 top, with packers buying from $9.75 to $10.35.

Weakness persisted for good grades of steers again, but lower priced stock ruled stronger. Competition for the low priced cattle has elevated these to a relatively high position.

Yesterday's top steers sold at $10.10, with the bulk at $7.75 to $9.50. Calves were up 25 to 50 cents for the day and $1 to $1.50 for the week.

UNIONS REPLY TO RAILS' OFFER ON LOST JOBS

New York, March 26.—[Special.]—Representatives of the railway unions today completed their reply to a proposal by the managements that employés displaced through consolidations receive six months' pay or, as an alternative, be placed for two years on half pay, subject to recall. The union's reply was not disclosed.

The negotiations between the unions and the managements were then adjourned to permit the management committee to confer with a committee of presidents formed as an advisory body in the situation. The negotiations will be resumed on Monday.

LARD ADVANCES SHARPLY ON HEAVY SHORT COVERING

New high levels on the current upturn were established on lard futures early yesterday as a rush of short covering in the July and September deliveries lifted prices about 17½ cents over Wednesday's finish. Profit taking and selling, attributed to trade interests, caused a recession from the best figures, but the close was at net gains of 7½ to 12½ cents. Clear bellies [salt pork] closed nominally 10 cents higher.

Cash lard closed yesterday at $11.27, loose $10.80, leaf $10.75, and clear bellies $15.12 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds:

OLD CROP COTTON RISES; DISTANT FUTURES UNEVEN

Cotton futures fluctuated in an erratic manner yesterday with old crop months closing 4 to 12 points higher in leading markets while the new finished crop was 1 point higher to 5 points lower. [A point is equal to 1-100 cents.] Trade buying was responsible for the firmness in the old crop contracts while the distant futures were depressed by rapid progress being made in field work throughout the western belt.

Spot cotton closed 5 to 10 points higher with New Orleans at 11.70 cents, Houston and New York 11.50 cents and Galveston 11.45 cents per pound. Prices in cents per pound:

HOARDING STILL PRESSES FRENCH CENTRAL BANK

New York, March 26.—[Special.]—The Bank of France was forced to inject an additional 606,000,000 francs [the franc is currently quoted at 6.61 cents] into circulation and take up bills offered for discount during the week ended March 30 as disturbances over the Europeon political situation continued the theme of French thought.

The condition statement of the central bank, made public today, disclosed that circulation has risen to the imposing figure of 82,680,000,000 francs. It indicated that the hoarding, which in the preceding week forced an outpouring of 1,077,000,000 francs by the bank, is still an important factor.

Unless the tendency to dump all short term bills on the Bank of France is arrested shortly it will further complicate the position of the central bank, authorities believe.

The French gold account, however, rose 32,000,000 francs to 65,700,000,000 francs. The gain was somewhat of a surprise, as the franc during the week had hovered around the point at which gold could be shipped to other gold bloc countries.

Denman Is Elected Head of Live Stock Association

C. B. Denman of Farmington, Mo., yesterday was elected president of the National Live Stock Marketing association, succeeding Charles A. Ewing, who has headed the organization for the last six years. Representatives of 28 stockholders in terminal, coöperative live stock marketing agencies and six live stock credit corporations met in annual session at the Sherman hotel. The association services approximately 300,000 live stock producers.

BURNHAM'S
Will Enable You to EARN MORE

The easy-to-learn Burnham System quickly enables you to become a skilled beauty operator. Plenty of living models. You learn by doing rather than by studying. Each teacher a specialist. Fewer pupils per teacher.

SEE FOR YOURSELF WHY MORE GIRLS ENROLL IN BURNHAM'S THAN IN ANY OTHER BEAUTY SCHOOL.

NEW
Trip to Paris Award

Velma Marsh, 5115 Nevada-st., has been announced as winner of the semi-annual Burnham scholarship for efficiency while in training. Like Geneva Huffman, last winner, she will enjoy a wonderful trip to Paris with all expenses paid, even to spending money. She sails on S. S. Manhattan, April 22.

DAY OR EVENING CLASSES.

Pay for MOST of your tuition after graduation. It is to your advantage to register now, even if you cannot start until later. Open every day and on Monday, Wednesday, Friday evenings until 9 p. m.

A FULL FLOOR THAT'S HARD TO MATCH.

Housing a big organization comfortably and efficiently is no problem at all. This 19th floor with 8,000 sq. ft. was designed for just that purpose. Unobstructed light on four sides, paneled offices in directors' room, fine view of lake. Will remodel to suit. The location right in the heart of the loop, opposite the Palmer house, is ideal. The rental is much lower than comparable space can be secured for.

TO ALL CREDITORS AND STOCKHOLDERS AND CLAIMANTS AGAINST THE ABOVE NAMED DEBTOR AND ITS ASSETS AND PROPERTY:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that in the above entitled proceedings, on February 20, 1936, an order was entered by the Court providing that a hearing of the creditors and stockholders of the Debtor be held before the Honorable James H. Wilkerson, Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division, in the room usually occupied by him as a courtroom in the United States Court House, Chicago, Illinois, at the opening of court in the forenoon on April 7, 1936, and in his absence, before such other Judge of said Court sitting at said time and place, and at any adjournments or continuances thereof, at which time the Court shall hear and consider the Plan of Reorganization filed by George F. Harding and Martin H. Kennelly, Permanent Trustees herein, on November 20, 1935, and the objections thereto, and shall hear and determine whether said Debtor is solvent or insolvent, and whether the estate of said Debtor shall be liquidated, and whether the proceedings herein shall be dismissed.

NOW A Low Cost Auto Financing Plan

Why make a good deal on a car, new or used, only to be penalized by high financing charges?

We have broken down the barriers of tradition and have ushered in a new era of sensible rates for cars bought on time payments. These new rates apply on used car sales, new car sales, or a loan on your present car.

No mystery charges, no extra fees. You simply make a reasonable down payment when you buy, and we finance the balance. Here are typical examples of the low cost under our plan:

$100	$12.08	$112.08	$ 9.34
200	19.00	219.00	18.25
300	23.04	323.04	26.92
400	29.00	429.00	35.75
500	35.08	535.08	44.59

Only Fire and Theft Insurance Required.
Buy It Through Your Own Broker and Include the Premium in the Loan.
